In Onondaga Crash

Bloomington Couple Die

An Ulster County couple killed in a two-car collision in Onondaga County, three persons injured in separate Dutchess County mishaps and a Dutchess County woman who died in a car crash sustained in a traffic death toll in New York State which claimed 24 lives. A plane crash Friday night occurred in a hilly, wooded area near the Oneonta Airport. Four persons died in the mishap.

On Route 20

Victims of the Upstate two-car crash which occurred at about 11 a. m. Sunday on Route 20 in the Onondaga community of Marcellus, took the lives of Alonzo Richard Sagar, 64, of Bloomington, and his wife, Ora, about the same age. Sagar, an employee of the Railway Express Co. many years, was expected to retire next April.

Mrs. Anne M. McDowell, 49, of Palenville, was killed early Sunday when a car driven by her husband, Robert W. McDowell, same age, failed to negotiate a curve on Malden Avenue, Palenville, and crashed into a parked flatbed truck.

Sidney Teichman, 37, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Bertha George, 54, of 3 Van Sicklin Drive, Poughkeepsie, and Arthur Steiner, 50, of Clinton Corners, were fatally injured Friday night in Dutchess County accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Sagar had been visiting at the home of his retired brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Sagar at Marcellus for four days. They started for home shortly before 11 a. m. yesterday and had not travelled far before the car was in collision with another vehicle on Route 20.

Alonzo Sagar had been employed as a driver and in the office of the Railway Express many years. Identity of the other driver or details of the fatal crash were not available today.

Funeral Friday

George Sagar of Creek Locks, said funeral services for his brother and sister-in-law would be held Friday. Place and time of the services will be announced. Two other brothers are among survivors. They are William and Frederick Sagar, both of Creek Locks.

Leeds State Trooper D. N. Perry said the Palenville fatality involved a 1963 suburban operated by Robert McDowell of Palenville, and a 1956 flatbed truck owned by Harry Lewis, of Saugerties, which was parked off Malden Avenue.

Trooper Perry reported McDowell was driving along the Palenville road when he lost control on a curve and his car slammed into the parked vehicle. McDowell sustained lacerations and contusions of the head. His son, Edward, 13, received minor injuries. The mishap occurred south of Woodland Lane, Town of Catskill.

Troopers said action is pending.

In the Dutchess County mishaps, Steiner and Mrs. George were killed in a two-car collision on Violet Avenue. Poughkeepsie Town Police said the Steiner car was attempting to pass a sedan operated by John Moore of 103 Grand Avenue, Poughkeepsie, when the mishap occurred.

Police said the Steiner car continued off the highway and hit a tree.

Santoroski Memorial Drive Starts Tuesday

The Michael P. Santoroski Memorial Fund Drive will kick off tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock at Radio Station WGHQ, 82 John Street. The scholarship fund is in memory of Pfc. Santoroski, who died as a result of injuries suffered in combat in Vietnam.

With the naming of two Kingstons, the board of directors is now complete. Paul Jordan, vice president of Ulster County Supply was named today along with George Heppner, a past commander of Kingston American Legion Post 150.

Previously, Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College, had been named to head the drive. Other members include Charles Green of 33 Franklin Street; Lawrence Quilty, chairman of the board and Mrs. Frank Matthews Jr., secretary.

Attorney H. Clark Bell has offered his legal services to the board while Robert B. O'Reilly has volunteered as accountant.

Pfc. Santoroski was wounded in Vietnam Sept. 6 by a booby trap. Both legs were amputated below the knee, but in a letter to his mother, Sept. 10, Santoroski expressed no bitterness, saying it was "God's will." The 20-year-old soldier died in an Army hospital in the Philippines, Sept. 26.

Money collected for the memorial fund will be put in trust, creating scholarships for all high schools who have had their former students killed in Vietnam.

Thirteen Ulster County servicemen have given their lives while fighting in Vietnam. The first was Pfc. James R. Reilly of Esopus on March 17, 1966.

Other Vietnam fatalities last year include, Private Richard Maloy of Ellenville (April 15), Pfc. Thomas C. Newkirk of Saugerties (Sept. 10), Staff Sergeant William F. Steiger of Saugerties (Dec. 3) and Lt. Michael T. Newell of Ellenville (Dec. 14).

There have been eight men killed in Vietnam from Ulster County this year. They include Specialist Paul Bengert of Saugerties (Jan. 7), Sgt. First Class Charles W. Johnson of Kingston (Jan. 12), Pfc. Robert L. Johnson of Highland (March 6), Marine Corporal Chester J. Joy of Kingston (May 16), Navy-man Michael P. Carr of Kingston (July 22), Private Robert Tubby of Kingston (Aug. 6), Marine Lance Corporal Richard W. Crawford of Wallkill (Sept. 14) and Pfc. Santoroski who died on Sept. 26. Santoroski was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Santoroski of 95 Millers Lane.

Those donors who are unable to come to WGHQ may leave their contributions at a number of banks outside of Kingston. These include banks in Rhinebeck, Red Hook, Ellenville, Kerhonkson, Stone Ridge, Hurley, Woodstock, Rosendale, Catskill, Saugerties, Port Ewen, Marlboro, Phoenicia and the Town of Ulster.

Workers will be at WGHQ, 82 John Street, beginning tomorrow at 6 a. m. The offices will be open until midnight. Contributions may either be called in or brought directly to the station.

Voters Register Tomorrow

Regular polling places in the city and throughout the county will be open Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. for voter registration under the new Permanent Personal Registration law effective this year.

All residents who wish to vote Election Day, Nov. 7, who have not registered during central registration at the Board of Elections or at special registration days held in various townships and in the city, must register at this time.

Other registration dates include Saturdays, Oct. 7 and 14 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., and Oct. 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Air Force Blasts Red DMZ Bases

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command claimed today that B52 bombers have inflicted crippling damage in raids on the demilitarized zone, where North Vietnamese artillerymen now are bombarding U.S. Marines at Con Thien with more weapons than shells.

Headquarters said that seven B52 raids in four days last week touched off 110 secondary explosions indicated successful bomb hits on ammunition stores and fuel.

The raids, aimed at easing the enemy pressure on the Con Thien Marine base, ignited nine fires, headquarters said.

Propaganda Shells

At the same time, the U.S. Command said the North Vietnamese unloaded mortar shells with propaganda leaflets three times on Con Thien last week. One leaflet said: "Hey, hey, LBJ...how many kids have you killed today?" A second said: "Americans—stop bombing innocent women and children. Leave Vietnam to the Vietnamese."

The Communist propaganda attack came after U.S. planes dropped thousands of leaflets on the North Vietnamese side of the border last week, urging civilians to defect to the South to escape the devastation of B52 bombing.

The B52s were up again today, attacking suspected Red positions in North Vietnam, 11 miles northwest of Con Thien and in the demilitarized zone four miles north of the Marine outpost.

Col. Olds' next assignment will be Commandant of Cadets at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. (UPI)

Marshall Takes Oath As First Negro Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, the first Negro to serve on the Supreme Court, took his seat today as the court convened for a new term, with President Johnson looking on. Marshall, with his hand resting on a Bible held by clerk John F. Davis, swore to "administer justice without respect to persons, and to equal right to the poor and to the rich."

A broad smile on his face, he then took his seat to the extreme left of Chief Justice Earl Warren. President Johnson watched the brief but impressive ceremony from a front-row seat. He named Marshall to the court last June to succeed retired Justice Tom C. Clark. Clark and another retired associate justice, Stanley Reed, sat alongside the President.

The new justice took the judicial oath, one of two administered to new justices. Actually,

Marshall has been performing the government and the use of high court duties since taking evidence obtained by bugging public telephone booths.

Marshall, 59, served four years on the federal bench in New York and two years as U.S. solicitor general, the federal government's top lawyer before the Supreme Court. Before that, for 21 years, he was chief legal officer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

President Johnson named Marshall to the Court June 13 to succeed retired Justice Tom C. Clark. The Senate approved the nomination Aug. 30, though some Southerners quarreled with Marshall's legal philosophy. Otherwise, the composition of the Court is the same as last year: Chief Justice Earl Warren, 76, and Associated Justices Black, 81; William O. Douglas, 68; John M. Harlan, 68; William J. Brennan Jr., 61; Potter Stewart, 57; Byron R. White, 50; and Abe Fortas, 57.

Six Had Claimed Rigging

Thieu's Election Is Confirmed

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's National Assembly in effect decided tonight to accept the election of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as president.

During the day's debate the assembly accepted six criteria by which the 4.7 million votes cast were to be considered valid.

The criteria were applied to the Sept. 3 election results.

The final vote in the assembly on Thieu's election appeared to be a foregone conclusion.

Six of Thieu's civilian opponents in the elections Sept. 3 are demanding that the victory of the military ticket be nullified on the ground the balloting was rigged.

The assemblymen debated against a midnight deadline.

The session was preceded by violence outside the National Assembly. About 200 university students tried to march on the building and police dispersed them with clubs. Several students came away bloodied.

The students were demanding that the assembly nullify the elections.

Thieu won by 35 per cent of the 4.7-million votes cast in the presidential election. His running mate was Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Several of the students were arrested and an undetermined number injured. Two newsmen and a cameraman for CBS television also were struck by police in the melee.

At first, police blocked the way of the students near their student union headquarters in downtown Saigon.

The students sat down with their banners protesting that the election of Thieu was rigged. Enforcing a ban on all demonstrations, announced by the government Sunday, the police moved in with clubs swinging.

Police also broke windows and tossed tear gas grenades into a building in the student compound to flush out hiding leaders and other students.

The students had demonstrated Saturday in front of the assembly, shouting, "Down with the rigged election!" They tried to rip down a large election returns sign near the assembly and police dispersed them.

The assembly voted today on the criteria that had been used by the assembly's special election committee to judge the election returns. The committee had recommended last week that the full assembly reject Thieu's victory because of irregularities.

Pool Game Gives Clues On Computers

BY BRIAN SULLIVAN
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Scientists shooting pool in the laboratory are hastening the day when man will be able to deal directly with the computer. The game of pool is played on a console attached to a computer. The 15 balls appear as circles on the console screen, as does the cue ball.

The scientist aims a beam of light from a pencil-like object at the cue ball and the ball rolls down the screen and breaks the rack.

Depending on the aim, and where the cue ball goes, the computer makes the necessary calculations to produce an image on the screen of what would happen in an actual game.

"It's a matter of give and take," one scientist explained, "the computer doing rote calculations and man using his own ingenuity."

The pool game is designed to show how man can deal directly with the computer, without the necessity of translating his questions or data into the computer's mathematical language.

Ravena Pilot Killed in Crash

BEEVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Ensign James Lester Hains, 22, a Navy pilot from Ravena, N.Y., south of Albany, was killed Saturday when he ejected too low from his malfunctioning jet airplane and his parachute failed to open, the Navy said Sunday. Hains was stationed at Chase Field in Beeville. His TF9J Cougar jet crashed a mile from the base.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester James Hains of Ravena.

Strikers Picket at Tobin Plant

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nearly 800 employees of Tobin Packing Co. struck the firm's meat processing plant here early today after the company "made an offer which was unacceptable."

About 100 workers established a pre-dawn picket line near entrances to the plant.

They were members of the Independent Employees Association. The union voted, 736-3, to strike in a dispute over wages and a cost-of-living increase.

Negotiations collapsed Thursday when, Union President Joseph P. Reedy said, the company "made an offer which was unacceptable to the union."

Company officials said they offered a package totalling 9 cents. John M. Watson, a vice president of the firm, said the company would adopt a wait-and-see attitude.

The local plant services a 7-state area, including New Jersey and portions of New England. Tobin plants in Buffalo and Rochester were not affected.

9 Violations Charged After Chase

Apprehended after a high-speed police chase along highways in the Dutchess County townships of Red Hook and Rhinebeck, a 16-year-old Queens youth was charged with nine vehicle and traffic violations. Michael Rusnak was arrested before Justice of the Peace Frank Martin, Town of Red Hook, who entered pleas of innocent for the youth and adjourned hearing until Saturday, Oct. 7. Rusnak was held in $1,000 bail. Troopers Guy Jenkins and Robert Geschlecht reported they tried to halt a car driven by Rusnak along Barrytown Road, Town of Red Hook, at 2 p. m. Saturday, but the youth sped off at a high speed. The troopers pursued the youth along main highways in Town of Red Hook. The chase continued until the car driven by Rusnak went off Fishing Ground Road, Rhinebeck and into a ditch. The youth was not hurt. Summons were issued charging Rusnak with unregistered motor vehicle, unlicensed driver, improper license plates, reckless driving, exceeding the speed limit, failure to yield the right of way, failure to comply with a lawful order, speed too fast for conditions, and crossing pavement markings.

Israelis Claiming Egypt Wants War

TEL AVIV (AP) — After 10 cross-canal battles with Israel in September, Egypt is evacuating civilians along the Suez Canal in preparation for more fighting, authoritative Israeli sources said today.

They contend Egypt plans to increase incidents along the waterway hoping to push the United Nations into demanding Israel's withdrawal from territory it won in the six-day June war with the Arabs.

About a quarter of Port Suez's 25,000 civilians have left the town at the canal's Red Sea end, and the evacuation is continuing, the sources said.

Israel's defense minister, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan followed a statement on the Suez escalation with a warning that "Israel may have to take the battle into Arab capitals" in the event of a new Middle East war. Dayan and others believe Cairo needs continued fighting to distract Egyptians from their economic sacrifices and focus U.N. attention on the blocked canal.

"For every shell we get, they get four back," an Israeli military source said. "Their military bases, roads and other targets are in range. All they can hit is sand."

Officials in Tel Aviv, blamed anti-Israel saboteurs for placing an explosive charge at the U.S. Embassy. The device failed to explode because its timing mechanism broke down several minutes before it was set to go off Friday.

A police guard at the embassy was increased after disclosure Sunday of the bomb plot. The device was found while U.S. Ambassador Walworth Barbour was away.

As King Hussein of Jordan prepared to fly to Moscow for a four-day state visit and discussions of possible Soviet aid for his kingdom, his foreign minister, Muhammad El-Aamiry, said in New York that a settlement of the Middle East situation would benefit both the Arabs and Israel.

The minister did not elaborate on this statement in an interview but added, "All I can tell you is that I hope there will be good chances for a settlement."

Israel has demanded direct talks with the Arabs as a basis for any discussions. No Arab state has suggested so far it might be willing to go along with this condition.

Three Charged As Disorderly

Three Kingston youths, accused of removing the cap from a Prospect Street fire hydrant and making loud noises, appeared in City Court today and requested an adjournment.

One youth, Steven Stokes, 17, of 27 Furnace Street, pleaded guilty. Sentencing is scheduled for Wednesday.

Requesting an adjournment were William Pendell, 20, of 87 Franklin Street and Michael Mentessi, 17, of 37 Adams Street. The formal charge lodged against them is disorderly conduct.

According to police, the three were arrested Sunday morning on a complaint.

Cites Woodridge Unit

Joe Praises Some Bureaus

Pointing out that there are "many legitimate cooperatives throughout the country which are run by farmers for the benefit of farmers," Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick continued to demand that "We must stop the abuses of the Farm Bureau-type co-op so that the legitimate co-ops can continue to serve the American public."

The Ellenville Democrat again charged that certain farm cooperatives "have issued to their members between $4 and $6 billion in worthless patronage certificates, instead of issuing cash from their profits."

Resnick said that, amongst those cooperatives which have benefitted the farmer, is "Intercounty Cooperative, Woodridge, which provides feed and marketing services for farmers in Sullivan and Ulster Counties," and "The Dairymen's League is another example. I am certainly not referring to co-ops like these."

The Congressman went on to list several "abuses" which some co-ops are being charged with practicing: "co-ops which are controlled by gigantic corporate entities so that member farmers do not have an honest voice in the operation of the co-op; co-ops which issue dividend certificates and do not redeem them for 30 or 40 years, even at the death of the patron; co-ops which take over independent taxpaying businesses, bring them under the tax exempt umbrella, and drive private competitors out of business."

Resnick said that the "worst offenders seem to be the Farm Bureau co-ops and other gigantic co-ops in the Midwest—in Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa."

Resnick said that the "co-ops are many co-ops which provide much needed services to the American Farmer, and are a valuable part of rural America."

Weather Seer Predicts Mild Winter, Dry Fall

There will be no need to hustle and get out the winter togs or snow shovel if the predictions of Thomas Shultis prove accurate, as they usually do.

The former Woodstock weather forecaster, now a resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., predicts "weather will be mild with light storms, most storms will be in February and March, but not as bad as last winter."

Prior to him moving to Fort Lauderdale, the Woodstock weather prophet issued forecasts for summer and winter but due to loss of his wife last spring gave no prediction for the summer. In a report "partially completed" last spring Shultis said indicated a "cold wet summer."

"Fall and winter will be about the same as the winter of 1953 and 1954 and again in 1961 and 1962. The drought condition will return this fall also," Shultis predicts. Construction workers will be happy over Shultis's prediction. "The weather will be fine for building and construction work. Temperature for six months period will be about 34 degrees average and winds will be mostly south to southwest," he concludes.

For those who seek to avoid the weather which Shultis predicts for the local area and go south Shultis said, "weather for south Florida will be warm and dry. Storms will be light. Very little frost if any," he concludes.

Beacon Man Found Guilty In New Paltz Drug Case

Thomas Barone, 23-year-old Beacon car painter, was found guilty as charged Friday by a jury in County Court. Barone was charged with sale and possession of marijuana last December in New Paltz.

Charged with illegal possession, Barone was represented by Seymour Werbalowsky, and Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon appeared for the prosecution. County Judge Raymond J. Mino set October 25 at 11 a. m. for sentence and remanded defendant to custody of Sheriff William B. Martin.

Barone was charged by indictment with selling marijuana to a New York city detective who had been assigned to New Paltz. The detective testified he had met Barone in a pool room and made arrangements to purchase the drug. They met outside and the drug was passed. He resided at 36 North Avenue, Beacon.

The jury deliberated only an hour and twenty minutes before arriving at a decision.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 2, 1967

War of Production

If we are not actually fighting the Soviet Union in Vietnam, our war factories are directly fighting a war of production with Moscow's.

The new series of agreements between the Soviets and North Vietnam for the first time specifies the military material Moscow is furnishing North Vietnam, and it is both considerable and sophisticated. It accounts for the acceleration of the war on both sides.

For instance, the communique says the military material includes ground-to-air missiles, planes and artillery. This is the weaponry that is making American bombing of North Vietnam costly and American Marine defense of the demilitarized zone a nightmare of big gun duels.

The Soviet Union leads the Communist bloc in military aid to Hanoi. The delegation which negotiated the agreement for continued aid first had toured the Western bloc Communist nations, including Cuba. Presumably, it won aid agreements from each of these capitals, too, but not at the same level as Moscow's.

While our State Department declared that it regrets the newly announced agreement, and wishes instead the Soviets had taken action that would have aided in the search for peace, officials saw nothing alarming in the aid package disclosed by Moscow. What is alarming is that Moscow encourages North Vietnam to continue to fight with a billion dollars worth of military material. Without this immense amount of new aid, North Vietnam would either have to come to terms or fade out of the war.

This is of a piece with the Soviet's policy speech at the General Assembly of the United Nations. There, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko insisted that only a United States pullout could end the war. He rejected British Foreign Secretary George Brown's request to convene the Geneva conference as co-chairmen to seek a Vietnam peace. He showed no interest in a peace settlement.

It is a policy of escalation. If our war factories produce the Soviets, our boys in Vietnam can be depended on to make the most effective use of our output. We should waste no more time trying to woo the Soviets. They have told us in unmistakable terms they are at war with us.

Labor Party Defeat

Looking for straws that may point to the outcome of our own national election, the defeat of Britain's Labor party in two by-elections last week might hold some interest to our politicians of both major parties.

The more significant defeat was in a working-class constituency in London, which Labor had held since 1929 without interruption. In the last general election, Labor had won it by a majority of 8,725. Its loss was clearly a rebuke to the government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson for economic policies that have left Britain with a million unemployed this winter.

The second seat lost was in Cambridge, normally a Conservative stronghold. Labor had won it in the general election shift but it returned to the Conservatives at this first opportunity.

As a result of the two losses, Labor's majority in the House of Commons was cut to 86, still safe enough. Len Williams, general secretary of the Labor party, said the results were a measure of the unpopularity of Government measures to put right Britain's economy. "The Government has risked temporary unpopularity in the long term interest of Britain," he added.

Looking for parallels here on the domestic front, President Johnson's insistence on a 10 per cent tax surcharge now could affect his second term election a year from now. Treasury Secretary Fowler warned Congress of political defeat and financial ruin if they do not vote the surcharge at once, but members of Congress, in closer touch with their constituents, know that people are fed up with big spending and resent the surcharge without compensatory cuts in outlays. Passage could haunt Johnson in the 1968 election.

Congress has voted to set up a public corporation to finance independent production of cultural and educational programs. Proponents felt it would do for our cultural life what commercial television has done for social life. Opponents warned it could become a government propaganda machine. Public awareness could control the danger.

Government aid in the sum of $250 million is proposed by 22 members of the House of Representatives, to cure the nationwide nurses shortage. The aid would be given to so-called diploma nursing schools, the source of most graduate nurses, not the colleges that give degrees in nursing, largely for administrators.

"This Way Out!"

David Lawrence Says Johnson Is Added To Brainwashed Club

WASHINGTON — Senator Thurston Morton of Kentucky, Republican, has just bestowed on President Johnson honorary membership in the "brainwashed" club, supposedly founded by Governor George Romney of Michigan, Republican.

Mr. Morton doesn't exactly say he himself has been "brainwashed," too, but he concedes that early in 1965 he supported the increased American involvement in Vietnam. He now says, "I was wrong!"

The Kentucky senator refers to a phrase in one of the addresses by President Eisenhower at the end of his administration, and claims the latter warned against "the dangers of too much power and too much influence in the hands of military-industrial complex." Mr. Eisenhower, however, has supported the President's policy in Vietnam and has not blamed Mr. Johnson for a "military-industrial complex."

Mr. Morton was formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee and also was an assistant secretary of state in the Eisenhower Administration. His address does not offer any formula to solve the Vietnam problem that has not already been advanced. He recommends "an immediate cessation of all bombing of North Vietnam," saying that this "might encourage Hanoi to talk." He suggests "a gradual concentration of effort to secure the coastal and population centers of South Vietnam" and says this "can and must be accomplished with a substantial reduction in American troop strength." He believes that increased pressure should be placed upon the Saigon government to negotiate peace. In conclusion, Mr. Morton says:

"The administration should precisely state to Hanoi and the world that our unilateral disengagement seeks an appropriate response."

This generality has been expressed time and again, but it seems to fall on deaf ears in North Vietnam. One thing is clear: The United States can propose an armistice but, as Secretary Rusk has repeatedly pointed out, it has to be observed by both sides. Otherwise, advantage will be taken of the recess to build up military supplies and move more troops into South Vietnam.

Governor Romney is naturally glad to learn that someone besides himself has been "brainwashed." He also welcomes Mr. Morton to the club and says he thanks the Kentucky senator "made no slip of the tongue."

These references to "brainwashing" are, however, not doing much good for the cause of the United States in the Vietnam War as viewed from abroad. They merely imply that politicians in America are trying to cater to what they seem to believe is a large "peace vote." Politicians are sometimes misled into thinking that Americans prefer "peace at any price."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The trip to London was as sweet as a swim. There were 150 passengers and they ate their way from Boston to Jolly Old England. It was like being in a hollow log with intoxicated termites. The plane left Kennedy at 10 a. m., and arrived at Heathrow Airport—3,300 miles—at 4:30 p. m., and all the stewardesses felt they had walked it.

It was sunny and bright at 39,000 feet. The sky was slightly darker than the sea and the only sound was the big engines sucking their breath. The menu was in French—much Pan American isn't—so I met the snobbery of Flight 100 by telling the steward to bring me one of everything.

They open with elegant brandy snifters, pale scotch and muscular Canadian whiskeys. Some passengers had breakfast a half hour out of New York and started all over an hour later on caviar. There was clear cold soup from a silver tureen, a roast beef with mashed potatoes, deep green peas, and "natural juices." One could have lamb curry, braised beef, more booze, veal steak with tarragon sauce, duck almonds, fillet of sole with olives, pilaf rice, assorted cheese, a basket of fruit, fattening pastries with a layer cake topped by twirled mocha cream.

There was a motion picture too. It was shown through a closed television circuit, with t. v. sets up where the contraband used to be. It is called The Flimflam Man. By 3:30 p. m. the plane was over Ireland, but, as their time was 8:30 p. m., the sky was dark and the city of Cork looked like a handful of topaz stones spread on black velvet.

London, as always, is composed of crooked alleys and straight tradition. The Queen and Philip were not at home—someone warned them that we were coming—so we watched the hippies. Ten years ago, the city was full of Teddy Boys in knee-length chesterfield coats, with watch chains swinging to the knees. They, I discovered, are dead-oh.

The hippies are as numerous as the pigeons. The girls, in their matted hair and torn turtlenecks, look like mourners in a poor house. The boys wear pony tails down between their shoulders and a thin slash of beard from ear to ear. It is obvious that there is no soap in England.

The Savoy Hotel, which is always recessed in a narrow street off the Strand, appeared as elegant as always, and full of Americans. I carried my luggage inside the lobby, and the doorman, with a smile, carried it out again. "We don't do it that way," he said softly, and I roared, "Carry on, guv'nor."

The dining room orchestra was playing "If I Were a Rich Man" in cha-cha. There is a waiter on each floor, and in the room are three buzzers, one for a maid, one for a waiter, and a third for valet service. Whatever room you get is always the "last one" the Savoy has. Ours faces a brick courtyard. As it was built in the 12th century, it has only passing interest for the tourist.

Everybody drives down the left side of the road, and U turns are made to the right. This is harmless and safe, but it will age you. All the cab drivers are cheerful Cockneys who rob you blind. No matter what the meter says, they will tell you what the real bad news is.

Nothing is cheap. I bought a black trenchcoat with raglan sleeves at Aquascutum (a store) and got it for 18 pounds and a few shillings ($53). I asked to have the sleeves shortened a trifle, and the clerk (pronounced "clark") sniffed. If he had put a bit more energy into it, he could have inhaled me.

All the British from the Midlands appear to be on holiday, and Westminster Abbey and St. Martin's in the Fields were jammed with small men of rolling gait, and huge women in woolly two-piece suits. Everybody is on the hair bit, and little babies in prams have their skimpy locks teased high.

The sky is uniformly gray, although there is no fog. Over in the East End, a few American tourists were buying jellied eels from a wagon, while others trooped into a basement called Dirty Dick's for a sip of mulligatawny. The bartenders were sticking hot poker in the stuff.

At night, the very proper British become sexy. They have nude floor shows, nude movies, and a man can call a number and have a girl pick him up for the evening. London's 7,000 prostitutes used to lounge in dark doorways, with just the handbag showing in the light. Now they are in automobiles, flicking the headlights up and down in case anyone would like—a lift?

By day, they tap their derbies on their heads, furl their umbrellas, and mask their emotions. A valiant people indeed.

Drew Pearson Says Labor Leaders Rally Around Wayne Morse

WASHINGTON — Cocktail parties are a dime a dozen in Washington. They have little significance. An exception was held in the National Democratic Club last week by Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic Leader. Its significance was to test whether a man who has sat in judgment on labor in vital wage disputes can still get the support of labor if and when he rules against them.

Mansfield was honoring Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., whom he described as "the greatest intellect in the Senate." Morse is well known for his differing views from President Johnson over the war in Vietnam, but not so well known for his differences with labor. He has arbitrated many top labor disputes, ranging from the Longshoremen's strike to the Macmillan's strike against the airlines last summer to the recent railway dispute.

One of his rulings, the Machinists' strike of last year, incurred the wrath of Roy Siemiller, head of the Machinists, who since then has vowed to "get" Morse. AFL-CIO President George Meany was also indignant over Morse's contention that "the right to strike is limited in wartime."

Last week in Oregon some indication of labor revenge cropped up when George Brown, Oregon state director of COPE, took a vote at the Oregon state AFL-CIO convention alleged to show that labor was deserting Morse. The poll was picked up and published as highly significant because labor has been Morse's chief supporter in the past.

However, two things have now developed. One is the fact that the Oregon poll was a haphazard straw ballot, not an official vote. More significant was the response to Sen. Mansfield's cocktail party. To attend it guests had to plunk down $50 apiece to re-elect Wayne Morse. And the outpouring of labor leaders was impressive. They dominated the party, ranging from bulky John Kneitz of the United Mine Workers to Ken Peterson of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers, and Jerome

Keating of the Letter Carriers.

The building trades were there in full force, represented by Jack Curran of the Hod Carriers and Laborers, Pete Terzick of the Carpenters, and Walter Mason, director of legislation for the building trades unions generally.

Morse had just brought in a proposed settlement of the railroad shopworkers' dispute which caused some bitterness on both sides. Nevertheless a strong contingent of railway labor turned out in his honor, including G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives, Jim Kennedy of the Railway Electrical Workers, and Charles Darnell of the Sheet Metal Workers, together with Reuben Levine, editor of the railway newspaper, "Labor."

"We're here not because Morse is pro-labor, but to honor a great Senator," said Frank Wallick of the United Auto Workers.

African Visitor

African leaders who visit the United States usually go through the formal ceremonies of wreath-laying, dining at the White House, and asking for more U.S. aid. That's about all. Not so Hamani Diori, president of Niger.

He is president of a one-time French colony which the Texan who entertained him in Washington noted was bigger than both Texas and California together. As head of Nigeria, he has close ties to France.

One thing he did not tell the President of the United States was how the president of France, one Charles de Gaulle, called him in and scolded him after Niger refused to line up with France on the question of rebuking Israel for its military reprisals against the Arabs last June. Niger has received generous support from Israeli peace corps workers, and President Hamani Diori refused to an ingrate.

At Blair House the President of Niger invited 20 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers in for tea. He even remembered their names, though it had been some time since they had been in Niger.

"They are my teachers," he confided to U.S. Ambassador Robert Ryan. The president referred to the fact that every Sunday for four years Peace Corps volunteers had come to the presidential residence at 11 a. m. to teach Hamani Diori English. On this visit several Peace Corps volunteers came from all over the country to see him, paying their own expenses.

The president of Niger was received on Capitol Hill by a grumpy, kindly 85-year-old Rep. Barratt O'Hara of Chicago, who is chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Africa. O'Hara is a man who really studies African problems and has been to Niger.

"When you leave, Mr. President," he told the visiting African, "you will take back with you the heart of the American people."

Replied the president of Niger: "When we know that there is a place in someone's heart for us, our feet will bring us to him."

Merry-Go-Round

The new Yugoslav ambassador, Andja Crnobrnja, has something in common with Vice President Humphrey. She is a druggist. . . . The late Sen. Estes Kefauver must have rolled over in his grave when he heard William S. Apple, director of the American Pharmaceutical Association, okay the proposal for lower drug costs by using generic-name drugs instead of brand-name drugs. Kefauver fought for years to reduce the price of drugs to the American public. . . . President Johnson, long an admirer of Kefauver's pro-consumer crusades, is reappointing Paul Rand Dixon, Kefauver's former assistant and protégé, to another seven-year term as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. On FTC Dixon has been carrying out the policies he inherited from Kefauver. . . . President Johnson invites some of the most vigorous critics of White House dinner party Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, strong Nixon booster, was voted to the White House the dinner honoring President Saragat of Italy.

Henry J. Taylor Says LBJ Stuck With Own Performance

President Johnson stated again in his speech to the Latin-American foreign ministers at the recent meeting of the Organization of American States that "America's world must always be good."

This was an unfortunate, if not shocking, occasion to repeat that requirement considering how good our word was regarding Cuba, the island we always swore to defend. But Mr. Johnson was furthermore connecting the requirement, as he does repeatedly, with our promise to defend South Vietnam.

In that case no such promise was ever made. Even the Southeast Asian Defense Treaty that comes closest to the subject is merely permissive and the only direct promise ever given by Mr. Johnson himself.

Yet his own record in this respect is one reason for the tragic division in our country about the rightness of our Vietnam policy and the reliability of the President himself as a promiser.

It proved impossible to follow what Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater said from day to day while he was schussing down the slope. But the parallel between what he urged, what candidate Johnson ignored, what Mr. Goldwater said, what Mr. Johnson denied, and what Mr. Johnson is doing is positively devastating.

Reviewing the Vietnam facts, the President unabashedly told the OAS ministers: "The United States has a long history in Vietnam." The French had a long history there; we didn't. The place where we had a long history was Cuba, a confusion of fact that could hardly be lost on Mr. Johnson's Latin-American listeners.

In 1823 the French Ambassador to London, Prince Jules de Polignac, proposed to Paris a detailed carving up of Latin America among the European powers as several areas gained independence from Spain. The United States issued its counterweight warning: the Monroe Doctrine.

President Kennedy's fiasco at the Bay of Pigs shattered our ancient Monroe Doctrine forever.

On October 10, 1897, heroic liberators sparked the uprising against the colonial government of Spain in Cuba that finally lit the flame for the island's independence.

During this Cuban uprising the U. S. S. Maine stood in Havana harbor to protect American citizens. On February 15, 1898, she was blown up with a heavy loss of American lives.

Pretext or not, and the pretext claim involving the Maine was never proven, the American nation was deeply sympathetic with the Cuban refugees who had fled here and the revolutionists fighting the cruel Spanish rule. We immediately declared war.

Of all her colonies, including the Philippines, that Spain lost during the centuries Cuba was the last one.

From that day forward every President of the United States, including President Kennedy while Mr. Johnson was his Vice-President and especially President Kennedy, has sworn to defend Cuba.

Yet after approximately 60 years of independence Cuba is again a colony—this time a colony of Soviet imperialism, a Red satellite fringed with fire 90 miles from our shores.

The Soviet would rather have Cuba than Alaska—and why not?

The President said that "we must stand firm" and that the Vietnam war "is worth the price," explaining why we have 500,000 Americans fighting a land war in Southeast Asia.

He often misquotes President Eisenhower about Vietnam. Why does he never quote himself, and correctly? Mr. Johnson simply chooses who he wishes to involve.

On October 25, 1964, he stated for the umpteenth time: "We don't want our American boys...to do the fighting for Asian boys and get tied down in a land war in Asia." Are millions to forget that? Moreover, disbelief is a cumulative process.

I, for one, am convinced that President Johnson honestly wonders why his reputation for truth-telling is so low. Politics creates vapors. Certainly, he is honestly concerned about his famous "credibility gap" and insists that he does not deserve to be doubted. And when he repeatedly states that "America's word must always be good" he states an absolutely indispensable requirement.

But that's the rub. Our nation cannot be stronger than its beliefs. And it's beliefs cannot be manufactured to suit a moment, an administration, a policy or a person.

As Macbeth found out, you can kill Banquo but you cannot get rid of his ghost. Tragically, President Johnson is stuck with his own performance when he speaks to memory-minded millions. (Copyright, 1967, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Across the H-Bomb Border:

Where Red Faces Red

Hugo Portisch today reports the execution of Chinese "revisionists" by their own Red troops while thousands look on—one phase of Mao's war of nerves with the Soviets along the border between the two Communist giants. This is the seventh article of a ten-part series.

By HUGO PORTISCH
Chapter VII

Relatively new displays in the Khabarovsk city museum depict historic scenes of the Amur and Ussuri provinces, all of them dealing with Sino-Soviet relations. They are evidently designed to prove that these provinces are inherently Russian, not Chinese. They are a reply to the Chinese claim that over a half a million square kilometers of Soviet territory belongs to China. Most of the displays are derogatory to the Chinese, although some of them depict customs which, though nothing to boast about, were common to the Russians and Chinese in centuries past. This is just one part of the Soviet propaganda reply to the Chinese territorial claims in the Russian Far East.

My Khabarovsk informant, who deals professionally with this situation, explained to me: "You have no idea what methods the Chinese apply! Don't mention my name and I will tell what I myself saw and heard. Officially we are not to talk about these things. We are even very careful in what we let our population know."

"Do you keep your population at all informed about goings-on along the border?" "Yes, but not in our publications. In workers' assemblies, speeches in high schools and universities. Mostly it is officers of the border police who report on their experiences."

"Do they tell all they know?" "Plenty. Besides there are usually questions once the speaker is finished and all most all are answered. We sat together for two hours, during which I got a report on a series of incidents along the Amur River."

"As you know the river freezes over in the fall and the thaws come only in May. Thus, during this period there is no 'Water Ditch' between Russia and China. There is hardly a week that the Chinese don't advance at least to the center of the river, to let loose with one of their propaganda actions."

"What do you mean by propaganda?" "That varies. At times they come only with sound equipment and address our side by loudspeaker; mainly the border police and the soldiers. They could us as revisionists and traitors and try to convince us that Mao Tse-tung is right and we are wrong. They appeal to us continuously to revolt against the party and the government."

I had to smile, but my informant reacted angrily: "Don't dismiss this so easily. Our border population is often left with nightmares which weigh heavily on their minds. They do not stop just with insults. At the high points of these campaigns, which at times last for days, these Red guards sometimes drag prisoners onto the river for exhibition. More insults follow and explanations that these prisoners are friends of the Soviet Union. Chinese revisionists, who now are about to receive merited punishment. We know already what this means. It was demonstrated often enough. After all the insults and accusations have been proclaimed, these prisoners are beheaded in front of our eyes. The corpses and heads remain on the ice, just across the middle of the river which marks the boundary. We cannot recover them from Chinese territory. They stay till it thaws, then the river carries them away."

I must have looked at my informant with disbelief, because he continued with a whole line of similar incidents, as if to confirm what he had said. "The worst is that these are never small groups. They come by the hundreds and thousands. Once we estimated 20,000 participants at a demonstration."

The water, he said, carries the beheaded corpses in spring close to 100 miles downstream, where they usually run ashore on the Chinese bank. Then, my informant said, the second part of the propaganda action continues. The corpses are shown to the Chinese population of these areas, under the pretense that these foul deeds have been committed by Russians.

"And what happened during the past winter?" I wanted to know. "At the beginning of the last winter we had the last and biggest incident of that type. This was the demonstration with the 20,000 participants, part voluntary, part forced, because we well know that the Chinese Red Guards force the population's participation in such actions. During the winter of 1955-56 there were almost daily incidents along the Amur. Only in 1966 did they get bloody—I mean of the type including beatings. In October and November 1966 they tended to go on like this on a grand scale. At the beginning they beheaded people almost daily in front of our eyes."

But on November 7th, when they came to the river with the 20,000, the border commandant lost patience. He advised the Chinese that we would blast the ice over on the Russian side, being permitted to do so as that is our territory. But by the nature of things, the ice cover would also break on the Chinese side. With vile insults the Chinese then retreated."

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — More and more, President Lyndon Johnson is being viewed by Americans as a man who cannot be believed. But the thing of wider significance is that he presides in an era when credibility is rare anywhere in U. S. public affairs. His critics of all political shades are not exactly masters of credible argument.

As he makes his case for continuing the bitter Vietnam war, he is charged with almost endless deceit. But a high proportion of his opponents on the war issue are also something less than totally honest on this subject.

In their call for peace, by varying means up to and including unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam, very few war critics deal credibly with the consequences — for both the Vietnamese and for all other free Asians — which would flow from a disadvantageous treaty with Hanoi, from retreat to coastal enclaves, from any kind of major defeat, or from withdrawal.

They either shrug off this matter, or try to deal with it by unprovable assertions such as: "The domino theory (that other Asian lands will fall if South Vietnam does) is wholly false."

They dispose of opposition argument as the deceitful noises of the warmonger, while they themselves trouble hardly at all to grapple with the complex, brutal realities of life in Vietnam.

It should not be imagined that the Republican critics are any better in this respect than the arch liberals who attack Johnson.

At the dovish end of the spectrum, the Republicans are as dishonest as their Democratic counterparts as to the probable real consequences of "peace for the sake of peace."

At the hawkish end, GOP critics often hide behind meaningless phrases such as: "We should pursue this war with our full military might." What does that mean? Mobilize the whole nation, or use nuclear weapons? The answer is never really given.

The credibility issue is not, however, limited to controversy over the Vietnam war.

Like rival breeds of angry locusts, charges and counter-charges fill the public air on such questions as the real worth of the poverty program, the genuineness of the "establishment's" assault on racial discrimination, the true cost of government and the relation of that cost to the need for more taxes.

Dating from the New Deal era, this town has been awash in reports and documents arguing every side of every public issue.

The obvious comment is: "Isn't that the proper way to debate the great questions?" The answer is yes, if the arguments are credible. But too many are not. And early all documents tend to be depreciated in an age when cheap emotional contention is the order of the day.

The country's radicals, white and black, further erode credibility by preaching distrust of all established authority at the same time they make self-serving argument without bothering to rub two facts together.

At a time when pragmatic social invention at home and firmly conceived foreign policies were never more in demand, too many contenders in the public arena—romantics to the core—have turned to impatient clamor for un-reachable perfection, for the millennium tomorrow.

The net effect of their effort has been to flood much public argument with unreality, to raise hope dishonestly and perhaps explosively, and hence to reduce credibility everywhere. Whatever the President's shortcomings in this field, he has much company.

Two Men Are Stabbed In Separate Incidents

Two men suffered knife wounds as the result of unrelated stabbings investigated Saturday by Highland State Police who took the accused assailants into custody on assault charges.

Buster Hamilton, 58, a migrant farm worker, was listed in fair condition on Sunday at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where he was under treatment for chest wounds allegedly inflicted by his wife, Ozella, during a family quarrel on the Drago Farm, Marlboro.

Hamilton was treated at the farm and later rushed to the hospital in Newburgh. Troopers charged Mrs. Hamilton with first degree assault and arraigned her before Justice of the Peace Mataraza, Town of Marlboro. She pleaded innocent and was committed to the county jail to await grand jury action after waiving her preliminary rights to a hearing.

In the other knife incident, troopers said Talmadge Harris, 29, New Paltz, was arrested on a second degree assault charge. He was accused of cutting the knee of Richard C. Kyles, 28, Marlboro as they quarreled in Main Street, New Paltz.

Kyle, who authorities said was cut with a switchblade knife, said he would see his own physician after first aid treatment was administered.

Harris entered a plea of innocent to the assault charge before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz. He waived preliminary examination rights and was committed to the county jail pending action of the grand jury.

Rondout Action Group Schedules Meeting Tuesday

Rondout Community Action Committee will meet Tuesday night 8 p. m. at 58 Broadway.

The purpose of the meeting is reorganization, and the proposed by-laws for the group are expected to be adopted. Reports are also due on housing, employment and recreation.

All residents and public officials are invited. Rondout Community Action Committee has operated a successful recreation program this past summer, opened a day care center at St. Marks Church and led the drive to reopen the Cornell Fire Station. The chairman of the Committee is the Rev. James Priest and the vice-chairman is Joseph Lawson.

Firearms Charge

Accused of possessing firearms without a license, Bernard Smith, 40, of Jamaica, was arrested Sunday by Leeds State Police. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Abram D. Smith, Town of Rochester, Smith posted $200 bail and the case was referred to the grand jury for investigation. BCI Investigator Michael Mahoney charged the man with possessing a sawed off shotgun and a five-shot pistol.

Local Residents On Cablevision, Oct. 3

"Much Like Us," a motion picture about the Ulster County Community Chest, will be presented in a special broadcast over Kingston Cablevision's Channel 6 on Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, at 7:30 p. m. The announcement was made today by George W. Tamke, campaign chairman for the Chest's 1967 fund drive.

According to Tamke, the film was produced in Ulster County several years ago, to tell the story of the agencies in the Ulster County Community Chest. Many county residents will appear in the film.

"I feel that everyone in the Kingston area who has an opportunity to see this film will come away from their sets with a better understanding about the many ways in which the Community Chest's agencies can and do help our area residents," he said.

Telecasting of the film in Kingston will also enable those people with cablevision service to test their television sets for local reception so that they can

Hurt in Weekend Traffic Mishaps

Three motorists were cited by Ellenville State Police for traffic violations, and one driver was injured as the result of weekend accidents in the Town of Wawarsing.

Trooper R. R. Brooks said Richard Zalsky, 34, of Woodridge, was driving north on Route 209 south of Ellenville at 2:15 a. m. yesterday when the car hit the Napanoch Bridge. Zalsky sustained lacerations and chest injury. He was cited by troopers for driving while intoxicated. Brooks said. The summons is returnable later before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

At 12:30 a. m. Sunday, Stanley Christiana, 17, of Accord, escaped injury when his car left Cooper Road south of Stone Ridge and hit a group of trees. State Police cited him for having no license, failure to keep to the right and unsafe tires. The summons are returnable at a later date before Judge Poppel.

James Decker, 22, of Kerhonkson, and Frederick Tanner, 78, of Sidney, escaped injury at 4:25 p. m. Sunday when their cars collided on Route 209 at the intersection of Route 44-55, Town of Wawarsing. Tanner was cited by troopers for going through a stop sign. He will appear later before Judge Poppel.

Dwyer Resigns Fireman Post

John H. Dwyer of 70 West Chestnut Street submitted his resignation from the Kingston Fire Department Sept. 26 at the regular meeting of the board of fire commissioners.

Dwyer said he resigned to further his education in the field of business administration. His resignation was accepted with regret and Dwyer was commended for being a "dedicated, efficient fireman" while on the force for two years.

northern border received only one round of explosive artillery and two mortar rounds Sunday, U.S. headquarters said.

Since last Wednesday, the Marines at Con Thien have been receiving light, harassing bombardments in contrast to the 500 to 1,000 shell barrages they were taking daily in the preceding weeks.

Elsewhere, there was little ground action reported across South Vietnam. The largest engagement listed by U.S. headquarters was a clash in the central highlands 23 miles southeast of Pleiku City Sunday. Infantrymen of the U.S. Army's 4th Infantry Division reported killing 28 newly equipped North Vietnamese regulars in day-long skirmishes in which the Americans were supported by helicopter gunships, artillery and rapid-firing ACAT Dragonships.

The new enemy equipment suggested that fresh troops were operating in the area, U.S. casualties were one soldier killed and two wounded, headquarters said.

South Vietnamese headquarters said Vietnamese infantrymen killed 22 enemy soldiers Sunday and today near Quang Ngai City, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. The government troops reported their own casualties as light.

Over North Vietnam, Navy fliers from aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf attacked a railroad-highway bridge two miles north of the port city of Cam Pha and about 46 miles northeast of Haiphong Sunday. The raiders apparently did not attack the port at Cam Pha, which was hit for the first time Sept. 11.

Navy fliers also bombed a railroad bridge 20 miles northwest of Haiphong, but pilots reported smoke and darkness prevented a damage assessment of both bridges.

Air Force fighter-bombers from Thailand bases struck at the MIG airfield and main railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi. Aerial photos taken later showed the runway cratered in numerous places. There was no report of any MIG interceptors on the airfield at the time.

In all, American pilots flew 99 missions Sunday, well below the recent daily average of 140 or more.

No Comment From Philby On Charges

MOSCOW (AP) — Harold Philby, described by a British newspaper as "the most important spy that the Russians ever had in the West," will not comment on the weekend news reports in London, a close friend said.

Philby, 55, defected to the Soviet Union four years ago. His son confirmed Sunday that Philby had been recruited by the Soviet secret service early in the 1930s, years before he joined British intelligence and rose to its top ranks.

Philby's closest friend here now is reported to be Donald MacLean, a British diplomat who fled here when Philby reportedly tipped him and the late Guy Burgess that they were under suspicion of spying.

Malone of the Bronx, allegedly crossed the dividing median and was in collision with the Teichman's car. A passenger in Malone's car, Rosalind Avenos, of New York City and the driver of the vehicle, escaped serious injuries.

A Milton man was injured Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision on Route 9W near the Highland Traffic Circle. State Police said Anthony Manese, 63, of North Road, Milton, driver of one vehicle, was released from Vassar Hospital after treatment for back and leg injuries.

Ralph C. Zielke, 25, of Montsey, Rockland County, was listed as the operator of the second car involved in the crash. Both cars were traveling north on the highway at the time of the mishap.

Two persons were injured at 1:55 p. m. Sunday when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Mountain Road, Town of Rosendale, and hit a utility pole. Trooper Richard Dempsey said Kenneth Wieda, 17, of Jamaica, apparently escaped injury. Wieda was driving north and attempting a right curve when the car left the pavement, climbed an embankment and hit the pole.

Passengers in the car were Edmond King, 18, also of Jamaica, who sustained lacerations of the knees and fracture of the left wrist, and Stephanie Rogolski, 16, also of Jamaica, who received lacerations of the right jaw. They were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

At 11 p. m. Saturday, Harry Wolven, 69, of 88 Downs Street, Kingston, escaped injury when his car left King's Highway and went down an embankment and hit a tree, according to Kingston State Police.

Buried DPW Truck Found; Used in Deposit Break-in

Someone took a lot of trouble to hide a New York State Department of Public Works 1966 pickup which was stolen September 5 in Deposit. The truck was taken during a burglary in that Delaware County community and is believed to have been used as a getaway vehicle.

The truck, partially buried, was found off the Creek Locks Road just south of Greenlark Park in the Town of Ulster Sunday, Ulster County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of Sheriff Martin's staff, reported.

Shovels about the scene and a partially dug excavation indicated an attempt had been made to bury the truck. An area sufficient for the vehicle to be completely buried had been measured off and excavated. The truck was recovered on the Markle property.

Bowers reported the radiator and battery missing. A box on the rear of the truck had been removed but left at the scene. Whether the contents of the box was taken is not known. State Department of Public Works in Albany was notified and

Young Terrorists

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — California Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch says the majority of the members of California "terror groups" are people in their late teens or twenties.

Lynch said the high number of young people in the organizations is "a serious prospect...for the future of our nation."

He told the Anti-Defamation League in a weekend talk that he numbers the American Nazi party and the Minutemen as terror groups, along with the Ku Klux Klan and black nationalist groups.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved father, Leo Tabacchi, who passed away two years ago today, October 2, 1965. There is someone who misses you sadly And finds the time long since you went

There is someone who thinks of you always And tries to be brave and content

Gone is the face I loved so dear Silent the voice I loved to hear

Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Giovanna Tabacchi, who passed away three months ago. I think of you so often With every passing day Time only brings you closer Since you have gone away When I look at my loved ones Whom you held so dear I smile and whisper Mother I know that you are near Loving you always Your daughter, MADELINE

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear son, Ronald J. Walton, Sr., who died September 30, 1966. What would I give to see your smile. And sit with you and talk awhile. Day and night I think of you The things you used to say and do The blow was sudden the shock severe To part with you so kind and dear I wonder why had to die Without a chance to say goodbye

Walter Chandler

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Walter C. Chandler, a former congressman and one of the lawyers who led the fight to end malapportionment of Tennessee's legislature, died Sunday after suffering a heart attack. Chandler, 79, was a key figure in the famous Baker vs. Carr lawsuit which led to the U.S. Supreme Court's one man, one vote decision on legislative apportionment. He served in Congress from 1935 to 1940 and later was elected mayor of Memphis.

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — The strike began to wane. chow line was back to near normal strength today at the Elmira Reformatory after a hunger strike that extended over three days and at one time involved nearly all of the penal institution's 1,200 inmates. "The situation has resolved itself," Supt. Daniel E. Damon Jr. told reporters Sunday night, noting that 90 per cent of his charges ate the evening meal. They were "feeling a lot happier," he observed. The protest began with Friday's breakfast meal, and by noon Saturday involved all inmates, who range in age but 75 or 80 prisoners, Damon said. After that, he said, the

Latin America's Castro Communists Are in Retreat

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The conflicts in Vietnam and the Middle East have obscured the fact that in one troubled area vital to the United States—in Latin America—the Communists are in retreat.

Isolated guerrilla bands trained and financed by Fidel Castro's Cuba continue to operate in Bolivia, Colombia, Guatemala and Venezuela. Always, in the countries below the Rio Grande, disgruntled and frustrated intellectuals are ready to castigate "Yankee imperialism."

But the organized Communist conspiracy that was once a real threat in Latin America is in disarray, splintered by a quarrel between supporters of Castro's revolutionary brinkmanship and adherents of Moscow's more cautious policies.

So bitter is the quarrel that Castro himself charged that pro-Russian leaders in Latin America have joined forces in a plot to destroy him. "This Mafia is part of a real international conspiracy against Cuba," spearheaded by the Communist party of Venezuela, Castro said.

On this occasion, at least the erratic Cuban dictator spoke the truth. He has long been a thorn in the side of the official pro-Russian Reds in Venezuela. They would certainly shed no tears over Castro's demise. They might even risk an uprising in Cuba to get rid of him.

The conflict between Castro, who advocates armed guerrilla struggle in Latin America—

the creation of "more Vietnams"—and the more cautious "old guard" leaders in Latin America has been brewing for several years. It has been sharpened and made more enduring by Cuba's sustained campaign since 1966 to create a permanent base in Havana for an alliance of revolutionary movements independent of Moscow.

The open break between Castro and the Soviet leaders occurred in August when the first Latin-American Solidarity Conference (OLAS) met in Cuba. The conference was secret but from reports that have reached Washington, Russia, like the United States, was subjected to merciless attacks despite violent protests of a handful of pro-Soviet delegates.

Francisco Prada, speaking for the pro-Castro guerrillas in Venezuela, denounced the official Venezuelan Communist party as a "tool of American imperialism." He criticized the Soviet Union for its failure to support effectively the war efforts of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. "We see Vietnam tragically alone," Prada said.

Gerardo Sanchez, a leader of a Dominican Republic extremist group, denounced Russia and other Communist countries for the trade they practiced "with Latin-American dictatorships."

Another leader of a Red splinter group, Jose Anselmo of Brazil, even suggested there was little difference between Communist Russia and the capitalist United States.

He said: "Against imperialism only two positions are possible—that of Cuba and Vietnam and, on the other side, the oppressors, their allies and accomplices."

Rondout Valley Seniors Take Exams Tuesday

All Rondout Valley High School seniors who plan to attend college or professional schools of nursing will take the New York Regents Scholarship Examination Tuesday as will thousands of other seniors throughout the state. Four different types of scholarships are awarded on the basis of this examination.

The general Regents College Scholarships are awarded on a county basis so that there is separate scholarship competition within each county of the state. About 20,000 scholarships in all are awarded yearly. Scholarship for professional education in nursing are also awarded on a county basis, a total of approximately 600 annually.

There are separate scholarships for those students who plan to attend Cornell University, and at least one scholarship of this type is awarded yearly for each senatorial district in the state. The amount of these three types of scholarship is based on financial ability.

The fourth type of scholarship is for children of deceased or disabled veterans. Five hundred of these are awarded annually on a state-wide basis.

The Regents Scholarship Examination also serves to establish academic qualifications for State University College.

Quick-Killing Plan
Rarely Works Out

Q) "I am 33 years old and have a good job. I have been fighting the stock market, trying to make a quick killing and it has not worked out. I hold Olin Matliessen and Square D. Both of these have been profitable. I also own United States Filter and Giant Yellowknife. In these I have a loss. I want strong stocks for my children's future. What do you advise me to do?"

R.M. — I congratulate you on gaining at an early age a knowledge that some men never acquire. Trying for a quick killing in the market rarely works out. It is no coincidence that your two good stocks — Olin and Square D — show you a profit and your two remaining issues, which are speculations, show a loss. I would keep Olin and Square D and sell the others. I suggest that the proceeds be reinvested in Walgreen and American Home Products.

Q) "We are ten years from retirement and would like to make plans. My husband earns $200 a week but my mother and father are ill and we provide them with care and $200 monthly for food, medicine, etc. We have $40,000 in savings & loan; $5,000 in E. bonds; Colgate Palmolive stock and Consolidated Edison. Please advise us if our investments are right to take care of retirement."

B.T. — A) I should first like to commend you warmly for taking such good care of your mother and father. I believe that too much of your capital is fixed and can't grow in value to offset further devaluation of the dollar. Your $40,000 in savings — except for interest accruals — will be $40,000 ten years from now. I would leave my E. bonds undisturbed, retain $10,000 in savings and invest $30,000 in good growth stocks such as Consolidated Foods, Georgia Pacific, and Merck. I would hold Colgate but switch Consolidated Edison into Texas Utilities.

Money

New York City is the financial center of the world. Five of its giant commercial banks have total assets of more than $52 billion.

Probably the greatest wholesale bank in the world is Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York. I served my Wall Street apprenticeship there and for more than 40 years I have been a stockholder.

It is an $8 billion institution, with five branches in New York City. One hundred of the top corporations in America carry large accounts there. Henry Clay Alexander, the chief executive officer of MG, is a director of the world's greatest corporation (General Motors) and he is on the finance committee of GM.

Right now in the heart of New York City General Motors is building one of the biggest office buildings in the world. And when that structure is opened in 1968, Morgan Guaranty will have a bank on the ground floor.

It is this column's judgement that when these events take place the common stock of MG will boom in price.

The four other banks: Chase-Manhattan, Chemical, First National City and Manufacturers Hanover, are very large and powerful institutions.

Morgan Guaranty is a wholesale bank (with only five local branches). The others are retail banks. First National City, for example, with $15 billion in assets, has nearly 200 branches. Chase-Manhattan, with nearly $16 billion in assets, has around 140 branches.

Today, these sound bank stocks are being neglected by conservative investors. A good bank stock belongs in every well-diversified investment portfolio. Money and credit are the chief stock in trade of banks.

Money never goes on strike. It need never be unemployed. These are the things that help to give bank stocks stability, growth and good income.

Furthermore, demand deposits in commercial banks receive no interest. As a result, billions of dollars are loaned at good rates and bank profits are substantial.

All of these banks have trust departments where the affairs of individuals and institutions are managed. More and more in America, wealthy people, harassed by local, state and federal taxation, are lodging their assets with trust departments.

Banking is a very stable industry. It is probable that the officers and employees of financial institutions are at the top in intelligence and resourcefulness in the economic life of America.

Investors, deeply concerned by present social and economic turbulence, who have idle funds awaiting profitable employment, might well buy some of the bank stocks mentioned here.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK, N. Y. (AP) — The stock market moved ahead on a modest scale in active trading Monday.

Advances of individual stocks exceeded declines by about 140 issues but the averages were off a bit.

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape fell one minute behind in reporting floor transactions soon after the opening.

Brokers said increases in machine tool orders and construction awards in August over July were encouraging factors.

Motors and electronics were mostly higher. Chrysler gained about half a point, RCA and Raytheon were up about a point.

Friday the Associated Press 60 stock average declined .2 to 338.8.

Stockholders Seek Fall Losses To Offset Tax Gouge in Spring

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Autumn produces a curious harvest for many of America's 22 million stockholders.

Unlike the farmer, these stockholders are seen to scowl and withhold from market their most vigorous crops and instead send to auction the scrawniest of the bunch.

If this seems illogical, there is at least a logical explanation for it: taxes. Taxes in autumn? Well no, but like a good farmer, a stockholder must prepare for spring.

Autumn is the tax-loss season, when shareholders take their most unfortunate products and sell them in the expectation of a good, healthy loss. With this loss they are better prepared for tax-paying time.

Save $1,000

When spring comes and the stockholder files his income tax the rewards of foresight are reaped. Uncle Sam permits every taxpayer to deduct capital losses of up to $1,000 a year. The stock loss then becomes a deduction.

Naturally the benefits of a big tax deduction never come close to offsetting the loss involved in the stock sale. But at least the pain is eased, and most taxpayers need pain killer on April 15 when tax returns are due.

Tax-loss selling during the fall usually makes a pronounced dent in market prices, especially if many stocks already have had sharp descents from their yearly highs. Stocks that have fallen, are therefore pushed even lower.

This year, of course, stocks have risen. Most stock indexes are now much higher than at the beginning of the year. It seems likely that as a result fewer tax losses than last year will be claimed.

However, the discussions now going on in Washington about increasing income taxes has complicated this year's situation. These tax talks may not bring action until next year, but they are liable to produce a reaction now. This reaction might very well mean more selling.

Typically, there is a small segment of the market that claims it is "locked in by taxes." These people feel their paper profits are so large that to sell and convert the paper profit to a real one might result in unbearable taxes.

Some analysts scoff at such reasoning on the grounds that taxes might be postponed but never avoided. With taxes likely to be higher next year, the "locked in" share holder may merely add to his tax burden. It could be to his advantage to unlock his thinking and sell if he believes the stock fully priced.

Reckless Mule

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The elderly driver of a stubborn mule pulling a junk wagon was cited for reckless driving after tangling with a late model car Sunday.

Neither the mule nor the driver, Alfred Burton, 78, was injured.

The wagon was impounded at a wrecking service. The mule was taken to the horse barns at the Indiana State Fair grounds. Burton is to appear later this month on charges of reckless driving and no permit for collecting junk.

INVESTMENT TO BUILDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Commissioners of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, New York, at its office in City Hall, 408 Broadway, Kingston, New York until 1:30 P. M. Monday, October 2, 1967 and they will be publicly opened and read in the Mayor's Office beginning at 2:00 P. M.

Proposals are invited on Contract No. 80 for constructing a portion of a street known as Kingston Terrace between East Chester Street and East Chester Street Extension in which the approximate quantities of items for the comparison of bids are as follows:

Item I — Clearing & Grubbing: 1 1/2 Acre

Item II — Rock Excavation: 250 C.Y.

Item III — Embankment Fill in place: 1600 C.Y.

Item V — Asphaltic Concrete Paving: 1000 S.Y.

Proposals must be submitted on forms furnished by the Board of Public Works. These forms, together with other contract documents, including plan and specifications, may be obtained from the Office of the City Engineer, City Hall upon the deposit of $10.00, which will be refunded to bidders upon the return of the documents in good order within ten (10) days after the opening of bids. Contractors who do not submit proposals will be refunded $5.00 upon the return of the documents in good order. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the total amount of bid, which will be returnable upon the non-acceptance of bid or execution of the contract. No bids may be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening of the bids.

The Commissioners expressly reserve the right to waive any formalities in or accept any bid, or accept any and all bids, or to award on any or all items, as the interest of the City of Kingston may appear to require.

By order of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, New York.

Airman Feted By Indians

R. D. WRIGHT

Former drum major of the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, A 3rd Class Robert DuBois Wright was honored Sept. 28, with a surprise dinner which was prepared by the Troop 12 Mothers' Club. Attended by most of the members of both Indians Corps and their families, the dinner which was held at Bethany Hall of the Old Dutch Church.

Robert, who is now a member of the U.S. Air Force Military Police has been enjoying a 30-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DuBois, and brothers James and Raymond. He will report back for active duty Oct. 9 after which he will be shipped to Germany where he will serve for three years.

To quote Bob "One of the wisest decisions I've ever made, was when I joined Troop 12 and the Indians back in 1960." He served in the drum line as a tenor drummer until 1965 when he was appointed assistant drum major. Promoted to drum major in 1966, he served in this position with excellence until entering the Air Force in May 1967.

Among other gifts, he was presented with a beautiful suede wallet by the members of the Indians, with a check enclosed from the Mothers' Club

Today In History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Oct. 2, the 275th day of 1967. There are 90 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1869, the Indian nationalist leader Mohandas Gandhi was born.

On this date—In 1780, the British officer who negotiated Benedict Arnold's attempted surrender of West Point, Maj. John Andre, was hanged as a spy at Tappan, N.Y.

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee became president of Washington and Lee University in Virginia.

In 1889, the first Pan-American Conference met in Washington, D.C.

In 1905, former President Grover Cleveland wrote in the Ladies' Home Journal: "Sensible and responsible women do not want to vote."

In 1941, German armies launched an all-out drive against Moscow.

In 1945, Gen. George S. Patton was removed as commander of the U.S. 3rd Army.

Ten years ago—26 passengers were killed when a bus plunged into a river near Cuenca, Spain.

Five years ago — The Soviet Union announced it was withdrawing from the New York World's Fair.

One year ago—The Soviet Union acknowledged that it was sending soldiers to North Vietnam to train crews in the use of anti-aircraft missiles.

Geneva GI Killed in Viet

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — A 20-year-old Army paratrooper from Geneva was killed last Wednesday in combat in South Vietnam, the Defense Department says.

The department announced Friday the death of Pfc. Steven B. Riccione, son of Mr. and Mrs. Humbert D. Riccione.

Riccione, who celebrated his birthday Sept. 8, attended Geneva High School before enlisting last February. He had been in Vietnam 26 days, the family said.

Besides his parents, his survivors include two sisters and a brother.

The Riccione address is 55 N. Exchange St.

News of Fraternal and Civic Organizations

Rondout Lodge 343, F & A M will hold its regular stated communication tonight in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, at which time a special program has been arranged for the apron and jewel presentation to Worshipful Brother William A. Evans, assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster District. Lodge will convene at 7 p. m. in order that program may start promptly at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served in the dining room following the meeting.

was proposed today by State Housing Commissioner James G. William Gaynor. As outlined in a speech delivered at the annual meeting of the New York State Association of Urban Renewal Officials at the Thruway Motor Inn, Albany, the Corporation could serve as a re-developer in providing large-scale, multi-purpose projects in urban renewal areas.

"The Corporation will offer you, in effect and in one package, the services of a re-developer who will assume all phases and all types of development and redevelopment. Rather than dealing with a myriad of redevelopers you will be able to negotiate with one corporation composed of professionals who will be familiar with urban renewal areas and ready to meet the requirements of the urban renewal process. At the same time the corporation will serve to channel assistance which will be applicable in this housing, we think you will find that the undertakings of the corporation will, with proper planning and staging, provide you with a valuable resource to provide relocation housing for tenants displaced by other portions of the urban renewal project or by other urban renewal projects."

middle income and low rent assistance which will be applicable in this housing, we think you will find that the undertakings of the corporation will, with proper planning and staging, provide you with a valuable resource to provide relocation housing for tenants displaced by other portions of the urban renewal project or by other urban renewal projects."

ban Development Corporation and development of its project Finance Agency for long-term permanent mortgage bonds. When the projects are term placed back in the revolving fund and used for future enterprises of the corporation. For financing its projects the state corporation could utilize other state programs such as the re-loans to non-profit industrial Housing Development Fund to could also use federal and municipal loan and subsidy programs.

Dentists Hear Guest Speaker

The Ulster-Greene Dental Society held its first fall meeting at the Kirkland Hotel, Kingston, Wednesday.

Dr. Vincent J. Oddo Jr. of Providence, R. I., was the guest lecturer. Dr. Oddo is a Georgetown University graduate, a past president of the Rhode Island Dental Society, and a member of the Prosthodontic Faculty of Georgetown University School of Dentistry. He presented a new method of partial denture retention, featuring a spring-action clasp.

In cooperation with the New York State Medical program, the Ulster-Greene Dental Society is pursuing a continuing education program. Monthly meetings are keyed to present any new facet of dental advance.

The local society has appointed Doctors Joseph Kearney, Edward Gurland, and Paul Perlman to arrange future programs.

New RV Teachers Announced

Among teachers new to Rondout Valley schools this year are 11 who have not yet been introduced to area readers.

On the elementary level, George Cosenza is teaching vocal music in the Kerhonkson School. Holder of a BS in Music Education from Ithaca College, Cosenza also has 30 hours of graduate work at SUNY New Paltz. Married and the father of one child, Cosenza and his family are Kingston residents.

Teaching music for two years per week in the Accord School is Mrs. Norm Kelly. She has had seven years of experience in teaching vocal music, most recently as a full-time substitute in Kerhonkson. Mrs. Kelly has a BS and an MS from Potsdam. Her husband, Martin Kelly, also teaches music in the Rondout Valley district. The Kellys live in High Falls Park and their children attend local schools.

Mrs. Mary Ose brings five years of teaching experience in a non-graded school to the Accord School, which entered its second non-graded year this fall. In all, she has taught for 18 years in New York and Virginia elementary schools. Mrs. Ose received her BS from SUNY at New Paltz and has been working on her MA at the University of Virginia. A widow, Mrs. Ose lives in Kingston with her son, William.

A January 1967 graduate of Valparaiso University in Indiana with a BA in Education, Mrs. Catherine Van Alstyne teaches a fourth grade class in the Marletown School. Nine of her degree hours were earned at Kearney State College in Nebraska, where she also attended graduate school in the 1967 spring semester, completing nine graduate hours. In college, Mrs. Van Alstyne was a reading laboratory instructor for junior and senior high school students in a developmental and remedial reading program.

Also teaching at Marletown is Gordon Wahlberg, who received his BS from the University of California. He has done graduate work in secondary education and plans to continue graduate studies. Wahlberg is teaching a 6th grade class.

Richard Albert has joined the social studies department at Rondout Valley Junior-Senior High School as a teacher of World History in the 10th grade. His BA in history was earned at Northland College, Ashland, Wis. Teaching junior high math is Mr. Richard Bach, who will be a March 1968 graduate of SUNY, New Paltz. Miss Diane DeFranza, a graduate of Toledo University in Ohio with one year's experience, is teaching Girls' Physical Education.

A graduate of SUNY Paltz, Glenn Gerlock has taken over some classes in junior high science. He has had three years of service in the Armed Forces. Also teaching junior high math is Leslie J. Honig, a graduate of Clark University, Worcester, Mass. with a bachelor's degree in psychology and mathematics.

After three years of teaching at Ludlow Junior High School in Ludlow, Mass., Miss Carol Vadnais has joined the RVHS Social Studies Department, teaching junior high courses and one course in 11th grade American History. Miss Vadnais is a graduate of American International College, Springfield, Mass., with a degree in history and science.

RV EDITORS—Rondout Valley Central High School yearbook editors seek to kindle new Council Fires edition after winning a B plus on the 1967 publication. Studying the format are Janet Miller, assistant literary editor; Virginia Davenport, Leslie Coulton, Alice Becker and Betty Jo Brown, art editor. The award was given after judging by the National School Yearbook Association with its affiliate National Newspaper Service.

Yale Law Students Pick Rocky-Bobby

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Students at Yale Law School think the 1968 presidential candidates should be Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both of New York.

The students, who indicated that 45 per cent of them were Democrats, 21 per cent Republicans and 34 per cent independent, gave 68 per cent of their mock Republican votes to Rockefeller and 56 per cent of their Democratic primary votes to Kennedy.

The poll was conducted by a law school political club. Results were released Friday.

President Johnson got 18 per cent of the ballots in the Democratic primary, running a poor second.

George Wallace, former Alabama governor, got three per cent of the votes.

Twenty-three per cent of the students voted for an unnamed "other" candidate.

In the GOP primary, Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois got 16 per cent of the votes.

California's Gov. Ronald Reagan got five per cent to tie for third with "other."

Michigan's Gov. George Romney and former Vice President Richard Nixon each got three per cent to tie for last.

Two Men Arrested In Girl's Death

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP) — A Brooklyn, N.Y., man is being held in Bergen County Jail on a homicide charge in connection with the fatal shooting of an 18-year-old girl here Saturday.

Police said Gabriel Ornes, 24, was arraigned Sunday before Municipal Judge Morris Dobrin and was ordered held without bail in the county jail in Hackensack. Ornes was arrested earlier in Brooklyn.

Brenda Gass, 18, was shot to death and her sister, Robin, 14, was critically wounded when they ignored a holdup attempt by three men who drove up to them in a car, police said.

A second man, Jose Mislas, 20, of Brooklyn, was also arrested Sunday in Copiague, N.Y. He is scheduled for arraignment today in Suffolk County, N.Y.

Police are still searching for a third Brooklyn man, Israel Perez, 25.

Police said Ornes was arrested with a .22 caliber revolver in his possession when he tried to enter his home, which had been staked out all Saturday night. He was booked on charges of homicide and weapons law violation, was arraigned in Brooklyn Criminal Court, and then extradited to Bergen County.

Police said Ornes was a purchasing agent for a jewelry exchange.

About six hours after Ornes' arrest, Mislas was taken into custody in Copiague when he complained to police about being robbed. Suffolk County police held him as a fugitive based on a Bergen County homicide complaint.

Fair Lawn police said the three men were identified through the "excellent cooperation" of local residents who witnessed the shooting and gave good descriptions of the men and the car.

The police account of the slaying was that a car pulled abreast of the sisters and one of the three men inside jumped out, holding a pistol hidden under a newspaper.

The man said, "This is a hold-up," Robin Gass told police, but the sisters ignored him and continued walking.

The man then uncovered the pistol, fired three shots and drove off with his companions. Brenda Gass was felled by two bullets and died later at Fair Lawn Memorial Hospital. Robin was wounded once in the back and was admitted in critical condition.

The girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Gass Jr., were at a convention in Atlantic City when the shooting occurred.

They have two other children, Warren, 13, and a daughter, Eleat, 17.

Ornes lives at 263 Sixth Ave., and Mislas at 340 Clifton Place, Brooklyn, N.Y.

No Paupers

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) — A local branch of the Transport Workers' Union ordered three graves today for a third Brooklyn man, Israel Perez, 25.

The request went in after a union member recently was given a pauper's burial due to lack of money.

Branch Secretary Sam Clark said: "We are determined to see that none of our members ever face a pauper's funeral."

Farewell Dinner for Chaplain

More than 100 Legionnaires and friends of the Rev. Clarence E. Brown from Kingston Post 150 and other Ulster County posts attended a farewell dinner at the Gov. Clinton Hotel last night honoring the departing chaplain of 32 years for this county.

Chaplain Brown has been a stalwart Legionnaire and inspirational leader to both Post 150 and the Ulster County American Legion organization for the past three decades. He has also served as Post 150 and Ulster County commander during that period. Prior to maintaining residency in Ulster County he served as post commander at Catskill Post 110 and as Greene County Commander. On Oct. 2 the Browns will move to Cane Cod to reside with their daughter.

Among those paying tribute to the retired former Baptist minister were Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan whose acquaintance dates back to his residency in Windham. Others on the distinguished list included Ulster County American Legion Commander James Coppersmith of Ellenville and Frederic Snyder, prominent national travel agent and lecturer. The latter, an acquaintance of the chaplain since his days in Cooperstown, recalled many of the Brown.

Says Cuban Refugees Are Here to Stay

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban refugees, arriving in the United States at the rate of nearly 4,000 monthly, are here to stay, says a University of Miami research team in a study.

The new report suggested that the refugee assistance program, which has cost U.S. taxpayers $250 million to date, might be scaled down.

"The Cuban refugees as a group have lost much of their character as visitors awaiting a favorable opportunity to return to Cuba," said the study, prepared for the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

"On the whole, they seem to be losing conviction that an early change in circumstances will make return feasible."

The 200-page survey continued: "Many are accumulating vested interests in staying in the United States, which must be balanced against prospects in Cuba at the time of return."

"A precipitous exodus seems exceedingly remote under any circumstances."

The government "has tended to regard the refugees as problems rather than opportunities," the report said. "Planning for the future should incorporate imaginative thinking concerning the economic and cultural contributions of which the Cubans are clearly capable."

The book, titled "The Cuban Immigration," added: "In the expectation that the exodus from Cuba will continue indefinitely and that the situation will not alter in Cuba in the foreseeable future, a long-range goal of the refugee program should be normalization of the emergency situation created by the massive migration."

"This is, there should be a phasing down or out."

The report placed the number of Cubans arriving in the United States since Fidel Castro's 1959 takeover of Cuba at more than 300,000 but said no accurate count is available. Other sources estimate the exile population at 400,000.

Gateways Lauded in Designation

Hire the Handicapped Week is being observed nationally Oct. 1 through 7.

Locally, Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan has issued an official designation calling for area industries and businesses to make "a sincere effort to place wherever possible the trained handicapped person in our community so that they can achieve their rightful place in society."

Gateway Industries Inc., of 9-11 Field Court, takes an active role in training and employment of the handicapped. Anyone interested in program may visit the facilities and see rehabilitation in action.

Mayor Garrahan in his proclamation, lauded Gateway for its efforts.

Esopus Dinner

The Esopus Methodist Church will conduct a turkey dinner benefit Saturday, Oct. 21, 5 p. m., at the firehouse. The public is invited.

Scholarship Exams Slated Tuesday at KHS

The Regents Scholarship and College Qualification test will be administered Tuesday at Kingston High School.

All Kingston High School seniors that are candidates for Regents Scholarships will take the one day examination given in two sessions, morning and afternoon. This examination will provide an opportunity for demonstrating academic qualification for receiving scholar incentive assistance during the first semester of college study.

In addition, the test will serve as a basis for admission to all state university units including Ulster County Community College. All seniors planning to enter college in September 1968, including seniors who may not be eligible to compete for a scholarship are encouraged to take the Regents Scholarship Exam.

School will not be in session at Kingston High School on Tuesday because of the administration of the tests. Only those seniors who will write the exam will attend school that day.

Regents Scholarships from $250 to $1,000 a year. Scholar Incentive Awards from $100 to $500 a year, and awards for children of deceased or disabled veterans may be awarded by taking the Regents Scholarship Exam. If any senior has not registered for this test they should immediately contact their guidance counselor at Kingston High School. If any parent of a senior has a question regarding this test they may contact the Kingston High School Guidance Office.

HONORED BY LEGION—The Rev. Clarence Brown, long-time Legionnaire and chaplain of both Kingston Post 150 and Ulster County Legion, was honored guest at the testimonial dinner Thursday night at Gov. Clinton Hotel. The Rev. and Mrs. Brown (C) are leaving Kingston next week

Gov. Reagan Disclaims '68 Interest

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) —fund-raising dinner that the year's presidential campaign, Gov. Ronald Reagan, disclaiming any interest in the 1968 presidential nomination, told a Republican rally Friday night that the Democrats can be ousted from the White House "if we forget past grudges and intraparty fighting." The California governor told a crowd of 3,500 at a $100-a-plate Republican country must "turn away from the sickly pastels of expediency and a system where the government buys the people's votes with the people's money."

Reagan will speak in Milwaukee tonight at a dinner sponsored by the Wisconsin Republican State Central Committee. In his South Carolina address he called for party unity in next

Harrison Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Noel Harrison has been sued for $80,500 by a company that says he backed out of a contract to appear in a musical variety show.

Custom Homes Inc. says in the Superior Court suit filed Friday that Harrison contracted to appear at the San Diego International Home and Decorator Show Oct. 6 for a salary of $2,000. But last Monday, the suit says, Harrison canceled.

Accord Event to Recall Those Romantic D & H Days

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Romantic days of the historic Delaware and Hudson Canal will be recalled by the Accord Stone House Day Tours this year on Saturday, Oct. 7.

The 11th annual autumn event sponsored by the Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, will feature tours of the old canal bed, towpath and berme as well as visits to the historic houses of the area.

Tours Start at 11

Tours will leave the church 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Luncheon will be served at the church from noon to 2:30 p. m. Coffee and sandwiches will be available for the remainder of the afternoon.

Women of the church will sell homemade foods, quilts and other objects for the benefit of the church building fund.

The D&H Canal once served as the main artery between Honesdale, Pa. and Rondout. In the busy, bustling canal days from 1829 to the turn of the century, bargemen plied the route with loads of coal, food and building materials for the growing nation. In those days Accord was known as Port Jackson.

Included in the tour Saturday will be the remains of the canal as it went along the embankment north of Accord, of the aqueduct crossing the Stonykill, the Peter Davis Boat Basin, the feeder channel from the Peterskill, the Peterskill Aqueduct and the canal bed and towpath at Allgerville.

Preservation Eyed

The latter portion of the remains has been the object of a preservation move by the D&H Canal Society. Dedicated members are attempting to save the canal bed from a proposed highway route.

One of the historic houses included in the tour is the Peterskill House now owned by Writer Edwin Tetlow and his wife. The house stands at the point where the Peterskill empties into the Rondout Creek. Remains of canal engineer feats of another century can be seen around the grounds. This site served as a resting place for men and animals when the canal was in its heyday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Cross Jr. on Old Kings Highway is a study in building styles and materials of the early settlers and is furnished with elegant antiques. Built in 1750, it has been occupied by eight generations of the Cross family.

The home of Mrs. Edward Davenport was built in 1700 and still has its original Dutch doors, European hardware and Shawangunk granite doorposts.

The John L. Schoonmaker Jr. stone house built in 1787 remains the focal point of one of the finest working farms in the area.

The Old Brick House, owned by Mrs. Maude Bush Gazlay, is a departure from the usual stone construction found in Ulster County's early homes. It is representative of the grand style of wealthy Dutch immigrants who settled the rich Rondout Valley farmlands.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John McSherry in Whitfield dates from 1830 and features wide floor boards typical of the period.

Several other houses will be included in the tour.

Charged With Drug Possession

Arrested Sunday night by Highland State Police on a charge of hitchhiking, Lawrence Edward Gentile, 19, of 476 Glenn Street, Glens Falls, was later booked on a charge of possessing drugs, according to Trooper Edward Pulver.

Gentile was picked up by Trooper Robert Whalen near New Paltz and booked on a charge of soliciting a ride on a public highway. Troopers later said they found the youth in possession of drugs known as pep pills. He was booked on the second charge.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz, Gentile pleaded guilty to hitchhiking and was fined $10. He posted $100 bail and hearing on the charge was adjourned until Oct. 13.

Social Security Office Here Marks 30 Years of Service

George J. Habernig, district office manager, announced today that the Kingston Social Security office had outgrown the space in the Post Office Building. A few years later it moved to its present location, 57 Albany Avenue.

Habernig stated that the office was opened in 1937 and serviced all the Hudson Valley. Later, offices were opened in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

Need New Quarters

The Kingston office was first located on Fair Street and later moved to the Central Post Office building. In 1956 it moved to 61 Albany Avenue because it had outgrown the space in the Post Office Building. A few years later it moved to its present location, 57 Albany Avenue.

Habernig stated that the staff has grown from four people in 1947 to 18 people in 1967. In 1947 the office serviced 1700 beneficiaries. It now services 18,500 beneficiaries and benefits in the amount of nearly one and one-half million dollars paid each month to the beneficiaries in the county.

Approximately 300 people visit the district office each week. Field Representative Hy Gardin traveled nearly 10,000 miles last year visiting homes of claimants and beneficiaries who could not get to the district office or contact station because of illness or disability.

Habernig stated that the employees of the Kingston office are trained to answer the kinds of questions people ask to help people complete the necessary forms to apply for the many benefits provided under the Social Security Law; to advise people what information or documents they will have to supply and if anyone has a problem getting the evidence needed to help or suggest other evidence that will serve as well and tell where it can be obtained; to help people get in touch with other offices that might be of help to them; and to keep all the information confidential. They will also try to give clear and understandable answers to questions on social security and do what is necessary if one cannot go to the office because of disability or ill health.

List Hours

Habernig stated that the office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and for those who cannot call during the regular hours the office is open on Thursday evening from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Habernig pointed out that

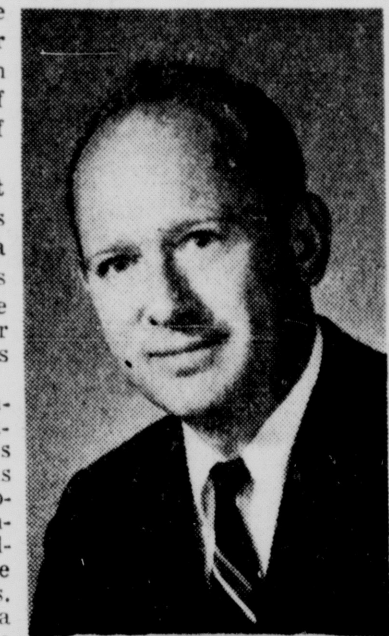

Named Chamber V-P

V. James Andretta, Jr. vice president of Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc., has been named a vice-president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

In making the announcement Chamber President, S. James Matthews noted that Andretta was elected to the Chamber's Board of Directors in May. He served the Chamber last year as Chairman of its Business Development Committee.

Matthews indicated that Andretta would serve the Chamber as the Vice President of its Internal Affairs Division. This division is charged with the operation of committees concerned with membership development, budget and finance activities, and special events. As a vice president, Andretta will serve as a member of the Chamber's executive committee together with two other vice presidents, Dr. Jeremiah Sachs and Dean M. Kintner. Also Treasurer William E. Belser and past president, George Svirsky. Matthews and Peter O. Allen, executive vice president, are executive committee members. Andretta has been active in civic and business affairs in the area. In addition to his Chamber work, he has served on the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a vice president of New York State Liquor Association and a director of the wine and Spirit Wholesalers of America Association. He, his wife Margaret, and their three children reside at 400 Pearl Street.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Andretta attended Princeton University and was a U. S. Army Air Force pilot.

Mental Health Conclave Set For October 7

Forces Affecting the Family Today: Constructive and Destructive is the theme of the third annual New York Congress for Mental Health to be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, New York City, Saturday, Oct. 7.

The Congress is sponsored by the New York State Association for Mental Health in conjunction with the Medical Society of the State of New York, and the Council and New York District Branches of the American Psychiatric Association.

Papers by eminent authorities will be presented at the morning session. Keynote speaker at the luncheon session will be Dr. Lawrence Kolb, director of the New York State Psychiatric Institute and director of the psychiatric service at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital.

Registration information for the Congress is available from the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 P. O'Reilly Street, Kingston. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The Association is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Flood's Aftermath

Salamanca Cleans Up

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — Residents of flood-stricken southwestern New York looked forward today to the routine of normal living while continuing to clean up the vestiges of last week's storm.

Schools closed last Thursday after the first of five inches of rain began pelted the area were reopened today as flood waters continued to recede.

Over the weekend, the bodies of two motorists swept to their deaths by rain-swollen streams Thursday night were recovered.

Searchers found the body of Wayne Hatch, 17, of Little Valley, Saturday in a flooded field north of Salamanca, Sunday, the body of Ray W. Reed, 62, of Colden, was found floating in Cazenovia Creek in the Buffalo suburb of West Seneca. It had been carried 14 miles down stream from Colden.

Salamanca, whose streets were inundated by the rampaging Allegheny River, was the scene of another type of flood over the weekend. Several thousand visitors flocked to this city of 8,500 to inspect the storm damage.

A state of emergency was lifted Saturday, but precautions to boil drinking water continued.

Thirty-five families here remained refugees from the storm when broken gas lines prevented them from returning to their homes. Other home-owners worked to remove caked mud and debris from their property.

The Allegheny continued its gradual drop below flood stage. More than 400 residents of the village of Friendship, northeast of Olean, kept the community's only physician busy over the weekend administering typhoid shots. All had come in contact with the flood waters.

Estimates of the damage have been made in the millions of dollars.

Sunday Fire Damages Highland Fruit Plant

Large amounts of fruit were destroyed in a fire at Highland Sunday night and early this morning. Six fire companies responded to fight the blaze which was described as stubborn.

The fire, in the cold storage plant of the William Palladino Farm, Riverside Road, was caused by an electrical short circuit. The building, which was cork-lined and insulated, made extinguishing the smoldering fire difficult, it was reported.

Firemen were called on the scene at 9:03 last night and were recalled at 3:29 a. m. A rekindling of the fire was reported at 7:45 p. m. and Highland Fire Company responded.

Six months ago, a barn burned on the same property, formerly known as Highland Orchards.

Responding to last night's fire, in addition to Highland were: New Paltz, Esopus, Milton, Marlboro and Modena, according to a mutual aid report. No estimate of damage was given.

Just Like Garbage

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Lawrence L. Walters, professor of transportation at Indiana University, told a state transportation study committee recently that it might be more economical in large cities to operate transit systems free and "haul people just like we do the garbage."

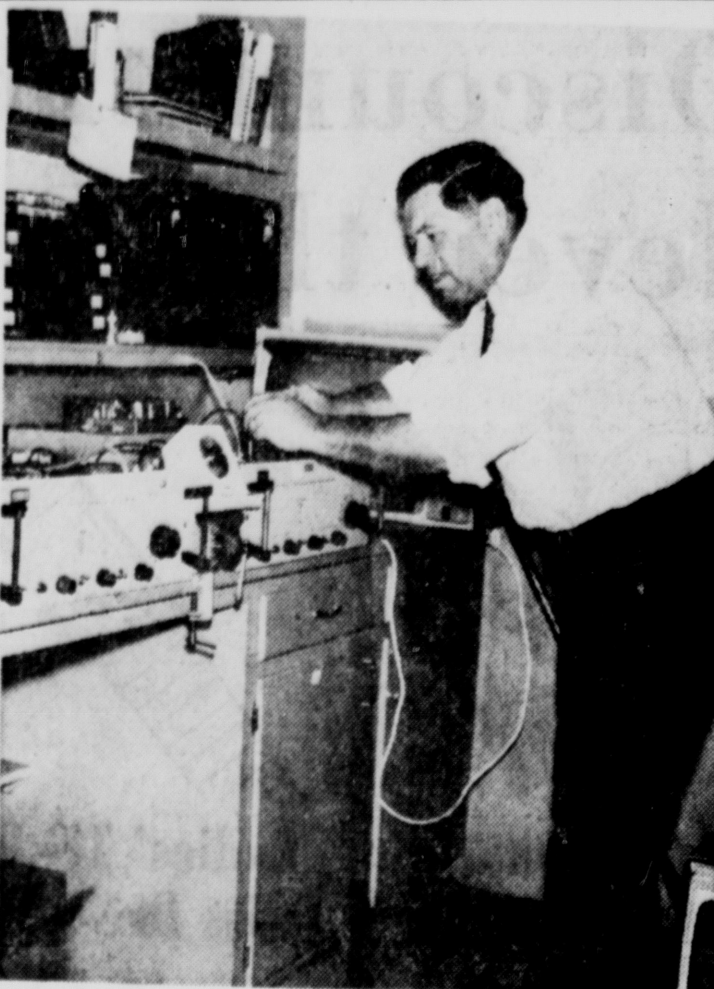

He said he based this opinion on the high cost of building free-ways.

$5 Billion Spending Cut Could Kickback at Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion blanket cut in nondefense spending would disrupt orderly government, say some federal officials. And they claim it would kick up a backlash at home against congressmen now demanding huge cuts in federal spending as the price for higher taxes.

Although no official list of possibilities has been prepared, it's known that the question of a forced $5 billion cut in spending has been discussed in high administration circles.

Officials say if the Republican-backed plan succeeds, it would:

- Eliminate every new contract on every major federal construction project covered in the administrative budget. This excludes the highway program which is financed separately.
- Eliminate all new projects of every type.
- Cut new loans 50 per cent below planned levels, including those to farmers and small businessmen.
- Cut grants to states and local governments by one third.
- Eliminate or drastically reduce the school lunch program.

Sources said all cuts would have to come from the roughly $20 billion in spending which the administration can control. "It would hit everybody right in the stomach," one source said.

Controllable spending excludes such items as the $72.3 billion in military spending, originally proposed in January, and the $14 billion for interest on the federal debt.

The administration promised Congress to cut $2 billion from civilian programs and hopes to salvage an unknown amount from military spending not connected with Vietnam. But no specific list of cuts has been sent to Congress. The Administration says none will be until Congress completes action on all appropriation bills.

One key official said any cuts in military spending won't be based on the $72.3 billion total.

Booze Bus

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — The city fathers of Liverpool are thinking about setting up a special bus service for drinkers—to keep them from driving.

Britain's strict new drink-and-drive laws come into effect next week, allowing police to make random "breath checks" with a chemical measuring device.

In Liverpool, pub crawlers would be encouraged to leave their cars at home. Then at closing time the booze bus would stop by to pick them up and deliver them to their homes in and around the city.

The debate over higher taxes and spending cuts reached one climax last week when Republicans failed in a bid to fix a $131.5 billion ceiling on administrative budget spending for the current fiscal year. Johnson's revised estimate in this category is $136.5 billion, not including up to $4 billion more for Vietnam.

But Republicans, aided by 34 conservative Democrats, sent back to a House committee a resolution to authorize stopgap financing through October for government agencies whose appropriations bills have not yet been passed. A new resolution extending emergency financing for 10 days is scheduled to be considered by the House Tuesday, but in the meantime the affected agencies are technically bankrupt. The only unaffected departments are Treasury, Defense, Post Office and Interior which already have their appropriations.

The spending ceiling proposed by the GOP would specifically exempt any money beyond $72.3 billion for the military which the President felt was necessary. Thus the cuts would be forced from civilian programs.

USO—United Service Organization WORLD WIDE SERVICES TO SERVICEMEN

With some 3½ millions of fellow Americans now in our Armed Forces, someone you know needs USO.

"Someone You Know Needs USO"

When you give the United Way you give to

USO

United Service Organizations

Chances are you have a loved one, a neighbor, a friend, now wearing the uniform; son or daughter of those who were called to the colors in World War II, in Korea, in the cold war that is no longer cold — three generations of our fellow countrymen who have been asked to leave their firesides, schools, jobs, factories, in defense of us who can remain safely at home, thanks to them.

To provide them with a "home away from home" — to bring them the familiar sound and sight they left behind — the USO operates clubs and lounges in 118 communities throughout the United States and 46 in 14 foreign nations where U. S. troops are stationed. It sends out the famous USO Shows to entertain them in the most remote corners of the world where they are standing guard at so many gates of freedom.

USO is a voluntary expression of the continuing concern of the American people for those we have called into the Armed Forces.

It is non-denominational; representative of the three great faiths; non-partisan, non-military, civilian-controlled whose only purpose is the furtherance of the welfare and morale of our men and women in uniform, wherever they be sent, at home or overseas.

It receives no money from the government, relies entirely on your contributions through the Community Chest.

Wardrobe of Watches

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—What

kind of fashion does a woman want in a fine watch? A list of styles that sell best is one way of answering that question. But because they felt that people would naturally be choosing just from what is available while they may prefer something altogether different, the style-research bureau of a famous watch company (Omega) decided to question potential buyers.

Five thousand women whose husbands earned $10,000 or more a year were questioned concerning the style of wrist watch they liked for various occasions. Answers were analyzed and the results of the survey proved of exceptional benefit in styling the company's new line.

Women wanted a wardrobe of three watches—one for casual, one all-around wear in the home or office, one for daytime dress-up or sportswear and one for evening.

For casual wear the majority preferred a square or rectangular gold watch with a large-size case and a clear, easy-to-read dial with a smooth suede or textured alligator strap. The watch desired most was one "almost" as large as a man's.

For dressy daytime a gold watch with a gold bracelet was preferred to a watch with a cord. A round or oval watch was equally as desirable as a square or rectangle for both daytime and evening.

Many of those questioned wanted a bracelet watch with the face concealed by a lift-up coverlid—a watch that resembled a fine bracelet. But for evening, the coverlid bracelet watch that got the most votes was one with a splash of diamonds on both the lid and the links of the bracelet.

There are still many women who want diamond-cased watches to enhance the wrist. As one woman put it, "The diamonds take on more sparkle when they're shown off with a simple black cord."

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
My family loves chicken and since it is inexpensive to buy now, I have stocked my freezer. We particularly like the white meat so I bought a number of packages of just the breasts when they were on sale.

Can you tell me a NEW way to fry it?

Oldster

Dear Youngster:

For variety, this is the way I cook chicken breast. Try it. Remove the meat from the bone and pull off the skin. Lay the meat flat on your chopping board and pound away with the larger side of your meat pounder as if it were a chicken-fried-steak patty. Dip it in water and shake to remove any excess. Do not wipe dry.

Then dip it in flour and set aside for at least 30 minutes before frying. As soon as the bottom is brown, turn it over. Turn ONLY once. This is the secret to non-greasy chicken.

Salt and pepper it when you remove it from the skillet. NOT before. May be eaten plain or have chicken gravy poured over it.

And, did you know that if your skillet is big enough (or your family small enough, you can fry potatoes in that skillet at the same time the chicken is frying? Saves another pan to wash . . .

Heloise

P.S. This stripped chicken breast can also be cut in strips like French fries, battered and deep fried like potatoes. So different! Both are easy to eat.

Dear Heloise:

I have a large brocaded vel.

Miss Susan Harder At Elmira College

Miss Susan D. Harder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, RD No. 3, Kingston, is among 385 members of the Elmira College freshman class who arrived on campus Monday, Sept 4 for a week of orientation before classes started on Sept. 15.

The freshmen were introduced to the new first-year Liberal Studies Program, which is part of the College's new curriculum being initiated this fall.

Elmira, a liberal arts college founded in 1855, is the oldest women's college in the nation, and was the first women's college to grant degrees equal to those given by men's colleges.

Miss Harder is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Social Workers To Meet Tuesday

The Hudson Valley Chapter of National Association of Social Workers will hold their first dinner meeting for this season Tuesday at Vassar Alumnae House, Poughkeepsie, at 6:45 p. m. At 6 p. m. there will be a social hour to introduce new members.

Guest speaker is David Roth, executive assistant and personnel director of Jewish Children's Association of New York. He will speak on the Techniques of Social Action. Roth is the Chairman of the Social Action Committee of the New York City Chapter, NASW.

Meter Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Some meter men have been added to the city's meter maids to help enforce curbside parking meter regulations, says Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes.

Barnes said 14 men were added to the meter force last Monday "because under the state fair employment practices law, we cannot discriminate between people, whether they're male or female."

He appeared on the CBS radio program, "Let's Find Out." Also, Barnes said Sunday, the meter men can work alone in areas of the city which the city's 200 meter maids consider hazardous.

vet bag, but it had no knobs on the bottom to protect it. So I bought six rather flat small buttons and blued them on the bottom with cement glue. They worked great!

I have carried the bag two years or more and it has not worn from being placed on the floor when shopping, eating out, etc.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I want to thank you for the advice about not spraying indoors with pressurized paint. Unfortunately, your advice came two days after my husband had sprayed our kitchen exhaust hood.

Our surroundings are now slightly green. What color was yours?

P.S. If you can laugh about it, I will too!

I'm laughing! But we'll know better next time, won't we?

Heloise

P.S. Mine was gold.

Dear Heloise:

Here's how I make pancakes so that all of us can sit down at once to eat them.

I put a small amount of water in a skillet and place one of those aluminum foil pie pans on top of it, bring the water to a boil and turn off. Then as each pancake comes off the griddle, I butter it and plop it down in the hot pie tin and cover with a piece of foil.

When breakfast is ready, I take the full pie tin to the table. The pancakes are hot and tender and best of all, we can all enjoy them together.

Gertie Bell

Dear Heloise:

When sewing a dress, try placing the side zipper in up side down. It's easier to zip up in a hurry and that little metal tab doesn't rub on the inside of your arm.

I like mine much better when put in this way.

Alice Davis

Dear Heloise:

When wallpaper becomes loose at the seams, just apply a little glue to a piece of thin cardboard. Then slip it under the unstuck edge and rub it up and down to smear the glue.

After removing the cardboard, press and rub the loose paper with a paper towel. It will smooth out, excess glue will be wiped up and the wallpaper will be stuck again.

Shaping Up for the Short Skirts

The days are getting shorter and so are the skirts. Whoever thought the miniskirt was a one-season fad just didn't know his hemlines — or his fashion-minded women. Unfortunately, there are still some women who persist in wearing miniskirts in spite of their maxilegs. As one TV comedian put it, "For every Twiggy there seems to be 10 Biggys."

Shaping up for the fall and winter fashions is going to be complicated, not only by the high rise hem but by the return of the waistline. The shift that covered up the calories won't be worn as much. Unmistakably it is going to be a diet and exercise season for many of us.

One of the best leg and hip slimming exercises is bicycle riding. If this is impractical, the make-believe bike ride, done while lying on the floor, the legs propelling imaginary pedals, is next best. The "leg over" stretch exercise is also recommended for eliminating flab of the waist, thighs and hips. Lying prone on the floor, swing the legs alternately one over the other. Try to touch the floor with the toes. Stretch as far as possible while keeping the hips on the floor.

Ankles and calves respond to the "toe dance" exercise. Stand erect and raise the body on the balls of both feet. Shift the weight quickly from one foot to the other. Repeat.

After exercise soothe the tired muscles by kneading them lengthwise. This is a technique used by professional masseurs and team trainers. For the massage use good quality witch hazel. Rubbing and spanking the muscles helps prevent painful kinking; restores tone to the muscles.

Annual Republican Women's Conference

Launching a national effort to encourage more Republican women to run for public office, the 15th annual Republican Women's Conference will focus attention on women in state offices as it spotlights the Party's VIP women in the opening session in Chicago.

The steering committee for the conference is made up of the Republican National Committee women from each state involved and the state vice-chairman, president of the State Women's Republican Clubs, who are, respectively, from New York State: Mrs. Keith McHugh, Mrs. John A. Rogalin.

Northeastern Regional Conference Chairman for New York State is Mrs. Irving M. Granowitz of Port Chester.

The conference, as it moves from Chicago to Little Rock, to Boston, October 15-17 and to Denver, will also place increased emphasis on a program of precinct and community "involvement" for Republican women.

Republican women, state legislators and key elected women officials will conduct conference seminars on "How to Become a Winning Candidate" at the first such program ever conducted by key women state officials on a partisan level.

The responsibilities and effectiveness of women in state legislatures in the areas of legislation affecting home, family and community will be discussed by the women panelists who share a special interest in health, education and tax problems in their states.

Four State Senators and two Representatives will take part in the Northeast Regional Conference session in Boston. Comparing notes on the vast problems affecting their states will be Senators Margaret Manning, Delaware; Louise Gore, Maryland; Edith Gardner, New Hampshire; and Dorothy Shea, Vermont. Representatives Marion Fuller Brown, Maine and Marian Markey, Pennsylvania, complete the Boston panel to be chaired by Mrs. Brown of Maine.

Assistant Republican National Chairman Mary Brooks, who is an Idaho State Senator, will preside at the Fifteenth Annual Republican Women's Conference.

Gefullte Fish Souffle for Holy Days

GEFULLTE FISH in tasty souffle.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

The High Holy Days, the 10 most solemn days of the Jewish Year, begins Oct. 5th. Rosh Hashanah, also known as the Day of Judgment, is celebrated for the first two days. The shofar, made from a ram's horn, plays such an important part on Rosh Hashanah that the day is known as the Day of Blowing. It is heard during the morning and afternoon services of the Holy Days.

Rosh Hashanah at home starts just before sundown when the mother lights the candles. The dinner table is set with a cup and wine decanter and two loaves of Challah, with ladders or birds on top, symbolizing the hope that prayers may ascend on high. There are also a bowl of honey and a dish of nuts on the table.

The following recipe is made with a new unsalted gefullte fish packed in 15 1/2-ounce glass jars and endorsed by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America and certified kosher for Passover.

GEFULLTE FISH SOUFFLE
1 tablespoon unsalted soft kosher-pareve margarine
1/2 cup finely chopped fresh mushrooms
1/4 cup flour
1 cup fish broth
1/2 cup skimmed milk or vegetable broth
4 egg yolks
1 jar (15 1/2 ounces) unsalted gefullte fish
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
1/4 teaspoon pepper (optional)

Melt margarine and saute mushrooms until wilted. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in broth drained from fish and skimmed milk. Cook over low heat, while stirring until sauce bubbles and thickens. Cool slightly. Beat in egg yolks. Mash drained fish until very smooth and fold into sauce. Fold in egg whites and salt and pepper. Pour mixture into a heavily greased 5-cup souffle dish. Set dish into a pan holding 1 inch of water. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 50 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once with a crisp salad. Four to six servings.

Add milk to recipe if a dairy dish can be served. Use vegetable broth for a pareve dish.

This souffle is good also served cold with horseradish. It has a pate consistency and could also be served as a spread on low-calorie crackers or bread.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute
ON THE USE OF THE
TITLE "DOCTOR"

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Dr. Walter T. Schoen, Dean of Rockland Community College, Suffern, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Post: I was interested to read your recent column concerning the use of the title "Doctor." I can speak only for myself, but I believe that my thinking represents the thinking of many persons who also possess an earned doctorate.

May I first suggest that the distinction between an earned doctorate and an honorary doctorate is much more important than your column suggested. I do not believe your response clearly indicated that this important distinction does exist. Certainly no logical person who possesses an honorary degree would wish to be addressed either in a social or a professional situation as "Doctor."

I would suggest, however, that an earned doctorate does present a different set of circumstances. Most of us who possess it have worked long and hard, and it is traditional at most colleges and universities to respect the holder of the doctorate by using the formal term in address. This practice is followed not only in the formal professional setting, but in a social setting as well.

Rather than the distinction you suggested between the medical degree and the philosophy degree, perhaps you might consider a different type of distinction. Most of us make a distinction based upon the social setting rather than the type of degree. For example, in a social setting where first names are appropriate, "Jim" is not only appropriate but is expected. In a social setting where any title is used, however, including the familiar "Mr." or "Miss," most of us agree that the appropriate form of address is "Doctor."

I hope that you would be willing to at least consider the belief that most of us have, that the formal title is the courteous one.

WALTER T. SCHOEN Jr.
Ph.D.
Dean

Dear Dr. Schoen: Thank you for your excellent letter. It will clarify for my readers the distinction in addressing holders of earned, as opposed to, honorary degrees. I happily accept your suggestions concerning use of the title in various settings.

Bedlam Breaks Loose After Win Over Twins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg went to a lot of trouble trying to shake his Fenway Park jinx . . . and wound up losing his shirt.

It was the best thing that's ever happened to Gentleman Jim in Boston . . . and the finest moment for the Red Sox in 21 years.

Frenzied fans ripped the shirt off Lonborg's back in a wild demonstration of affection Sunday after the big right-hander teamed with sensational Carl Yastrzemeski to lead the Red Sox past Minnesota 5-3 and bring Boston its first American League pennant since 1918.

"It was sheer mania," said Lonborg, whose seven-hit victory over the slugging Twins — coupled with an 8-5 Detroit loss to California — put the Red Sox over the top on the frantic final day of the zaniest pennant race in history.

"Fantastic! Fantastic!" shouted Yastrzemeski, the Triple Crown strongboy whose third of four straight hits helped Boston overtake the Twins with a five-run sixth inning burst and complete one of baseball's most dramatic comeback sagas . . . a drive from ninth place in 1966 to a World Series berth opposite St. Louis' National League champs.

The Red Sox went into the climactic weekend set with Minnesota needing a two-game sweep to avert elimination.

They won 6-4 on Saturday as Yastrzemeski poled his 44th homer and knocked in four runs. And they won Sunday behind Lonborg, who had won 21 games but was only 7-5 in his home park . . . and who failed to beat the Twins in six career decisions including three this year.

Lonborg was taking no chances in his effort to end the Fenway hex. He spent Saturday night at a hotel, using teammate Ken Harrelson's room, instead of staying at his own apartment in Boston.

"Maybe I was being superstitious, thinking about any hex at Fenway," he said. "I figured I'd stay in a hotel and pretend I was on the road."

"When I woke up this morning I felt great. I felt I was going to win."

Lonborg's "great" feeling disappeared early in the finale as the Twins pushed over a pair of unearned runs and led 2-0 going into the sixth.

"Then all hell broke loose," Dick Williams, the Sox' first-year manager, recalled happily.

The loss dropped the Twins onto a second-place deadlock with the Tigers, who won their doubleheader opener 6-4 before being ousted by the giant-killing Angels. Minnesota and Detroit finished one game . . . and just six percentage points . . . behind the Red Sox whose winning .568 mark was the lowest in AL history.

Washington knocked off the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Baltimore blanked Cleveland 4-0 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 4-3 in other AL finales.

In National League play, St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 5-2 in its final Series tune-up while second place San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 2-1. Pittsburgh thumped Houston 10-3. Cincinnati buried the Chicago Cubs 10-3 and Los Angeles shaded the New York Mets 2-1.

Lonborg, who completed his third major league campaign with a 22-9 mark and a good shot at the Cy Young Award as the AL's outstanding pitcher, ignited Boston's sixth inning explosion with a bunt single off Minnesota ace Dean Chance.

"The bunt was my own idea," he said. "It was the first thing I thought about when I went to the plate."

Singles by Jerry Adair and Dalton Jones then filled the bases before Yastrzemeski drilled a two-run single to center, tying the score. "I kept telling myself 'Don't go for the home run, go for the base hit,'" said the Boston slugger, who topped the league with a .326 average and 121 runs batted in and tied Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for the home run crown with 44.

Yastrzemeski hit chased Chance and Harrelson greeted reliever Al Worthington with a high hopper to shortstop Zoilo Versalles, whose throw to the plate was late as Jones scored the go-ahead run. Two wild pitches sent Yastrzemeski home and Jose Tartabull scored the final run in the inning when first baseman Killebrew booted Reggie Smith's grounder.

Yaz Clinches Triple Crown On Final Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Carl Yastrzemeski, key figure in Boston's drive to the American League pennant, captured the Triple Crown of batting—leading the league in home runs, runs batted in and average—final, unofficial averages showed today.

Yastrzemeski, 28, lashed four straight hits in Boston's final, 5-3 victory over Minnesota Sunday and became only the 11th man in baseball history to take the coveted title.

He led in batting with a .326 average, runs batted in with 121 and tied with Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew in home runs with 44, all career highs for the left-handed hitting Boston outfielder.

Yastrzemeski is recognized as a Triple Crown winner even though he tied in one category. There's a precedence for it: One For The Book, an official list of baseball records, recognized Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals as the Triple Crown winner in 1937, when he led in batting and runs batted in, but tied with Mel Ott for the home run title.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore, who took the Triple Crown last year, was second in batting at .311, with Killebrew second in runs batted in at 113.

In the National League, Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente nailed down his fourth league batting title with a .357 average.

He also won in 1961, 1964 and 1965. Only Stan Musial, Rogers Hornsby and Honus Wagner have won more NL titles.

Clemente, who closed with a triple and a home run, also led the league in hits, 209, and just missed a share of the runs batted in title. He had 110, with Orlando Cepeda of the NL champion Cardinals leading at 111.

Hank Aaron of Atlanta topped the National League in home runs with 39.

Jose Santiago of Boston, who won a crucial game Saturday, led the American League in pitching percentage, posting a 12-4 record for .750. Nelson Briles of St. Louis, a relief man turned starter, topped his league at 14-5, .733.

While Lonborg was spinning his seven-hitter (two hits through seven innings), Yastrzemeski was coming through at a cool Sunday evening before bat and in the field.

Unitas Leads Colts Over 'Frisco, 41-7

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The blonde flanker back in the blue and white miniskirt feints a corner back out of position and daintily gathers in a perfect pass from Johnny Unitas.

What, Johnny Unitas—The Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts—playing football with the girls?

Of course not. It's just a vision—the kind San Francisco coach Jack Christiansen had after the great quarterback dazzled the 49ers and led the Colts to a 41-7 victory in a National Football League game Sunday.

"As long as the Colts have Unitas, they could play nine or 10 girls and still beat other teams," Christiansen said.

Bratkowski Reliever

Starr, who had nine passes intercepted, compared to three all last season, as the Packers tied and won in their first two games, was forced out of action in the first period of Sunday's game with Atlanta by a strained muscle in his throwing arm. Zeke Bratkowski came in to lead the Packers to a 23-0 victory.

In other NFL games, Los Angeles smashed Dallas 35-13. St. Louis upset Detroit 38-28. Washington outlasted New York 38-34. Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 34-24. Cleveland trounced New Orleans 42-7 and Chicago got past Minnesota 17-7.

"He gets better all the time. He's the greatest quarterback I've ever seen," Christiansen said after watching Unitas complete 22 of 37 passes for 353 yards and two touchdowns as the Colts built their record to 3-0. Unitas left the game with nearly eight minutes left.

San Francisco, now 2-1, didn't score until late in the third quarter when John Brodie hit Dave Parks with a 10-yard pass.

When asked how serious the injury to Starr was, Packers Coach Vince Lombardi snapped: "How should I know?"

Blanda's Three FGs Aid Oakland, 23-21

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Blanda isn't ready for that rocking chair quite yet, thank you.

Football's grand old gray-beard proved that Sunday when he booted three long field goals that helped Oakland's ambitious Raiders upset Kansas City, the American Football League's defending champions, 23-21.

It was an oldtime performance for the 39-year-old Blanda, who played his first professional football game when Harry Truman was president and Joe Namath had just started grade school.

Blanda, crowded out by younger men at Houston, is a bit elderly to be dodging blitzing linebackers at his old quarterback slot. But he can still kick a football, and after all, that's what the game is all about.

So Blanda hooked on with the Raiders and came in handy Sunday with field goals of 31, 33 and 42 yards as Oakland stunned the Chiefs. It was Kansas City's first loss to an AFL opponent in almost one year and the last time the Chiefs were beaten in their own league, Oakland also did the job.

Namath Is Hot

In other AFL games Sunday, Namath, who is no longer in grade school, passed for 415 yards and broke a league record as New York dropped Miami 29-7. San Diego, led by rookie running back Dick Post, ripped Buffalo 31-17, and Houston won

He could be ready now. He could be ready next week.

"I'm sorry," Starr commented. "I don't have anything to say. I'm not trying to be rude. I don't have anything to say."

In his absence, Bratkowski hit Carroll Dale with a pair of TD passes. Ben Wilson scored on an 11-yard run, and the defense did the rest, racking up a safety and stifling the Atlanta attack.

Los Angeles also boosted its record to 2-0 in handing the Cowboys their first setback. Roman Gabriel ran for two Los Angeles touchdowns and Dick Bass ran for one. The Rams defense allowed only one sustained Dallas drive.

Hart Paces Cards

Jim Hart, pressed into action after quarterback Charley Johnson went into the Army, passed for 313 yards and two touchdowns on 19 of 27 completions and John Roland scored twice on one-yard runs and again on a six-yard jaunt in St. Louis' upset of the Lions. Milt Plum passed for two Detroit scores.

Jim Bakken of St. Louis tied an NFL record held by Cleveland's Lou Groza by kicking a field goal for the 14th straight game.

Bobby Mitchell ran for 110 yards and a touchdown in 21 carries and Sonny Jurgensen threw for two TDs in Washington's victory. Fran Tarkenton also passed for two scores and Ernie Koy rushed 14 times for 160 yards and a TD for New York.

Norm Sneed passed for four touchdowns while completing 15 of 24 for 262 yards. Ben Hawkins caught eight of them for 187 yards and two TDs. Pittsburgh rookie Kent Nix, playing for injured Bill Nelsen, passed for one TD.

Two sprained ankles didn't keep Frank Ryan from throwing three scoring strikes in Cleveland's rout. Jim Taylor scored from the two for New Orleans. Chicago gained its first victory, while Minnesota remained winless, as Gale Sayer ran 10 yards for one TD and Bennie McRae raced 34 yards with an interception for another.

New Rochelle Gains 24-7 Triumph Over KHS

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

The program lists him as 150 pounds but halfback Art Lloyd of New Rochelle must have seemed like a runaway freight train Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Lloyd broke the heart of the KHS team with a 72-yard touchdown gallop in the third period. He added another score early in the fourth session as the Huguenots stopped the home gridders, 24-7, before a sun drenched crowd of 1,500.

The second half comeback by the Westchesterites spoiled what would have been a good homecoming appearance by coach Bill Hurley's young eleven.

A second quarter touchdown by quarterback Mike Hoffman plus Tim Bowens' extra point had more than offset quarterback Steve Marchese's short plunge in the opening session.

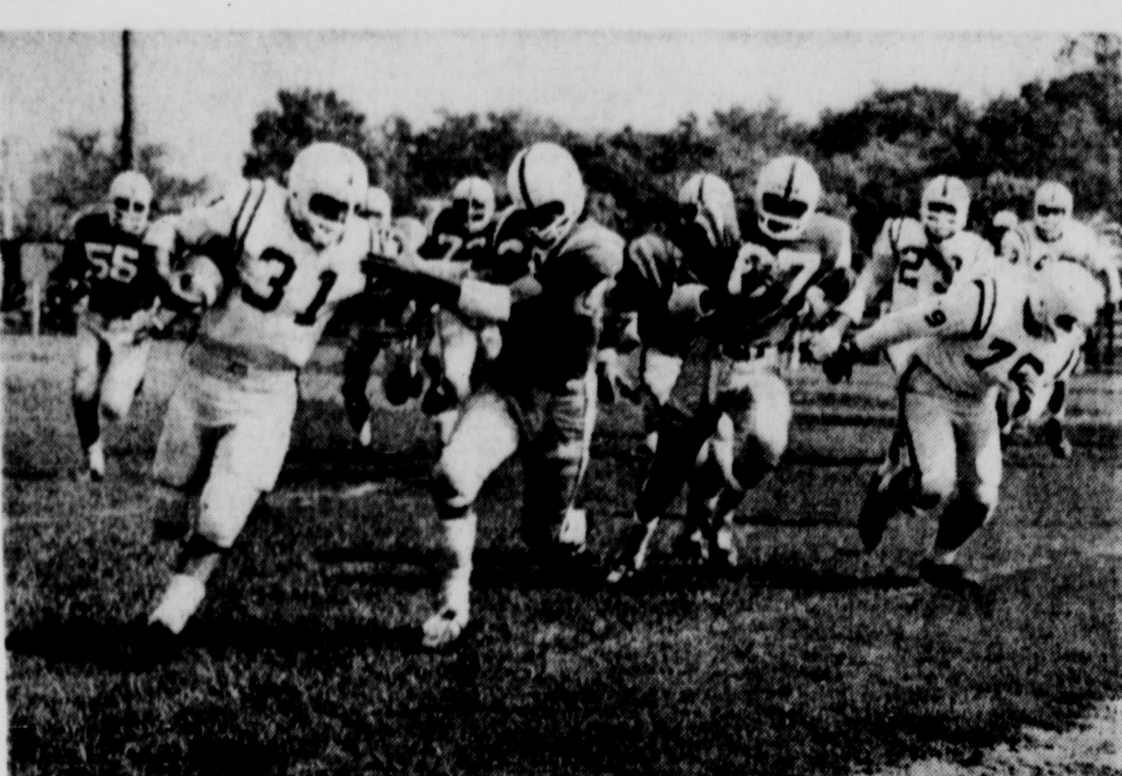

But, Lloyd ignited the fuse in the third quarter and the visitors dominated most of the half.

Quick Touchdown

It took coach Lou Amoson's club only 2:30 of the opening period to hit paydirt. As was the case last week against Vincentian, it was a KHS mistake which led to the score.

After picking up a pair of first downs, the home club lost the pigskin as halfback Marshall Byrd fumbled. It was recovered by Sticky Stewart on the K 58.

Runs by Lloyd and Marchese picked up 13 yards and then Lloyd bulled his way for 18 yards to the seven. Two plays later Marchese followed his blockers over from the one. Lloyd was stopped on his attempt for the extra point.

Late in the opening period, King up to the occasion, hoping for a TD. However, two running plays by Greg Rios, Pete lost 11 yards and Hoffman's pass was knocked down, forcing the ball into Huguenot territory, on a kicking situation. The crowd was warm. The winners stormed back after putting the ball in play on the 26. Two passes by Marchese—one to halfback Steve Middletown and the other to Greg Gary—netted two first downs. Lloyd cracked for another.

But, with the ball within striking distance of the KHS goal, on the 23, the Huguenots were assessed with a trio of 15 yard penalties.

Holland Recovery

Finally, with less than four minutes of the half remaining, defensive ace Joe Holland pounced on a fumble on the NR 14, giving the locals a solid chance. They didn't fail to capitalize on it.

After Bowens cracked to the 10, a pass interference moved the ball to the five. From there, Hoffman moved it over. Bowens then booted the PAT and the locals went into the dressing room in front, 7-6.

Hopes for that initial win were dashed early in the third quarter. After Rios had gotten away a nifty 43 yard punt to the NR 28, Lloyd took a pitchout from Marchese, headed for the right sidelines and raced 72 yards to paydirt. He didn't even get his uniform messed. A pass for the extra point was picked off by Byrd.

Still very much in contention, the KHS squad moved for a pair of first downs with Hoffman passing for 18 yards to Russ Wilber and Bowens hitting for 10 on a drive up the middle.

SURE TACKLE — Fullback Lou Chambers of New Rochelle is dropped by defensive end Jon Meiers of Kingston High Saturday in the annual battle between the schools at Dietz Stadium. Chambers was one of the leading ground gainers for the Huguenots in their 24-7 decision. (Freeman photo by Kruhl).

But, another fumble thwarted this bid. Clearwater lost the ball after hitting the line and the Huguenots recovered on their 16.

A third period drive was climaxed by Lloyd's 13-yard scamper early in the fourth stanza.

A blocked punt led to the fourth TD. The pigskin was blocked on the 31 and New Rochelle recovered on the KHS 28.

Bob Howard was the boy who carried it over. He took a pitchout on the 15 and received a big block from Russ Inserra to score standing up.

The game ended moments later with the ball at midfield in possession of the winning side.

Much Improvement

Despite the loss, the KHS eleven showed vast improvement over their first game performance. In fact, if it were not for the early bobbles, the story could have been much different.

Kingston is idle this week but will play at Port Jervis on Saturday night, Oct. 14 in a DUSO encounter.

Onteora Nips Highland, 14-7; Rondout Triumphs

Pass Plays Key Factors In Decision

Onteora Central's undefeated Indians dominated the early action then held on to defeat an inspired Highland High eleven, 14-7, in perfect autumn weather Saturday at Boiceville.

Two 18-yard pass plays from quarterback Mickey Bush to halfback George Colon were key factors in the Onteora win, as Coach Paul Jordan's squad won its second straight UCAL victory and set the stage for next Saturday's climactic clash at Rondout Valley.

The first Bush-Colon 18-yarder climaxed a 35-yard touchdown march by the Indians after a Highland punt traveled only 13 yards to the visitors' 13. John Stoothoff kicked the first of two extra points to put Onteora ahead 7-0.

Adsit Scores

The Indians capitalized on another poor Highland punt to set up a 40-yard TD drive. Bush hit Colon for 18 from the Highland 31 to the 13. Paul Morey raced 10 to the 3 and fullback John Adsit slammed off the left side for the second. Stoothoff's second placement put Onteora ahead, 14-0, at the half.

A questionable call on a fumble and crucial offside penalty against Onteora helped Highland march 62 yards in 11 plays for its only touchdown in the third period.

A fumble by fullback Charlie Hicks of the Highlanders appeared to have been recovered by Mike Patrick but the officials ruled the play dead on the OCS 11. The Indians drove an offside penalty to the 7 two plays later, then Hicks went in on a cutback for the touchdown. Cos Trapani kicked the extra point to make it 14-7 and that's where it ended.

Interception Halts Bid

A fluke pass interception in the end zone by Highland's Pat Gaffney snuffed out an OCS touchdown threat in the 4th quarter that started on the Highland 47 when an onside kick attempt fizzled.

After recovering his own fumble on the 14, Bush tried to hit George Colon in the end zone but the ball was deflected by halfback Lee Barrington into the arms of Patrick Gaffney, a guard, in the end zone.

The Indians marched 64 yards in the last 4 minutes and were pounding on the 2 when time ran out.

Bush had a good day, completing 9 of 13 pass attempts for 100 yards and the Indians gained 177 on the ground for a total offense of 277 yards. Highland picked up 109 rushing but only completed one pass for 11 yards.

Arlington Crushes SHS

Arlington cashed in on six Saugerties fumbles, four of them inside the 20-yard line, to hand the Sawyers a crushing, 26-0 defeat Saturday at Cantine Field.

Dave Ferre, Arlington's fullback scored three touchdowns for the Admirals, two from four yards out, one from the five. The defending DCSL champions' quarterback Steve Pagenetti, who seldom had to go to the air, hit Richie Miller with an 11-yarder for the other Arlington score.

The Admirals took an early lead after an exchange of fumbles which gave them the ball on the Saugerties 18 yard line. With only four minutes gone in the game Ferre crashed across from the four. He also scored the extra point.

The first half went quickly as there were no penalties and only two pass attempts. Saugerties trailed by only seven points at halftime.

Line Is Difference

The big quick Arlington line told the tale in the second half, opening up gaping holes for the Admiral backs who grabbed yardage at nine and ten yard clips. The Saugerties secondary, mainly Rodger Praetorius, Carl Nickerson, and Tony Konopka managed to keep Arlington from any long gainers.

Touchdowns by Ferre and Miller in the third quarter iced the game for the visitors.

Konopka was one of the few things the Saugerties fans had to cheer about. He ran well out of his fullback position, picking up 17 yards on two separate runs. On defense he was often the only man between an Arlington runner and a sure touchdown.

Saugerties coach Fred Seither, in a prediction Wednesday on the game, probably summed up Saturday's one-sided contest when he said, "Arlington has always had big boys in the line but they had a tendency toward slowness. In recent years they've come up with some big, fast lines. I expect a real tough game." It was.

At Lourdes Next

Saugerties travels to Our Lady of Lourdes in Poughkeepsie next Saturday in another DCSL game. Lourdes is 2-0 in league play, having beaten Beacon and Roosevelt.

Arlington takes on Beacon in a league game Saturday at the Admiral park in Freedom Plains.

Saugerties is now 0-2 for the season, having dropped their opener to Christian Brothers in an Albany game, 14-12. Arlington is now 1-1, having also lost its opener, 20-7 to Newburgh.

Liberty Stops Wallkill, 12-7

Winless Wallkill gave Liberty a rugged tussle before losing a 12-7 UCAL decision Saturday at the Ulster County gridiron.

The visitors did all their scoring in the opening session. Steve Fleckenstein galloped 65 yards for the initial TD and Bruce Roberts took it in from the four.

A fumble recovery gave the Panthers possession on the Indian 26 in the third session. Halfback Andy Balaz circled end for 23 yards for the touchdown. He ran over for the PAT.

Both teams used mostly ground plays with Liberty throwing only one pass and the losers trying only eight.

The Indians are now 1-1 in league play while Wallkill has an 0-2 circuit mark.

Good Defense Leads Ganders To 39-0 Win

Rondout's high flying Ganders used their defensive skills Saturday and walloped Pine Bush, 39-0, in a UCAL grid tilt at the losers' field.

The unbeaten Ganders scored three of their touchdowns as the result of defensive plays. Quarterback John Meehan, who passed for two scores, recovered a blocked punt in the end zone; Tom Frazier went 30 yards with a recovered fumble and cornerback Bob Harrison intercepted a pass and moved it 18 yards to pay dirt.

Gordie Taylor, who has scored at least three touchdowns in each start, maintained his pace.

The swift halfback took passes of 58 and 35 yards from Meehan for two of his TDs. His other came on a 26 yard run. Meehan completed six of 11 passes for 167 yards. Taylor carried only 10 times but he gained 68 yards.

Rondout was also credited with a safety when a snap from center sailed over the PB punter's head and out of the end zone.

With three straight victories, including two in the UCAL under their belts, the Ganders entertained Onteora in a league headliner this Saturday.

Pick Alvin Dark To Manage Tribe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Alvin Dark was named manager of the Cleveland Indians today, replacing Joe Adcock.

General Manager Gabe Paul announced the appointment at a news conference.

When the 45-year-old Dark became available after being released in Kansas City a few weeks ago, Paul said it offered an opportunity he "couldn't afford to overlook."

Marlboro Gridders Top New Paltz, 26-6

Marlboro, scoring single touchdowns in the second and fourth and a pair in the third quarter, Saturday crushed New Paltz 26-6.

New Paltz's lone tally came early in the second quarter on a 26 yard TD pass from quarterback Bill Bond to end Dana Otis.

After a scoreless first quarter, Marlboro's Dukes evened the score at 6 to 6 on a six yard run by fullback Billy Giametta. In the third quarter Chuck Peterson slashed four yards for a tally and later reserve Bill Partington broke loose for 35 yards, marking the score 19 to 6.

Despite the lopsided score, the Dukes only managed a total offense of 55 yards, compared to New Paltz's 79. But the home team could never get going.

The game was the second Ulster County Athletic League clash for both teams. Marlboro now stands 2-0. New Paltz has yet to win.

Bill Clemmer, the hard driving senior, scored both TDs for the Middies. He bulled his way to paydirt from the two in the third quarter and ran around end from three yards out in the fourth stanza. Dick Field made both extra points.

Mt. Vernon scored in the second quarter but was then stifled by the front line of the visitors.

Crusader Gridders Overpower Cohoes Olympiads, 33-7

Slim Crowd Turns Out At Stadium

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Encouraged by an upswing in public recognition during the week, the Hudson Valley Crusaders returned to Dietz Stadium Sunday night determined to put on their best show of the season.

They did. They clobbered the previously undefeated Cohoes Olympiads (3-0), 33 to 7 in an awesome display of running power.

And where were the new fans? They just didn't show despite all the ballyhoo during the week. If there was any lingering doubt as to the futile fight the Crusaders are waging every Sunday night at Dietz, it removed last night.

Less than 400 of the buffs showed in perfect football weather. But those who did show were rewarded with the Crusaders' finest hour.

Explosive Sequence

In one explosive 5-minute sequence in the third period they scored three touchdowns, after riding to a 13-7 lead in tough first half.

A brilliantly executed 49-yard pass play from Gar Withers to Murray Mulligan set up the first touchdown in the opening quarter. It carried to the Cohoes 10 and on 4th down full-back Clarence Wright bolted over from the 5 for the score.

Bob Stevenson blocked a Cohoes punt on the upstater's 15 in the second. Dave Mallory darted right end to the 2 and Wright crashed over for his second TD. Bob Tracey's placement was good for a 13-0 lead.

Cohoes' only score followed on the next kickoff. Halfback Al Mango gathered Tracey's kick on the 15 and galloped 85 yards up the right sideline for the touchdown. Jerry Sickness placed kicked the extra point. That was the only offensive gesture by the Olympiads who wound up with minus yardage. That third period onslaught by the Crusaders was a sight to behold.

Mulligan Starts It

It started with Murray Mulligan skirting left end for 35 yards and a TD on perfectly executed double reverse. Tracey kicked the extra point to make it 20-7.

Crusaders kicked to Cohoes and on second down on the 15, Rocky LaFale intercepted a pass and zoomed into the end zone. Tracey missed the kick.

Another kickoff and on first down, defensive tackle John Harris recovered a Cohoes fumble on the 26. Sullivan passed to Lou Johnson on the 10. Mallory crashed over from the 5. Tracey's kick was good for a 33-7 lead, giving the Crusaders three touchdowns within 5 minutes.

There was no scoring in a bitterly contested fourth period but there was a bit of fisticuffs with both benches rushing into the fray. One over-zealous youngster hurled a beer can into the milling mob and was hauled off by the localgendarmes.

Bob Tracey, the kicking expert who missed last week's game, returned with a boom. He averaged 46 yards on three kicks.

The Crusaders go at it again next Sunday at 6:30 p. m. with or without spectators, it seems.

Purdue Gains Attention After Upset of Notre Dame

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California, UCLA and surprising Houston have emerged as the dominant factors in an upset-filled college football season, replacing Notre Dame, Michigan State and Alabama as the Big Three.

And Purdue, sparked by sophomore quarterback Mike Phipps, is making a major bid for attention, offering a 28-21 upset of mighty Notre Dame as its chief claim to fame.

"He's going to be a great one," Purdue Coach Jack Molenkopf said of his quarterback after Phipps had passed for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion Saturday as the Boilermakers handed the top-ranked Irish their first defeat since Nov. 20, 1965 and jumped the national ratings.

The Boilermakers were ranked No. 10 going in, but are almost certain to advance, along with the two Los Angeles powers and Houston, No. 3, which scored a 50-6 rout of Wake Forest Friday.

Trojans Nip MSU

Southern California, No. 2, got another stellar performance from O. J. Simpson and scored its second straight impressive decision, handing Michigan State its second loss, 21-17. Simpson ran for 190 yards and two touchdowns and passed for another score.

Sport Club Scores, 4-0

Walt Grasmeier scored three goals and assisted in the other as the Kingston Sport Club blanked West New York, 4-0, in a German-American League soccer game Sunday at the losers' field.

Gene Ventriglia, the former All-American ace from New Paltz, got the locals off and winging with a goal at the five minute mark. Grasmeier gave him the pass and Gene did the rest.

The rest was all Grasmeier. He tallied at the 17:00 mark, followed with another at 25 minutes, with an assist from Ventriglia and finished with his third tally at 30 minutes.

West New York had permitted only three goals in its previous games, but the home side couldn't cope with the speed and finesse of the winners.

The Sport Club will return home for three straight contests beginning with a meeting with the Lithuniana this Sunday at Oehler's Mt. Lodge.

Highland Tops OCS Harriers

Despite a record by Craig Hubbell, the green Ontario cross country team lost a 20-36 UCAL decision Saturday to visiting Highland.

Hubbell, the ace of the OCS squad, was timed in 10 minutes, 6 seconds for the two miles. He had the previous mark of 10:22.

Buffalo Scores, 3-2, Over State U. Booters

Buffalo State, the pre-season choice to win honors in the State University of New York (SUNYAC) Athletic Conference, scored the tie breaking goal with 4:06 remaining to nip the Hawks of New Paltz State, 3-2, in the soccer opener for both clubs Saturday at the upstate school.

Coach Bob Durkin's debut as New Paltz head coach wasn't successful from the won-lost standpoint but his team gave the home side a good scrap.

Buffalo scored in the opening session when Andre Gorzynski beat goalie Tony DeLuca.

After Roman Kucil had put the winners in front, 2-0, with a second period goal, Pete Kane of the Hawks tallied, with an assist from Dan Greaves.

In the third period, Angelo Targia of the visitors scored, with a direct shot just outside the penalty area to make it 2-2 game.

With time running out, Guy Bonfiglio crossed over from the right and booted the ball into the left corner of the net to score the clincher.

Port Triumphs Over Pius X

Garrett Hill tallied a pair of touchdowns and Port Jervis defeated Pius X, 20-7, in non-league football tussle Saturday at Glennette Field in the Orange County Village.

Hill, one of the most explosive runners in the star-studded PJ backfield, put his team on the scoreboard in the first quarter. His three yard slant climaxed a 50-yard drive.

Mike Gould added another score in that session. He carried the pigskin in from three yards out and Carl DeGroat booted the extra point.

The visitors struck back in the third quarter with quarterback John Diorio going 15 yards and then adding the point.

Port responded with a drive, climaxed by Hill's 24-yard scamper. DeGroat's placement boot put the finishing touch on the triumph.

The Raiders are now 2-0 to date. They entertain Kingston High in a DUSO game Saturday, Oct. 14, 8 p. m.

DCSL Roundup

Poughkeepsie Scores, 35-0

Scoring in every period, the powerful Pioneers of Poughkeepsie overwhelmed winless Roosevelt, 35-0, in a DCSL mismatch Saturday at the Hyde Park field.

Coach Don Smith's eleven, frustrated after its scoreless deadlock the week before with Wappingers, had single touchdowns in the first and fourth periods, scored three times in the second quarter and picked up a safety in the third stanza.

Nigel Davis had two of the PHS scores. He ran 16 yards in the second period and cut in from a yard away in the fourth quarter.

A 48 yard effort by Bill Green, a 23 yard run by half-back Charlie Ellis, quarterback Bob Schiller's one yard drive and a poor FDR snap, which sailed out of the end zone, completed the scoring.

So dominant was the Poughkeepsie defense, that the losers finished with -32 yards in the 53-yard play. Mike Ertz booted the extra point.

The Warriors had a pair of touchdowns called back before striking again late in the game. Ertz reached paydirt from the three to insure the triumph.

Lourdes is now 2-0 in circuit play while Beacon, which beat Cardinal Farley in its opener, has a 1-1 record.

Lourdes Rips Beacon, 19-6

After losing eight straight games a year ago, the Warriors of Our Lady of Lourdes have started this season with a pair of upset victories.

Coach Dick Beams' eleven made it two straight with a 19-6 DCSL verdict Saturday at Beacon.

The winners spotted the Bulldogs a first period score, knotted the count before halftime and then scored 13 points in the final half to win going away.

A blocked punt led to a Lourdes score in the second quarter. Quarterback Tim Gartland collaborated with end Billy O'Neill with an 11-yard strike. This tied the game at 6-6.

In the third session, Gartland hit O'Neill with a short flare pass. The big end later-ally to Bobby Mills, who scampered all the way to complete a 53-yard play. Mike Ertz booted the extra point.

The Warriors had a pair of touchdowns called back before striking again late in the game. Ertz reached paydirt from the three to insure the triumph.

Remodeled Library to Open In December; List 34 New Editions

"I am more than pleased with the way things are progressing," reported Frances Rogers, building committee chairman, to the Woodstock Library's Board of Trustees at a recent meeting.

She noted that the building contractor has stated that "We are on schedule." Problems such as a live spring in the basement and the removal of a large wall, which was not included in the contract price, have been solved.

The remodeled library is scheduled to re-open in December. A sketch of the "new" library, as well as the architect's renderings and drawings, are on display in the window of the Woodstock branch of the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties.

Results of this past summer's Library Fair were compared with those of other years. The book table continues to be the biggest attraction at the Fair. This year, books netted the fair about $2,000 of its $7,100 profit.

Carolyn Wilson reported that the Woodstock Historical Society is now in possession of the posts and fireplace front from the old reading room of the library. Edgar Leacycraft, Historical Society president, stated that the posts and front may be used when the society renovates its new location on Rock City Road.

The book selection committee continues to function, despite the fact that their selections cannot be available to the public until the library re-opens. Mari Bollman, book committee chairman, listed the following selections as having been purchased via a $260 grant from the Mid-Hudson Library Association:

An Encyclopedia of Religion, edited by Vergilius Fermi; Field Guide to the Stars and Planets, by D. H. Menzel; The American Book of Days, George W. Douglas; Cyclopaedia of Literary Characters, Frank N. Magill; The Oxford Companion to the Theatre, Phyllis Hartnoll; Granger's Index to Poetry, 5th Ed., Wm. F. Bernhardt; An Encyclopedia of World History, revised, W. L. Langer; The Encyclopedia of Sports, 3rd revised Edition, Frank G. Menke; Who's Who in American Art, 9th edition, Dorothy B. Gilbert; The College Handbook; The Foundation Directory, Edition 2, Walton and Lewis; Complete Guide to Everyday Law, Samuel Kling; Famous First Facts, Joseph N. Kane; The Guinness Book of World Records; Twentieth Century Authors, Kunita & Haycraft, 1st supplementary edition; Granger's Supplement to 5th Edition of Granger's Index to Poetry; National Geographic Maps; Biograf Travelogue Scrapbook Album, Europe and Israel, by Klein and Reader.

The following books have been purchased with regular library funds:

A New Lease of Death, by Rencell; A Most Private Intrigue, Leo Rosten; All Men Are Lonely Now, F. H. Clifford; Brothers in Arms, H. H. Kirt; Children of Crisis, R. Coles; An American Omnibus, G. Simenon; Curahet, D. R. Burgett; Flying Finish, Francis Dick; Nabokov: His Life in Art, Andrew Field; Our Crowd: Great Jewish Families, S. Birmingham; The Devil Drives (Life of Burton), Fawn Brodie; The Difficulty of Being, Jean Cocteau; The Life that Late He Led, George Eels; The King of the Castle, Victoria Holt; The New Industrial State, K. Galbraith; The War Years, 1939-1945, H. Nicholson.

New Cinema Pioneer Finds Going Tough

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The acting career of John Cassavetes has surfaced once more, permitting him another trip to the underground.

This needs explaining. As any knows, Cassavetes was a pioneer in the underground movie. Between acting jobs in films and television, he directed an improvised film in New York, using pick-up crews and unknown actors. It was released in 1961 as "Shadows" and critics hailed it as a fresh breath of air in what was then a stale movie atmosphere.

Bad Picture, Fight
"I was brought to Hollywood as a director, and I didn't know what the hell I was doing," he recalls. "I made one bad picture, then I had a terrific fight with Stanley Kramer on another one. And then I did nothing."

The first film was a jazz saga with Bobby Darin and Stella Stevens, "Too Late Blues." The Kramer film, called "A Child is Waiting," seemed ill-fated from the outset. It dealt with handicapped children and starred the incongruous combination of Burt Lancaster and Judy Garland. Both movies were failures.

The following period was a difficult one, Cassavetes admitted. Not only was his promising career as a director smashed, he discovered he was in little demand as an actor.

"It's quite unnerving to find yourself considered a mediocre actor," said the New York-born, Colgate-educated Cassavetes, 38. "But still, there are ways of making money in Hollywood even if you don't work, and I found out how to manage them. All you have to do is make deals. So the pictures are never made. You get paid anyway."

But the deal-making palled on such a creative man as Cassavetes. Once again he cut out on his own as a film maker, fashioning a feature about the middle-aged years. Again he used volunteer crewmen, but this time he employed some professional performers, including his wife Gena Rowlands. The name of the film: "Faces."

Cassavetes was in the midst of shooting "Faces" last year when he drew an interview for a film role. He was offered a part as one of the criminal-soldiers in "The Dirty Dozen."

Hesitated First
"It would have been my first picture in six years, and I hesitated," he said. "The assignment meant suspending 'Faces' for months and taking my family to England, which would probably cost me $20,000. But I decided to take the chance."

Now he's glad he did. "The Dirty Dozen" has proved a smash hit, and many observers feel that Cassavetes stole the acting honors right out from under the other tough guys of the film, including Lee Marvin. "It was fun trying," says Cassavetes with a devilish grin.

More choice offers are coming his way. But he isn't forgetting his devotion to the underground. He continues to plow his earnings into the finishing of "Faces," with which he hopes to justify the promise he evidenced in "Shadows."

Towel Stealers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Student Agencies' linen service has dropped its door-to-door deliveries because students last year appropriated 8,000 towels, 1,000 pillowcases and 940 sheets valued at $5,000.

Starting this week, students who pay the $28 annual charge for the service must turn in their dirty linen at depots in each resident house instead of dumping their sheets and towels outside their rooms every week.

Stephen Roy, manager of the linen service, said students were using sheets to paint posters advertising parties. One junior said he used 120 towels last fall to pad his living room carpet.

Scholarship Exam Tuesday

Tuesday, seniors at Saugerties High School will be given the New York State Regents Scholarship Examination, and the sophomores will take the Iowa Tests of Educational Development. Both of these examinations run the entire school day, and in order to administer them, there will be no classes for juniors on that day.

The Regents Scholarship examination can lead to scholarship funds while the Iowa tests help to indicate a student's abilities in many different areas and aid the faculty in developing programs which will help the student.

The Junior High School will run on its normal schedule.

Can't Win

BELMONT, Mass. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pratt went away two times on weekend trips and each time they returned, they found their home burglarized.

They went away this weekend, but packed all their valuables—$8,000 worth—in a suitcase and took it with them.

Sunday, 19-year-old William Valentine of Wakefield brought the suitcase into police headquarters after finding it lying along Route 128 in nearby Lynnfield.

Police said the suitcase apparently had fallen off the Pratt's automobile luggage rack.

No 'Moe'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A Portland man is offering a $500 reward for the return of his beagle, Moe.

Moe disappeared several weeks ago while on a camping trip with Dr. Charles Dotter. Dotter had taken Moe along on many trips before. He took him climbing on several Pacific Northwest peaks, such as Three Sisters, Broken Top, Mt. Thielsen, Mt. Lassen and Magic Mountain.

Those mountains are all 10,000-14,000 footers.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herzog of Bethlehem, Pa., have sold their summer home on Lucas Turnpike to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gugliotta of Garden City, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Herzog have long been regular summer residents here. The Gugliottas took possession on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dennington and family moved this week to their newly purchased home in Marbetown on Route 209.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Sutton and family of Kerhonkson, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Sutton, Thursday. Mrs. Eli Simpson of Stone Ridge spent the weekend with the Suttons.

Mr. and Mrs. James Krom of New Palitz called on their aunts, the Misses Kathryn and Alice Krom Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jansen were dinner guests on Friday of Mrs. Ruth Roosa of Stone Ridge.

PROGRAMMERS

That's the truth. Software is not only fundamental to computer design, it's indispensable to the full utilization of a computer's logical capability. That's why, at Digital, programmers enjoy much deserved recognition for their all-important contributions. And why they find challenges... in helping to conceive advanced computing systems. And satisfactions... from interacting directly with system users.

That's what to expect at Digital, so if your present work offers something less, check out the list below and send a detailed background letter or resume to Graydon Thayer, Manager of Professional Personnel, Digital Equipment Corporation, 146 Main St., Maynard, Mass. 01754. Or call collect (617) 646-8600, Extension 621.

Systems Programmers - To design and implement monitors, advanced compilers and assemblers, utility packages, editors, debugging programs, libraries. One or more years of experience with large general purpose, real-time or on-line systems.

Diagnostic Programmers - To write diagnostics for three of the newest, most wanted computer systems in the industry. Two years of diagnostic programming plus 2 years of hardware maintenance and/or logic design experience.

Applications Programmers - To assist scientific users in determining system requirements. To help marketing managers cultivate existing and new markets for software systems. Many application areas to choose from.

Automatic Drafting System Programmer - To develop and implement sophisticated computer-aided design programs. Must know machine language and have 1-4 years' application programming.

Process Control Programmer - To guide development of process control software systems for small and medium size computers. Three to five years of experience in the development of process control systems or applications.

Programming Instructor - To teach programming to owners of Digital computers: use of assembler, debugging systems, tape editor, floating point systems, input/output routines, numbering systems, conversion routines.

Junior Programmers - Several openings for bright college graduates with a science degree and some computer knowledge. Unlimited potential in an unlimited field, leading to systems, diagnostic or applications programming.

Dear Abby

'Looking In' Up to Parent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune)

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this soon as mom and dad are planning a trip and we kids will be alone.

We are all young adults. My parents have asked our married brother to look in on us while they're gone. Does that give my brother the right to barge in whenever he feels like it without giving us any warning? Do you think he should have a key to this house just like he did when he lived here? Doesn't the fact that he is now married and has a house of his own make him somewhat of an outsider here? This is causing a terrible fight. We would like your opinion. YOUNG ADULTS

DEAR ABBY: What rights your brother has, can (and should) be clearly defined by your parents. And in order to avoid any misunderstanding, your parents should tell you in your brother's presence exactly what "looking in on" entails.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boy friend in Vietnam who asked me to marry him when he came home. I told him we would talk about it when he returned as we hadn't known each other very long. To make a long story short, he's coming home in two months and he wants to buy me my china set while he's over there. He says he can get real good dishes very cheap there.

Should I tell him to go ahead and buy the set? If I decide after he gets home that I don't want to marry him, then what? I hate to pass up a chance to get a nice set of dishes at such a good price.

DEAR ABBY: Don't obligate yourself. If you tell him to go ahead and buy the dishes he might get the idea that you are as good as his.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband and I were married, I bought him a wedding ring. It was a wonderful experience for me to give him that ring, for I knew that it would be something he would always treasure, as a token of my love for him. Well, last week he confessed that he had lost the wedding ring months ago, and had quietly bought another just like it so I wouldn't know.

Abby, I was absolutely shocked. In doing this, it showed how little sentimental value he placed on the ring I had given him.

Abby, I want the wedding ring my husband wears to be the one I bought him, and I'd like to buy him another one, but it seems so foolish now because he already has one.

Am I being childish and silly to feel this way? — NANCY
DEAR NANCY: Yes. But your husband is a close second. Since he "quietly" replaced the lost ring, he should have kept "quiet."

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that man who told his girl friend to take off the pants and to put on a dress. Maybe if girls would stop wearing pants and looking like boys, the boys would start cutting their hair and stop looking like girls.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): New moon position emphasizes public relations, marriage, partnerships. Consolidate efforts. Gain cooperation of one with opposing views. Exciting day to experiment.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Show off talents. Avoid excess shyness. Your creative urges are stimulated. Follow through—go places, see people. Accent on dealings with opposite sex. Break routine.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): New moon highlights creative pursuits. Obtain hint from TAURUS message. Get together with individual who expresses original ideas. Cooperate with associate who is daring.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Future trends should be analyzed. Check details. Accent thorough approach. You could uncover apparent minor matter which is important. Look for loopholes. Be positive of facts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): New moon accents travel, chance to exchange views with those close to you. Keep communication lines open. You get news which inspires confidence. Go to it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Possessions should be guarded. Gain shown if you play cards close to chest. Some people have their eyes on your money. Know this and respond accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New moon in your sign stresses independence, originality, leadership. Analyze needs—then move to fulfill them. Dynamic action, attitude wins for you. Realize this and get going.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Not very good for keeping secrets. Best to be forthright.

Some behind the scenes may act in strange manner. Don't be caught short. Be ready for surprise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Fine for socializing—be with congenial people. Expand sphere of influence through friends. One who asks favor is sincere, likely to bring you pleasure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be independent. Others may not be able to fulfill obligations. See top people. Don't feel your talents are ordinary. Know that you have much to offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New moon position accents journeys, news from afar. Avoid jumping to conclusions. Be philosophical about supposed setback. You gain in long run. Maintain confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Money featured, but likely to be other people's funds. You could be involved in three-way transaction. Be versatile. Utilize unusual methods. Don't be blocked by tradition.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have fine sense of humor. You are capable of overcoming obstacles. You are sensitive, artistic. You finish major cycle. You are on way to new adventures.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to ARIES: quiet talk with contrary individual solves dilemma.

How to Lead from Sequence

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "Let's discuss 'play from equals' this week."

Oswald: "A defender's play from equals should be designed primarily to help his partner; a declarer's to fool the defense. In other words, defenders play conventionally, declarers unconventionally."

Jim: "In leading equals you lead the higher except with ace-king where the normal lead is the king although currently many players lead ace from ace-king against suit or no-trump contracts or both."

Oswald: "When a defender reverses his normal play of equals he may be trying to fool declarer or he may be indicating a doubleton. It is up to partner to decide just what is going on."

Jim: "Today's hand shows this play at work. East wins the club lead with his ace and after looking over dummy notes that if he wants to set the contract he needs three diamond tricks. He leads his queen of diamonds and continues with the king."

Oswald: "This should be reason enough for West to rise with the ace of diamonds and give his partner a ruff. If East had held three diamonds he would have made the normal play of the king followed by the queen."

Jim: "This hand illustrates something else which is that if you can see all the cards you aren't likely to lose at bridge. There is no way for East and West to beat a North-South no-trump contract but we doubt if one pair in a thousand would bid to it."

Oswald: "Probably not one in a million!"

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the reason for the use of the name Rainbow Division in World War I?

A—The insignia of the 42nd Division of the A.E.F. was a rainbow superimposed on a black field. The 42nd was made up of National Guard troops drawn from almost all states of the Union, hence its name.

Q—What is meant by the term "hexameron"?

A—The six days of creation.

Q—What fly lives for but a single day?

A—The mayfly usually lives only a few hours or a few days after it becomes an adult.

Q—In journalism what is a "bulldog edition"?

A—An edition of a daily newspaper printed early for transportation to distant points.

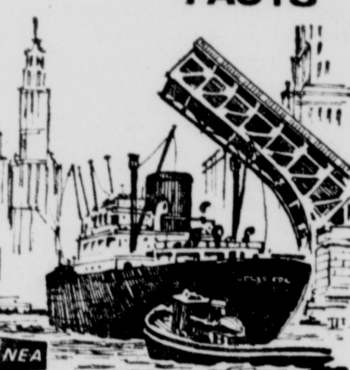

Q—In American history, how many women have served as state governors?

A—Three. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming and Miriam (Ma) Ferguson of Texas, both elected in 1924, and Mrs. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama, elected in 1966.

Q—How fast do the particles that become meteors travel?

A—From 10 to 40 miles per second.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Although an inland city, Chicago is fast becoming a major world shipping center, says The World Almanac. Linked to the ocean by both the Mississippi River system and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway, more than 50 scheduled ship lines sail to 66 countries from Chicago.

motif (moe-TIEF)
a repeating theme in a work of art, music, literature, etc. A skilled writer will always incorporate a different motif in each new book.
His favorite motif, a beautiful woman in love with a scoundrel, has already appeared in three of his plays.
His paintings are easily recognized because most of the works have as their motif, the beauty of nature.

Orders are in for some replacements—NBC has given the green light to start shooting an old police series and CBS has a new game show on a front burner. There are conferences on emergency replacements.

On the other hand, some shows that were not given much of a chance in the preseason days are working out very well. "The Carol Burnett Show" had its CBS premiere as the underdog of its Monday night time slot, and is surprising the ex-

Prindle: 48th Year In Methodist Choir

The choir of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church recently celebrated two events, the anniversary of its oldest member and the welcome of a new minister of music. Simon Prindle is beginning his 48th season as a member of the bass section of the choir. Richard Blish started Sunday as minister of music, directing the chancel choir.

Prindle, who is 82 years old, moved to Kingston from Kripplush in 1919 and began singing in the Clinton Avenue Church choir in 1921. As he explained it after the surprise party presentation of a leather-bound edition of the new Meth-

"I've only been singing in the Clinton Avenue choir since 1921, but for years I sang in the Kripplush choir and also the Stone Ridge Methodist Church." The gift Hymnal was presented by the Rev. William A. Studwell, pastor, on behalf of the music committee. The Hymnal, in rich red leather, was inscribed artistically by Ray Caddy, whose wife, Linda, is a member of the choir and chairman of the music committee of the church.

Blish, who has recently taken the role of choir director, is a teacher in the Ontario School System and also the director of the Lyric Choristers of Kingston. He resides with his wife, Paula, in Saugerties. On Sunday, Oct. 8, the Clinton Avenue Church will have a special service of dedication of the new Methodist Hymnals recently purchased. Most of the hymnals will be given as memorials by members and friends of the parish.

Johnson Prepares Tax Increase Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is back at the White House today to deal with quickie news conferences. At the spending cut and tax in the latter, he voiced a new plea for higher taxes and announced his selection of a new U.S. solicitor general.

Johnson flew back from his Texas ranch late Sunday and early today after a long weekend during which the chief executive toured the Rio Grande flood area Thursday, delivered at his ranch news conference Saturday, the President said passage of his tax bill was "very necessary if we are to avoid the evil effects of a more burdensome tax-inflation tax."

Literacy Tests Slated

The Ulster County Board of Elections has announced a schedule of literacy tests slated to be given to voters who have never voted prior to the forthcoming November election.

The board said that persons who have not previously voted in New York State and who have become qualified to vote must furnish proof of an ability to read and write English.

Such proof is as follows: presentation of a certificate showing completion of 6th grade work; a matriculation card; discharge from the Armed Forces; naturalization papers, if issued after 1952; certificate issued after passing voter literacy test.

The board noted that if the registrant demonstrates a certificate indicating completion of 6th grade in any state, or Puerto Rico, where language was Spanish, then proof of literacy in English is not necessary.

Pint of Sand

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — If Donald MacGready of Hillsdale, N.J., is finicky the folks at this southwest Washington sea side resort figure it'll take a long time to satisfy him.

MacGready wrote the Chamber of Commerce, asking for a half pint of beach sand for his sand collection. The chamber's Bill Marks mailed to MacGready a half pint of sand Sunday and enclosed a note that said Marks hoped "this is the right half pint."

If it isn't, he added, "send it back and tell us which half pint you want."

Now Marks figures there are about 1.2 billion half pints of sand on the 21-mile long 1,000-foot-wide beach.

Bloomington Couple Die

An Ulster County couple killed in a two-car collision in Onondaga County, three persons injured in separate crashes County mishaps and a one County woman who died injuries sustained, in a crash, contributed to the week-traffic death toll in New York State which claimed 24 lives.

A plane crash Friday night occurred in a hilly, wooded area near the Onondaga Airport. Four persons died in the mishap.

On Route 20
Victims of the Upstate two-car crash which occurred at about 11 a. m. Sunday on Route 20 in the Onondaga community of Marcellus, took the lives of Alonzo Richard Sagar, 64, of Bloomington, and his wife, Ora, about the same age. Sagar, an employee of the Railway Express Co. many years, was expected to retire next April.

Mrs. Anne M. McDowell, 49, of Palenville, was killed early Sunday when a car driven by her husband, Robert W. McDowell, same age, failed to negotiate a curve on Malden Avenue, Palenville, and crashed into a parked flatbed truck.

Santoroski Memorial Drive Starts Tuesday

The Michael P. Santoroski Memorial Fund Drive will kick off tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock at Radio Station WGHQ, 82 John Street. The scholarship fund is in memory of Pfc. Santoroski, who died as a result of injuries suffered in combat in Vietnam.

With the naming of two Kingstonians, the board of directors is now complete. Paul Jordan, vice president of Herzog Supply was named today along with George Heppner, a past commander of Kingston American Legion Post 150.

Those donors who are unable to come to WGHQ may leave their contributions at a number of banks outside of Kingston. These include banks in Rhinebeck, Red Hook, Ellenville, Kerhonkson, Stone Ridge, Hurley, Woodstock, Rosendale, Catskill, Saugerties, Port Ewen, Marlboro, Phoenixia and the Town of Ulster.

Workers will be at WGHQ, 82 John Street, beginning tomorrow at 6 a. m. The offices will be open until midnight. Contributions may either be called in or brought directly to the station.

Air Force Blasts Red DMZ Bases

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command claimed today that B52 bombers have inflicted crippling damage in raids on the demilitarized zone, where North Vietnamese artillerymen now are bombarding U.S. Marines at Con Thien with more words than shells.

Headquarters said that seven B52 raids in four days last week touched off 110 secondary explosions indicated successful bomb hits on ammunition stores and fuel.

The raids, aimed at easing the enemy pressure on the Con Thien Marine base, ignited nine fires, headquarters said.

Propaganda Shells
At the same time, the U.S. Command said the North Vietnamese unloaded mortar shells with propaganda leaflets three times on Con Thien last week. One leaflet said: "Hey, hey, LBJ...how many kids have you killed today?" A second said: "Americans—stop bombing innocent women and children. Leave Vietnam to the Vietnamese."

The Communist propaganda attack came after U.S. planes dropped thousands of leaflets on the North Vietnamese side of the border last week, urging civilians to defect to the South to escape the devastation of B52 bombing.

The B52s were up again today, attacking suspected Red positions in North Vietnam, 11 miles northwest of Con Thien and in the demilitarized zone, four miles north of the Marine outpost.

Thieu's Election Is Confirmed

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's National Assembly in effect decided tonight to accept the election of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as president.

The criteria were applied to the Sept. 3 election results. The final vote in the assembly on Thieu's election appeared to be a foregone conclusion.

The assemblymen debated against a midnight deadline. The session was preceded by violence outside the National Assembly. About 200 university students tried to march on the building and police dispersed them with clubs. Several students came away bloodied.

that the assembly nullify the elections.

Thieu won by 35 per cent of the 4.7-million votes cast in the presidential election. His running mate was Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Several of the students were arrested and an undetermined number injured. Two newsmen and a cameraman for CBS television also were struck by police in the melee.

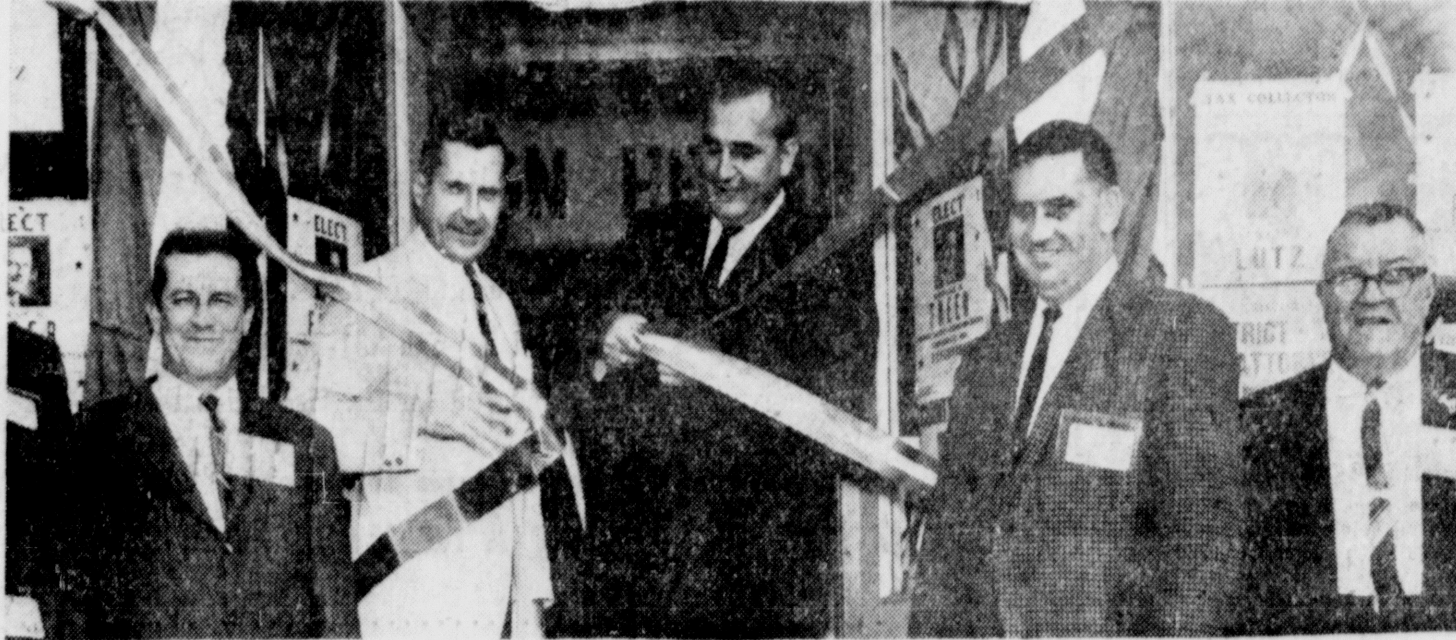

At first, police blocked the way of the students near their student union headquarters in downtown Saigon.

The students sat down with their banners protesting that the election of Thieu was rigged. Enforcing a ban on all demonstrations, announced by the government Sunday the police moved in with clubs swinging.

Police also broke windows and tossed tear gas grenades into a building in the student union compound to flush out hiding leaders and other students.

The students had demonstrated Saturday in front of the assembly, shouting, "Down with the rigged election!" They tried to rip down a large election returns sign near the assembly and police dispersed them.

The assembly voted today on the criteria that had been used by the assembly's special election committee to judge the election returns. The committee had recommended last week that the full assembly reject Thieu's victory because of irregularities.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Scientists shooting pool in the laboratory are hastening the day when man will be able to deal directly with the computer. The game of pool is played on a console attached to a computer. The 15 balls appear as circles on the console screen, as does the cue ball.

The scientist aims a beam of light from a pencil-like object at the cue ball and the ball rolls down the screen and breaks the rack.

Depending on the aim, and where the cue ball goes, the computer makes the necessary calculations to produce an image on the screen of what would happen in an actual game.

"It's a matter of give and take," one scientist explained. "The computer does rote calculations and man using his own ingenuity."

The pool game is designed to show how man can deal directly with the computer, without the necessity of translating his questions or data into the computer's mathematical language.

Ravena Pilot Killed in Crash

BEEVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Ensign James Lester Hains, 22, a Navy pilot from Ravena, N.Y., south of Albany, was killed Saturday when he ejected too low from his malfunctioning jet airplane and his parachute failed to open, the Navy said Sunday. Hains was stationed at Chase Field in Beeville. His TF9J Cougar jet crashed a mile from the base.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester James Hains of Ravena. A new U.S. plant to desalt sea water through the use of nuclear energy will be able to process 150 million gallons daily. Ten years ago, the best-designed plant in operation could process only 50,000 gallons daily.

Head of City Det. Division, Lodge Speaker

Lt. Lemuel F. Howard, head of Kingston's Detective Division, is slated to address members of Kingston Masonic Lodge No. 10 Tuesday.

The meeting will be conducted at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, 7:30 p. m. Howard will make his presentation at 8 p. m.

Trained at Delahanty Institute, New York City, Howard joined the Kingston Police force in 1937. On Dec. 1, 1946, he was promoted to sergeant and in 1958 he became lieutenant.

During World War II, Howard served with the Navy Seabees and was assigned to the West Coast.

Strikers Picket at Tobin Plant

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nearly 800 employees of Tobin Packing Co. struck the firm's meat processing plant here early today after the company "made an offer which was unacceptable."

About 100 workers established a pre-dawn picket line near entrances to the plant.

They were members of the Independent Employees Association. The union voted, 736-3, to strike in a dispute over wages and a cost-of-living increase.

Negotiations collapsed Thursday when Union President Joseph P. Reedy said, the company "made an offer which was unacceptable to the union."

Company officials said they offered a package totalling 9 cents. John M. Watson, a vice president of the firm, said the company would adopt a wait-and-see attitude.

The local plant services a 7-state area, including New Jersey and portions of New England. Tobin plants in Buffalo and Rochester were not affected.

9 Violations Charged After Chase

Apprehended after a high-speed police chase along highways in the Dutchess County townships of Red Hook and Rhinebeck, a 16-year-old Queens youth was charged with nine vehicle and traffic violations.

Michael Rusnak was arrested before Justice of the Peace Frank Martin, Town of Red Hook, who entered pleas of innocent for the youth and adjourned hearing until Saturday, Oct. 7. Rusnak was held in $1,000 bail.

Troopers Guy Jenkins and Robert Geschlecht reported they tried to halt a car driven by Rusnak along Barrytown Road, Town of Red Hook, at 2 p. m. Saturday, but the youth sped off at a high speed.

The troopers pursued the youth along main highways in Town of Red Hook. The chase continued until the car driven by Rusnak went off Fishing Ground Road, Rhinebeck and into a ditch. The youth was not hurt.

Summons were issued charging Rusnak with unregistered motor vehicle, unlicensed driver, improper license plates, reckless driving, exceeding the speed limit, failure to yield the right of way, failure to comply with a lawful order, speed too fast for conditions, and crossing pavement markings.

Israelis Claiming Egypt Wants War

TEL AVIV (AP) — After 10 cross-canal battles with Israel in September, Egypt is evacuating civilians along the Suez Canal in preparation for more fighting, authoritative Israeli sources said today.

They contend Egypt plans to increase incidents along the waterway hoping to push the United Nations into demanding Israel's withdrawal from territory it won in the six-day June war with the Arabs.

About a quarter of Port Suez's 25,000 civilians have left the town at the canal's Red Sea end, and the evacuation is continuing, the sources said.

Israel's defense minister, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan followed a statement on the Suez escalation with a warning that "Israel may have to take the battle into Arab capitals" in the event of a new Middle East war.

Dayan and others believe Cairo needs continued fighting to distract Egyptians from their economic sacrifices and focus U.N. attention on the blocked canal.

"For every shell we get, they get four back," an Israeli military source said. "Their military bases, roads and other targets are in range. All they can hit is sand."

Officials in Tel Aviv, blamed anti-Israel saboteurs for placing an explosive charge at the U.S. Embassy. The device failed to explode because its timing mechanism broke down several minutes before it was set to go off Friday.

A police guard at the embassy was increased after disclosure Sunday of the bomb plot. The device was found while U.S.

Ambassador Walworth Barbour was away.

As King Hussein of Jordan prepared to fly to Moscow for a four-day state visit and discussions of possible Soviet aid for his kingdom, his foreign minister, Muhammad El-Aamiry, said in New York that a settlement of the Middle East situation would benefit both the Arabs and Israel.

The minister did not elaborate on this statement in an interview but added, "All I can tell you is that I hope there will be good chances for a settlement."

Israel has demanded direct talks with the Arabs as a basis for any discussions. No Arab state has suggested so far it might be willing to go along with this condition.

Three Charged As Disorderly

Three Kingston youths, accused of removing the cap from a Prospect Street fire hydrant and making loud noises, appeared in City Court today and requested an adjournment.

One youth, Steven Stokes, 17, of 27 Furnace Street, pleaded guilty. Sentencing is scheduled for Wednesday.

Requesting an adjournment were William Pendell, 20, of 87 Franklin Street and Michael Mentessi, 17, of 37 Adams Street. The formal charge lodged against them is disorderly conduct.

According to police, the three were arrested Sunday morning on a complaint.

Cites Woodridge Unit

Joe Praises Some Bureaus

Pointing out that there are "many legitimate cooperatives throughout the country which are run by farmers for the benefit of farmers," Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick continued to demand that "We must stop the abuses of the Farm Bureau-type co-op so that the legitimate co-ops can continue to serve the American public."

The Ellenville Democrat again charged that certain farm cooperatives "have issued to their members between $4 and $6 billion in worthless patronage certificates, instead of issuing cash from their profits."

Resnick said that, amongst those cooperatives which have benefitted the farmer, is "Intercounty Cooperative, Woodridge, which provides feed and marketing services for farmers in Sullivan and Ulster Counties," and, "The Dairyman's League is another example, am certainly not referring to co-ops like these."

The Congressman went on to list several "abuses" which some co-ops are being charged with practicing: "co-ops which are controlled by gigantic corporate entities so that member farmers do not have an honest voice in the operation of the co-op; co-ops which issue dividend certificates and do not redeem them for 30 or 40 years, even at the death of the patron; co-ops which take over independent taxpaying businesses, bring them under the tax America."

Resnick said that the "worst offenders seem to be the Farm Bureau co-ops and other gigantic co-ops in the Midwest—in Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa."

He concluded by saying that, "There are many co-ops which provide much needed services to the American Farmer, and are a valuable part of rural America."

Weather Seer Predicts Mild Winter, Dry Fall

There will be no need to hustle and get out the winter coats or snow shovel if the predictions of Thomas Shults prove accurate, as they usually do.

The former Woodstock weather forecaster, now a resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., predicts "weather will be mild with light storms, most storms will be in February and March, but not as bad as last winter."

Prior to him moving to Fort Lauderdale, the Woodstock weather prophet issued forecasts for summer and winter but due to loss of his wife last spring gave no prediction for the summer. In a report "partially completed" last spring Shults said indicated a "cold wet summer."

"Fall and winter will be about the same as the winter of 1953 and 1954 and again in 1961 and 1962. The drought condition will return this fall also," Shults predicts. Construction workers will be happy over Shults' prediction. "The weather will be fine for building and construction work. Temperature for six months period will be about 34 degrees average and winds will be mostly south to southwest," he concludes.

For those who seek to avoid the weather which Shults predicts for the local area and go south Shults said, "weather for south Florida will be warm and dry. Storms will be light. Very little frost if any," he concludes.

Beacon Man Found Guilty In New Paltz Drug Case

Thomas Barone, 23-year-old Beacon car painter, was found guilty as charged Friday by a jury in County Court. Barone was charged with sale and possession of marijuana last December in New Paltz.

Charged with illegal possessions, Barone was represented by Seymour Werbalowsky, and Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon appeared for the prosecution. County Judge Raymond J. Mino set October 25 at 11 a. m. for sentence and remanded defendant to custody of Sheriff William B. Martin.

Barone was charged by indictment with selling marijuana to a New York city detective who had been assigned to New Paltz. The detective testified he had met Barone in a pool room and made arrangements to purchase the drug. They met outside and the drug was passed. He resided at 36 North Avenue, Beacon.

The jury deliberated only an hour and twenty minutes before arriving at a decision.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 2, 1967

War of Production

If we are not actually fighting the Soviet Union in Vietnam, our war factories are directly fighting a war of production with Moscow's.

The new series of agreements between the Soviets and North Vietnam for the first time specifies the military material Moscow is furnishing North Vietnam, and it is both considerable and sophisticated. It accounts for the acceleration of the war on both sides.

For instance, the communique says the military material includes ground-to-air missiles, planes and artillery. This is the weaponry that is making American bombing of North Vietnam costly and American Marine defense of the demilitarized zone a nightmare of big gun duels.

The Soviet Union leads the Communist bloc in military aid to Hanoi. The delegation which negotiated the agreement for continued aid first had toured the Western bloc Communist nations, including Cuba. Presumably, it won aid agreements from each of these capitals, too, but not at the same level as Moscow's.

While our State Department declared that it regrets the newly announced agreement, and wishes instead the Soviets had taken action that would have aided in the search for peace, officials saw nothing alarming in the aid package disclosed by Moscow. What is alarming is that Moscow encourages North Vietnam to continue to fight with a billion dollars worth of military material. Without this immense amount of new aid, North Vietnam would either have to come to terms or fade out of the war.

This is of a piece with the Soviet's policy speech at the General Assembly of the United Nations. There, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko insisted that only a United States pullout could end the war. He rejected British Foreign Secretary George Brown's request to convene the Geneva conference as co-chairman to seek a Vietnam peace. He showed no interest in a Vietnam peace.

It is a piece with the Soviet's policy in the Vietnam war with the Soviets. If our war factories produce the Soviets, our boys in Vietnam can be depended on to make the most effective use of our output. We should waste no more time trying to woo the Soviets. They have told us in unmistakable terms they are at war with us.

Labor Party Defeat

Looking for straws that may point to the outcome of our own national election, the defeat of Britain's Labor party in two by-elections last week might hold some interest to our politicians of both major parties.

The more significant defeat was in a working-class constituency in London, which Labor had held since 1929 without interruption. In the last general election, Labor had won it by a majority of 8,725. Its loss was clearly a rebuke to the government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson for economic policies that had seen Britain with a million unemployed this winter.

The second seat lost was in Cambridge, normally a Conservative stronghold. Labor had won it in the general election shift but it returned to the Conservatives at this first opportunity.

As a result of the two losses, Labor's majority in the House of Commons was cut to 86, still safe enough. Len Williams, general secretary of the Labor party, said the results were a measure of the unpopularity of Government measures to put right Britain's economy. "The Government has risked temporary unpopularity in the long term interest of Britain," he added.

Looking for parallels here on the domestic front, President Johnson's insistence on a 10 per cent tax surcharge now could affect his second term election a year from now. Treasury Secretary Fowler warned Congress of political defeat and financial ruin if they do not vote the surcharge at once, but members of Congress, in closer touch with their constituents, know that people are fed up with big spending and resent the surcharge without compensatory cuts in outlays. Passage could haunt Johnson in the 1968 election.

Congress has voted to set up a public corporation to finance independent production of cultural and educational programs. Proponents felt it would do for our cultural life what commercial television has done for social life. Opponents warned it could become a government propaganda machine. Public awareness could control the danger.

Government aid in the sum of $250 million is proposed by 22 members of the House of Representatives, to cure the nationwide nurses shortage. The aid would be given to so-called diploma nursing schools, the source of most graduate nurses, not the colleges that give degrees in nursing, largely for administrators.

"This Way Out!"

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Senator Thurston Morton of Kentucky, Republican, has just bestowed on President Johnson honorary membership in the "brainwashed" club, supposedly founded by Governor George Romney of Michigan, Republican. Mr. Morton doesn't exactly say he himself has been "brainwashed," too, but he concedes that early in 1965 he supported the increased American involvement in Vietnam. He now says, "I was wrong!"

The Kentucky senator refers to a phrase in one of the addresses by President Eisenhower at the end of his administration, and claims the latter warned against "the dangers of too much power and too much influence in the hands of military-industrial complex." Mr. Eisenhower, however, has supported the President's policy in Vietnam and has not blamed Mr. Johnson for it.

"I believe that President Johnson was brainwashed by this power center as early as 1961 when, as vice president, he ventured to Saigon on a fact-finding mission. I believe he has been mistakenly committed to a military solution in Vietnam for the past five years—with only a brief pause during the election campaign of 1964 to brainwash the American people with 'the war in Vietnam ought to be fought by Asian boys.'"

The phrase—a "military-industrial complex"—could mean that the generals and top commanders of America's armed forces are in some way influenced by governmental contractors who make munitions or war weapons. This would imply a stigma on the careers of our dedicated military leaders. Certainly Mr. Eisenhower didn't construe it in this way. In his farewell address, he recognized the possibility of "the acquisition of unwarranted influence," but did not charge it had already affected public policy.

Senator Morton made his speech before "The National Committee of Business Executives for Peace in Vietnam," which met in Washington this week. Businessmen, to be sure, have a variety of interests, and certainly cannot be lumped together in a single group. Nor can any particular point of view about the Vietnam War be attributed to "business executives" as a whole. Their differences of opinion are not more than those of any other group of men.

Senator Morton was formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee and also was an assistant secretary of state in the Eisenhower Administration. His address does not offer any formula to solve the Vietnam problem that has not already been advanced. He recommends "an immediate cessation of all bombing of North Vietnam," saying that this "might encourage Hanoi to talk." He suggests "a gradual concentration of effort to secure the coastal and population centers of South Vietnam" and says this "can and must be accomplished with a substantial reduction in American troop strength." He believes that increased pressure should be placed upon the Saigon government to negotiate peace. In conclusion, Mr. Morton says:

"The administration should precisely state to Hanoi and the world that our unilateral disengagement seeks an appropriate response."

This generally has been expressed time and again, but it seems to fall on deaf ears in North Vietnam. One thing is clear: The United States can propose an armistice but, as Secretary Rusk has repeatedly pointed out, it has to be observed by both sides. Otherwise, advantage will be taken of the recess to build up military supplies and move more troops into South Vietnam.

Governor Romney is naturally glad to learn that someone else besides himself has been "brainwashed." He also welcomes Mr. Morton to the club and says he thanks the Kentucky senator "made no slip of the tongue."

These references to "brainwashing" are, however, not doing much good for the cause of the United States in the Vietnam War as viewed from abroad. They merely imply that politicians in America are trying to cater to what they seem to believe is a large "peace vote." Politicians are sometimes misled into thinking that Americans prefer "peace at any price."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The trip to London was as sweet as a swim. There were 150 passengers and they ate their way from Boston to Jolly Old England.

It was like being in a hollow log with intoxicated termites. The plane left Kennedy at 10 a. m., and arrived at Heathrow Airport—3,300 miles—at 4:30 p. m., and all the stewardesses felt they had walked it.

It was sunny and bright at 39,000 feet. The sky was slightly darker than the sea and the only sound was the big engines sucking their breath. The menu was in French—which Pan American isn't—so I met the snobbery of Flight 100 by telling the steward to bring me one of everything.

They open with elegant brandy snufflers, pale Scotch and muscular Canadian whiskeys. Some passengers had breakfast a half hour out of New York and started all over an hour later on caviar. There was clear tall soup from a silver tureen, a roast beef with mashed potatoes, deep green peas, and "natural juices."

One could have lamb curry, braised beef, more booze, veal steak with tarragon sauce, duck lorange, fillet of sole with almonds, pilaf rice, assorted cheese, a basket of fruit, fattening pastries with a layer cake topped by twisted mocha cream.

There was a motion picture, too. It was shown through a closed television circuit, with t. v. sets up where the cockpit used to be. It is called The Flimflam Man. By 3:30 p. m., the plane was over Ireland, but, as their time was 8:30 p. m., the sky was dark and the city of Cork looked like a handful of topaz stones spread on black velvet.

London, as always, is composed of crooked alleys and straight traditions. The Queen and Philip were not at home—someone warned them that we were coming—so we watched the hippies. Ten years ago, the city was full of Teddy Boys in knee-length chesterfield coats, with watch chains swinging to the knees. They, I discovered, are dead.

The hippies are as numerous as the pigeons. The girls, in their matted hair and torn turtlenecks, look like mourners in a poor house. The boys wear pony tails down between their shoulders and a thin slash of beard from ear to ear. It is obvious that there is no soap in England.

The Savoy Hotel, which is always recessed in a narrow street off the Strand, appeared as elegant as always, and full of Americans. I carried my luggage inside the lobby, and the doorman, with a smile, carried it out again. "We don't do it that way," he said softly, and I roared, "Carry on, guv'ner."

The dining room orchestra was playing "If I Were a Rich Man" in cha-cha. There is a waiter on each floor, and in the room are three buzzers, one for a maid, one for a waiter, and a third for valet service. Whatever room you get is always the "last one" the Savoy has. Ours faces a brick courtyard. As it was built in the 12th century, it has only passing interest for the tourist.

Everybody drives down the left side of the road, and U turns are made to the right. This is harmless and safe, but it will age you. All the cab drivers are cheerful Cockneys who rob you blind. No matter what the meter says, they will tell you what the real bad news is.

Nothing is cheap. I bought a black trenchcoat with raglan sleeves at Aquascutum (a store) and got it for 18 pounds and a few shillings ($33). I asked to have the sleeves shortened a trifle, and the clerk (pronounced "clark") sniffed. If he had put a bit more energy into it, he could have inhaled me.

All the British from the Midlands appear to be on holiday, and Westminster Abbey and St. Martin's in the Fields were jammed with small men of rolling gait and huge women in woolly two-piece suits. Everybody is on the hair bit, and little babies in prams have their skimp locks teased high.

The sky is uniformly gray, although there is no fog. Over in the East End, a few American tourists were buying jellied eels from a wagon, while others trooped into a basement called Dirty Dick's for a sip of mullied ale. The bartenders were sticking hot pokers in the stuff.

At night, the very proper British become sexy. They have nude floor shows, nude movies, and a man can call a number and have a girl pick him up for the evening. London's 7,000 prostitutes used to lounge in dark doorways, with just the handbag showing in the light. Now they are in automobiles, flicking the headlights up and down in case anyone would like—a lift?

By day, they tap their derbies on their heads, furl their umbrellas, and mask their emotions. A valiant people indeed.

Drew Pearson Says Labor Leaders Rally Around Wayne Morse

WASHINGTON — Cocktail parties are a dime a dozen in Washington. They have little significance. An exception was held in the National Democratic Club last week by Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic Leader. Its significance was to test whether a man who has sat in judgment on labor in vital wage disputes can still get the support of labor if and when he rules against them.

Mansfield was honoring Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., whom he described as "the greatest intellect in the Senate." Morse is well known for his differing views from President Johnson over the war in Vietnam, but not so well known for his differences with labor. He has arbitrated many top labor disputes, ranging from the Longshoremen's strike to the Machinists' strike against the airlines last summer to the recent railway dispute. One of his rulings, the Machinists' strike of last year, incurred the wrath of Roy Siemiller, head of the Machinists, who since then has vowed to "get" Morse.

AFL-CIO President George Meany was also indignant over Morse's contention that "the right to strike is limited in wartime."

Last week in Oregon some indication of labor revenge cropped up when George Brown, Oregon state director of COPE, took a vote at the Oregon state AFL-CIO convention alleged to show that labor was deserting Morse. The poll was picked up and published as highly significant because labor has been Morse's chief supporter in the past.

However, two things have now developed. One is the fact that the Oregon poll was a haphazard straw ballot, not an official vote. More significant was the response to Sen. Mansfield's cocktail party. To attend it guests had to plunk down $50 apiece to re-elect Wayne Morse. And the outpouring of labor leaders was impressive. They dominated the party, ranging from bulky John Knezel of the United Mine Workers to Ken Peterson of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers, and Jerome

Keating of the Letter Carriers. The building trades were there in full force, represented by Jack Curran of the Hod Carriers and Laborers, Pete Terzick of the Carpenters, and Walter Mason, director of legislation for the building trades unions generally.

Morse had just brought in a proposed settlement of the railroad shopworkers' dispute which caused some bitterness on both sides. Nevertheless a strong contingent of railway labor turned out in his honor, including G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives, Jim Kennedy of the Railway Electrical Workers, and Charles Dornell of the Sheet Metal Workers, together with Reuben Levine, editor of the railway newspaper, "Labor."

"We're here not because Morse is pro-labor, but to honor a great Senator," said Frank Wallick of the United Auto Workers.

African Visitor
African leaders who visit the United States usually go through the formal ceremonies of wreath-laying, dining at the White House, and asking for more U.S. aid. That's about all. Not so Hamani Diori, president of Niger.

He is president of a one-time French colony which the Texan who entertained him in Washington noted was bigger than both Texas and California together. As head of Niger he has close ties to France.

One thing he did not tell the President of the United States was how the president of France, one Charles de Gaulle, called him in and scolded him after Niger refused to line up with France on the question of rebuking Israel for its military reprisals against the Arabs last June. Niger has received generous support from Israeli peace corps workers, and President Hamani Diori refused to an ingrate.

At Blair House the President of Niger invited 20 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers in for tea. He even remembered their names, though it had been some time since they had been in Niger.

President Johnson stated again in his speech to the Latin-American foreign ministers at the recent meeting of the Organization of American States that "America's word must always be good."

This was an unfortunate, if not shocking, occasion to repeat that requirement considering how good our word was regarding Cuba, the island we always swore to defend. But Mr. Johnson was furthermore connecting the requirement, as he does repeatedly, with our promise to defend South Vietnam.

In that case no such promise was ever made. Even the Southeast Asian Defense Treaty that comes closest to the subject is merely permissive and the only direct promise ever given by Mr. Johnson himself.

Yet his own record in this respect is one reason for the tragic division in our country about the rightness of our Vietnam policy and the reliability of the President himself as a promiser.

Reviewing the Vietnam facts, the President unabashedly told the OAS ministers: "The United States has a long history in Vietnam." The French had a long history there; we didn't. BERRY'S WORLD

"Don't forget—I'll need an 'adjustment' in my allowance to cover whatever 'adjustment' you make in the surtax!"

Across the H-Bomb Border:

Where Red Faces Red

Hugo Portisch today reports the execution of Chinese "revisionists" by their own Red troops while thousands look on—one phase of Mao's war of nerves with the Soviets along the border between the two Communist giants. This is the seventh article of a ten-part series.

By HUGO PORTISCH
Chapter VII

Relatively new displays in the Khabarovsk city museum depict historic scenes of the Amur and Ussuri provinces, all of them dealing with Sino-Soviet relations. They are evidently designed to prove that these provinces are inherently Russian, not Chinese. They are a reply to the Chinese claim that over a half a million square kilometers of Soviet territory belongs to China. Most of the displays are derogatory to the Chinese, although some of them depict customs which, though nothing to boast about, were common to the Russians and Chinese in centuries past. This is just one part of the Soviet propaganda reply to the Chinese territorial claims in the Russian Far East.

My Khabarovsk informant, who deals professionally with this situation, explained to me: "You have no idea what methods the Chinese apply! Don't mention my name and I will tell what I myself saw and heard. Officially we are not to talk about these things. We are even very careful in what we let our population know."

"Do you keep your population all informed about goings on along the border?" "Yes, but not in our publications. In workers' assemblies, speeches in high schools and universities. Mostly it is officers of the border police who report on their experiences." "Do they tell all they know?" "Plenty. Besides there are usually questions once the speaker is finished and almost all are answered." We sat together for two hours, during which I got a report on a series of incidents along the Amur River.

"As you know the river freezes over in the fall and the thaws come only in May. Thus, during this period there is no 'Water Ditch' between Russia and China. There is hardly a week that the Chinese don't advance at least to the center of the river, to let loose with one of their propaganda actions."

"What do you mean by propaganda?" "That varies. At times they come only with sound equipment and address our side by loudspeaker; mainly the border police and the soldiers. They scold us as revisionists and traitors and try to convince us that Mao Tse-tung is right and we are wrong. They appeal to us continuously to revolt against the party and the government."

I had to smile, but my informant reacted angrily: "Don't dismiss this so easily. Our border population is often left with nightmares which weigh heavily on their minds. They do not stop just with insults. At the high points of these campaigns, which at times last for days, these Red guards sometimes drag prisoners onto the river for exhibition. More insults follow and explanations that these prisoners are friends of the Soviet Union, Chinese revisionists, who now are about to receive merited punishment. We know already what this means. It was demonstrated often enough. After all the insults and accusations have been proclaimed, these prisoners are beheaded in front of our eyes. The corpses and heads remain on the ice, just across the middle of the river which marks the boundary. We cannot recover them from Chinese territory. They stay till it thaws, then the river carries them away."

I must have looked at my informant with disbelief, because he continued with a whole line of similar incidents, as if to confirm what he had said. "The worst is that these are never small groups. They come by the hundreds and thousands. Once we estimated 20,000 participants at a demonstration."

The water, he said, carries the beheaded corpses in spring close to 100 miles downriver, where they usually run ashore on the Chinese bank. Then, my informant said, the second part of the propaganda action continues. The corpses are shown to the Chinese population of these areas, under the pretense that these foul deeds have been committed by Russians.

"And what happened during the past winter?" I wanted to know. "At the beginning of the last winter we had the last and biggest incident of that type. This was the demonstration with the 20,000 participants, part voluntary, part forced, because we well know that the Chinese Red Guards force the population's participation in such actions. During the winter of 1955-56 there were almost daily incidents along the Amur. Only in 1966 did they get bloody—I mean of the type including beheadings. In October and November 1966 they tended to go on like this on a grand scale. At the beginning they beheaded people almost daily in front of our eyes."

But on November 7th, when they came to the river with the 20,000, the border commandant lost patience. He advised the Chinese that we would blast the ice over on the Russian side, being permitted to do so as that is our territory. But by the nature of things, the ice cover would also break on the Chinese side. With vile insults the Chinese then retreated."

Who, What Can We Believe?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — More and more, President Lyndon Johnson is being viewed by Americans as a man who cannot be believed. But the thing of wider significance is that he presides in an era when credibility is rare anywhere in U. S. public affairs. His critics of all political shades are not exactly masters of credible argument.

As he makes his case for continuing the bitter Vietnam war, he is charged with almost endless deceit. But a high proportion of his opponents on the war issue are also something less than totally honest on this subject.

In their call for peace, by varying means up to and including unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam, very few war critics deal credibly with the consequences — for both the Vietnamese and for all other free Asians — which would flow from a disadvantageous treaty with Hanoi, from retreat to coastal enclaves, from any kind of major defeat, or from withdrawal.

They either shrug off this matter, or try to deal with it by unprovable assertions such as: "The domino theory (that other Asian lands will fall if South Vietnam does) is wholly false."

They dispose of opposition argument as the deceitful noises of the warmonger, while they themselves trouble hardly at all to grapple with the complex, brutal realities of life in Vietnam.

It should not be imagined that the Republican critics are any better in this respect than the arch liberals who attack Johnson.

At the dovish end of the spectrum, the Republicans are as dishonest as their Democratic counterparts as to the probable real consequences of "peace for the sake of peace."

At the hawkish end, GOP critics often hide behind meaningless phrases such as: "We should pursue this war with our full military might." What does that mean? Mobilize the whole nation, or use nuclear weapons? The answer is never really given.

The credibility issue is not, however, limited to controversy over the Vietnam war.

Like rival breeds of angry locusts, charges and counter-charges fill the public air on such questions as the real worth of the poverty program, the genuineness of the "establishment's" assault on racial discrimination, the true cost of government and the relation of that cost to the need for more taxes.

Dating from the New Deal era, this town has been awash in reports and documents arguing every side of every public issue.

The obvious comment is: "Isn't that the proper way to debate the great questions?" The answer is yes, if the arguments are credible. But too many are not. And nearly all documents tend to be depreciated in an age when cheap emotional contention is the order of the day.

The country's radicals, white and black, further erode credibility by preaching distrust of all established authority at the same time they make self-serving argument without bothering to rub two facts together.

At a time when pragmatic social invention at home and firmly conceived foreign policies were never more in demand, too many contenders in the public arena—romantics to the core—have turned to impatient clamor for unreachable perfection, for the millennium tomorrow.

The net effect of their effort has been to flood much public argument with unreality, to raise hope dishonestly and perhaps explosively, and hence to reduce credibility everywhere. Whatever the President's shortcomings in this field, he has much company.

Two Men Are Stabbed In Separate Incidents

Two men suffered knife wounds as the result of unrelated stabbings investigated Saturday by Highland State Police who took the accused as sailants into custody on assault charges.

Buster Hamilton, 58, a migrant farm worker, was listed in fair condition on Sunday at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where he was under treatment for chest wounds allegedly inflicted by his wife, Ozella, during a family quarrel on the Dirago Farm, Marlboro.

Hamilton was treated at the farm and later rushed to the hospital in Newburgh. Troopers charged Mrs. Hamilton with first degree assault and arraigned her before Justice of the Peace Mataraza, Town of Marlboro. She pleaded innocent and was committed to the county jail to await grand jury action after waiving her preliminary rights to a hearing.

In the other knife incident, troopers said Talmadge Harris, 29, New Paltz, was arrested on a second degree assault charge. He was accused of cutting the knee of Richard C. Kyles, 28, Marlboro as they quarreled in Main Street, New Paltz.

Kyle, who authorities said was cut with a switchblade knife, said he would see his own physician after first-aid treatment was administered.

Harris entered a plea of innocent to the assault charge before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz. He waived preliminary examination rights and was committed to the county jail pending action of the grand jury.

Rondout Action Group Schedules Meeting Tuesday

Rondout Community Action Committee will meet Tuesday night 8 p. m. at 58 Broadway.

The purpose of the meeting is reorganization, and the proposed by-laws for the group are expected to be adopted. Reports are also due on housing, employment and recreation.

All residents and public officials are invited. Rondout Community Action Committee has operated a successful recreation program this past summer, opened a day care center at St. Marks Church and led the drive to reopen the Cornell Fire Station. The chairman of the committee is the Rev. James Priest and the vice-chairman is Joseph Lawson.

Firearms Charge

Accused of possessing firearms without a license, Bernard Smith, 40, of Jamaica, was arrested Sunday by Leeds State Police. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Abraham D. Smith, Town of Rochester, Smith posted $200 bail and the case was referred to the grand jury for investigation. BCI Investigator Michael Mahoney charged the man with possessing a sawed off shotgun and a five-shot pistol.

Local Residents On Cablevision, Oct. 3

"Much Like Us," a motion picture about the Ulster County Community Chest, will be presented in a special broadcast over Kingston Cablevision's Channel 6 on Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, at 7:30 p. m. The announcement was made today by George W. Tamke, campaign chairman for the Chest's 1967 fund drive.

According to Tamke, the film was produced in Ulster County several years ago, to tell the story of the agencies in the Ulster County Community Chest. Many county residents will appear in the film.

"I feel that everyone in the Kingston area who has an opportunity to see this film will come away from their sets with a better understanding about the many ways in which the Community Chest's agencies can and do help our area residents," he said.

Telesharing of the film in Kingston will also enable those people with cablevision service to test their television sets for local reception so that they can

3 Cited, Another Hurt in Weekend Traffic Mishaps

Three motorists were cited by Ellenville State Police for traffic violations, and one driver was injured as the result of weekend accidents in the Town of Wawarsing.

Trooper R. R. Brooks said Richard Zalsky, 34, of Woodridge, was driving north on Route 209 south of Ellenville at 2:15 a. m. yesterday when the car hit the Napanoch Bridge. Zalsky sustained lacerations and chest injury. He was cited by troopers for driving while intoxicated. Brooks said. The summons is returnable later before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

At 12:30 a. m. Sunday, Stanley Christiana, 17, of Accord, escaped injury when his car left Cooper Road south of Stone Ridge and hit a group of trees. State Police cited him for having no license, failure to keep to the right and unsafe tires. The summonses are returnable at a later date before Judge Poppel.

James Decker, 22, of Kerhonkson, and Frederick Tanner, 78, of Sidney, escaped injury at 4:25 p. m. Sunday when their cars collided on Route 209 at the intersection of Route 44-55, Town of Wawarsing. Tanner was cited by troopers for going through a stop sign. He will appear later before Judge Poppel.

Dwyer Resigns Fireman Post

John H. Dwyer of 70 West Chestnut Street submitted his resignation from the Kingston Fire Department Sept. 26 at the regular meeting of the board of fire commissioners.

Dwyer said he resigned to further his education in the field of business administration. His resignation was accepted with regret and Dwyer was commended for being a "dedicated, efficient fireman" while on the force for two years.

Capt. William Kidd, famous pirate commander of the Adventure Galley, was taken to England in 1701 and hanged.

Fined $25

A Dutchess Community College student, John Paul Martinko of Poughkeepsie, pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct today in City Court and was fined $25 and sentenced to two weekends in the county jail, it was disclosed.

Martinko was arrested Sunday by Kingston police, who said the youth threw a can of beer onto a football field during a game. Police said the incident occurred at Dietz Stadium.

Air Force

northern border received only one round of explosive artillery and two mortar rounds Sunday, U.S. headquarters said.

Since last Wednesday, the Marines at Con Thien have been receiving light, harassing bombardments in contrast to the 300-to 1,000-shell barrages they were taking daily in the preceding weeks.

Elsewhere, there was little ground action reported across South Vietnam. The largest engagement listed by U.S. headquarters was a clash in the central highlands 23 miles south-east of Pleiku City Sunday. Infantrymen of the U.S. Army's 4th Infantry Division reported killing 28 newly equipped North Vietnamese regulars in day-long skirmishes in which the Americans were supported by helicopter gunships, artillery and rapid-firing AC47 Dragonships.

Fresh Troops

The new enemy equipment suggested that fresh troops were operating in the area, U.S. casualties were one soldier killed and two wounded, headquarters said.

South Vietnamese headquarters killed 22 enemy soldiers Sunday and today near Quang Ngai City, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. The government troops reported their own casualties as light.

Over North Vietnam, Navy fliers from aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf attacked a railroad-highway bridge two miles north of the port city of Cam Pha and about 46 miles northeast of Haiphong Sunday. The raiders apparently did not attack the port at Cam Pha, which was hit for the first time Sept. 11.

Navy fliers also bombed a railroad bridge 20 miles northwest of Haiphong, but pilots reported smoke and darkness prevented a damage assessment of both bridges.

Air Force fighter bombers from Thailand bases struck at the MIG airfield and main railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi. Aerial photos taken later showed the runway cratered in numerous places. There was no report of any MIG interceptors on the airfield at the time.

In all, American pilots flew 99 missions Sunday, well below the recent daily average of 140 or more.

Buried DPW Truck Found; Used in Deposit Break-in

Someone took a lot of trouble to hide a New York State Department of Public Works 1966 pickup which was stolen September 5 in Deposit. The truck was taken during a burglary in that Delaware County community and is believed to have been used as a getaway vehicle.

The truck, partially buried, was found off the Creek Locks Road just south of Greenkill Park in the Town of Ulster Sunday, Ulster County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of Sheriff Martin's staff, reported.

Shovels about the scene and a partially dug excavation indicated an attempt had been made to bury the truck. An area sufficient for the vehicle to be completely buried had been measured off and excavated. The truck was recovered on the Marle property.

Bowers reported the radiator and battery missing. A box on the rear of the truck had been removed but left at the scene. Whether the contents of the box was taken is not known. State Department of Public Works in Albany was notified and

No Comment From Philby On Charges

MOSCOW (AP) — Harold Philby, described by a British newspaper as "the most important spy that the Russians ever had in the West," will not comment on the weekend news reports in London, a close friend said.

Philby, 55, defected to the Soviet Union four years ago. His son confirmed Sunday that Philby had been recruited by the Soviet secret service early in the 1930s, years before he joined British intelligence and rose to its top ranks.

Philby's closest friend here now is reported to be Donald MacLean, a British diplomat who fled here when Philby reportedly tipped him and the late Guy Burgess that they were under suspicion of spying.

Bloomington

Malone of the Bronx, allegedly crossed the dividing median and was in collision with the Teichman's car. A passenger in Malone's car, Rosalind Avedos, of New York City and the driver of the vehicle, escaped serious injuries.

A Milton man was injured Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision on Route 9W near the Highland Traffic Circle. State Police said Anthony Manne, 63, of North Road, Milton, driver of one vehicle, was released from Vassar Hospital after treatment for back and leg injuries.

Ralph C. Zielke, 25, of Monsey, Rockland County, was listed as the operator of the second car involved in the crash. Both cars were traveling north on the highway at the time of the mishap.

Two persons were injured at 1:55 p. m. Sunday when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Mountain Road, Town of Rosendale, and hit a utility pole. Trooper Richard Dempsey said Kenneth Wieda, 17, of Jamaica, apparently escaped injury. Wieda was driving north and attempting a right curve when the car left the pavement, climbed an embankment and hit the pole.

Passengers in the car were Edmond King, 18, also of Jamaica, who sustained lacerations of the left wrist, and Stephanie Rogolski, 16, also Jamaica, who received lacerations of the right jaw. They were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

At 11 p. m. Saturday, Harry Wolven, 69, of 88 Downs Street, Kingston, escaped injury when his car left King's Highway and hit a tree, according to Kingston State Police.

Assisting Investigator Bowers were Deputy Sheriffs George Raftery and William Stack. State Police BC Investigators W. E. Wiedemann and Richard Ryan from the Lake Katrine station were called in to assist in the investigation and "dust" the vehicle for fingerprints.

Parking Break

PITTSBURGH (AP) — People who have trouble finding a parking spot in front of their homes may get a break-of sorts.

The city traffic engineer, Anthony Miscimarra, says he'll ask City Council to give those people special parking privileges.

The privilege would enable them to park free at designated spaces for as long as they want in areas where other parkers pay a parking meter charge and are limited to one or two hours.

But the special parking privilege will cost $5 a year.

Latin America's Castro Communists Are in Retreat

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The conflicts in Vietnam and the Middle East have obscured the fact that in one troubled area vital to the United States—in Latin America—the Communists are in retreat.

Isolated guerrilla bands trained and financed by Fidel Castro's Cuba continue to operate in Bolivia, Colombia, Guatemala and Venezuela, always, in the countries below the Rio Grande, disgruntled and frustrated intellectuals are ready to castigate "Yankee imperialism."

But the organized Communist conspiracy that was once a real threat in Latin America is in disarray, splintered by a quarrel between supporters of Castro's revolutionary brinkmanship and adherents of Moscow's more cautious policies.

So bitter is the quarrel that Castro himself charged that pro-Russian leaders in Latin America have joined forces in a plot to destroy him. "This Mafia is part of a real international conspiracy against Cuba," spearheaded by the Communist party of Venezuela, Castro said.

On this occasion, at least the erratic Cuban dictator spoke the truth. He has long been a thorn in the side of the official pro-Russian Reds in Venezuela. They would certainly shed no tears over Castro's demise. They might even risk an uprising in Cuba to get rid of him.

The conflict between Castro, who advocates armed guerrilla struggle in Latin America—

the creation of "more Vietnams"—and the more cautious "old guard" leaders in Latin America has been brewing for several years. It has been sharpened and made more enduring by Cuba's sustained campaign since 1966 to create a permanent base in Havana for an alliance of revolutionary movements independent of Moscow.

The open break between Castro and the Soviet leaders

occurred in August when the first Latin-American Solidarity Conference (OLAS) met in Cuba. The conference was secret but from reports that have reached Washington, Russia, like the United States, was subjected to merciless attacks despite violent protests of a handful of pro-Soviet delegates.

Francisco Prada, speaking for the pro-Castro guerrillas in Venezuela, denounced the official Venezuelan Communist party as a "tool of American imperialism." He criticized the Soviet Union for its failure to support effectively the war efforts of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. "We see Vietnam tragically alone," Prada said.

Gerardo Sanchez, a leader of a Dominican Republic extremist group, denounced Russia and other Communist countries for the trade they practiced "with Latin-American dictatorships."

Another leader of a Red splinter group, Jose Anselmo of Brazil, even suggested there was little difference between Communist Russia and the capitalist United States.

He said: "Against imperialism only two positions are possible—that of Cuba and Vietnam and, on the other side, the oppressors, their allies and accomplices."

Rondout Valley Seniors Take Exams Tuesday

All Rondout Valley High School seniors who plan to attend college or professional schools of nursing will take the New York Regents Scholarship Examination Tuesday as will thousands of other seniors throughout the state. Four different types of scholarships are awarded on the basis of this examination. The general Regents College Scholarships are awarded on a county basis so that there is separate scholarship competition within each county of the state. About 20,000 scholarships in all are awarded yearly. Scholarship for professional education in nursing are also awarded on a county basis, a total of approximately 600 annually. There are separate scholarships for those students who plan to attend Cornell University, and at least one scholarship of this type is awarded

Teethy Tuneups

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Townspeople passing a dental office were surprised to see a sign advertising "car tuneups." During a severe windstorm the sign had blown off a nearby service station, coming to rest in front of the dentist's office.

Boots Stolen

A Staten Island man pleaded guilty before Judge Boyce, paid his fine and was released, from the Big Scot Department Store on Route 28 and was fined $25 before Hurley Justice Alton Boyce, Saturday afternoon. Anthony Neola, 28, was apprehended by an R. Bain Security guard, Herbert O'Brien, at 2:10 Saturday afternoon. He was accused of stealing a pair of eight-inch leather boots, valued at $16. Neola pleaded guilty to the charge.

Airman Feted By Indians

R. D. WRIGHT

Former drum major of the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, A 3rd Class Robert DuBois Wright was honored Sept. 28, with a surprise dinner which was prepared by the Troop 12 Mothers' Club. Attended by most of the members of both Indians Corps and their families, the dinner which was held at Bethany Hall of the Old Dutch Church.

Robert, who is now a member of the U.S. Air Force Military Police has been enjoying a 30-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DuBois, and brothers James and Raymond. He will report back for active duty Oct. 9 after which he will be shipped to Germany where he will serve for three years.

To quote Bob "One of the wisest decisions I've ever made, was when I joined Troop 12 and the Indians back in 1960." He served in the drum line as a tenor drummer until 1965 when he was appointed assistant drum major. Promoted to drum major in 1966, he served in this position with excellence until entering the Air Force in May 1967.

Among other gifts, he was presented with a beautiful suede wallet by the members of the Indians, with a check enclosed from the Mothers' Club

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, Oct. 2, the 275th day of 1967. There are 90 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1869, the Indian nationalist leader Mohandas Gandhi was born.

On this date—In 1780, the British officer who negotiated Benedict Arnold's attempted surrender of West Point, Maj. John Andre, was hanged as a spy at Tappan, N.Y.

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee became president of Washington and Lee University in Virginia.

In 1889, the first Pan-American Conference met in Washington, D.C.

In 1905, former President Grover Cleveland wrote in the Ladies' Home Journal: "Sensible and responsible women do not want to vote."

In 1941, German armies launched an all-out drive against Moscow.

In 1945, Gen. George S. Patton was removed as commander of the U.S. 3rd Army.

Ten years ago—26 passengers were killed when a bus plunged into a river near Cuenca, Spain.

Five years ago—The Soviet Union announced it was withdrawing from the New York World's Fair.

One year ago—The Soviet Union acknowledged that it was sending soldiers to North Vietnam to train crews in the use of anti-aircraft missiles.

Geneva GI Killed in Viet

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—A 20-year-old Army paratrooper from Geneva was killed last Wednesday in combat in South Vietnam, the Defense Department says.

The department announced Friday the death of Pfc. Steven B. Riccione, son of Mr. and Mrs. Humbert D. Riccione.

Riccione, who celebrated his birthday Sept. 8, attended Geneva High School before enlisting last February. He had been in Vietnam 26 days, the family said.

Besides his parents, his survivors include two sisters and a brother.

The Riccione address is 55 N. Exchange St.

News of Fraternal and Civic Organizations
Rondout Lodge 343, F & A M will hold its regular stated communication tonight in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, at which time a special program has been arranged for the apron and jewel presentation to Worshipful Brother William A. Evans, assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster District. Lodge will convene at 7 p. m. in order that program may start promptly at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served in the dining room following the meeting.

was proposed today by State Housing Commissioner James W. William Gaynor. As outlined in a speech delivered at the annual fall meeting of the New York State Association of Urban Renewal Officials at the Thruway Motor Inn, Albany, the Corporation could serve as a redevelopment in providing large-scale, multi-purpose projects in urban renewal areas.

At the same time the Corporation will serve to channel into your redevelopment areas the private investment which is ultimately needed if these projects are to prove economically beneficial to the municipality.

"Because of the extensive role housing will play in programs undertaken by the Corporation," the Commissioner said, "and because of the state middle income and low rent assistance which will be applicable in this housing, we think you will find that the undertakings of the Corporation will, with proper planning and staging, provide you with a valuable resource to provide relocation housing for tenants displaced by other portions of the urban renewal project or by other urban renewal projects."

The concept of the State Urban Development Corporation and development of its projects was advanced by Governor Rockefeller in August and will be included in the legislative proposals for 1968.

Commissioner Gaynor told the urban renewal officials that in order to get proposed projects underway, the state will be asked to make available a $50 million appropriation which the Housing Development Fund to provide interest-free seed money for housing; the State Housing Agency for long-term permanent mortgage financing; the Capital Grant placed back in the revolving Low Rent Assistance Program fund and used for future enterprises of the Corporation.

For financing its projects the Corporation could utilize other state programs such as the re-mortgage loans to non-profit industrial corporations. The Corporation will use as a revolving fund to finance planning for housing; the State Housing Agency for long-term permanent mortgage financing; the Capital Grant placed back in the revolving Low Rent Assistance Program fund and used for future enterprises of the Corporation.

Dentists Hear Guest Speaker

The Ulster-Greene Dental Society held its first fall meeting at the Kirkland Hotel, Kingston, Wednesday.

Dr. Vincent J. Oddo Jr. of Providence, R. I., was the guest lecturer. Dr. Oddo is a Georgetown University graduate, a past president of the Rhode Island Dental Society, and a member of the Prosthodontic Faculty of Georgetown University School of Dentistry. He presented a new method of partial denture retention, featuring a spring-action clasp.

In cooperation with the New York State Medicaid program, the Ulster-Greene Dental Society is pursuing a continuing education program. Monthly meetings are keyed to present any new facet of dental advance.

The local society has appointed Doctors Joseph Kearney, Edward Gurland, and Paul Perlmutter to arrange future programs.

New RV Teachers Announced

Among teachers new to Rondout Valley schools this year are 11 who have not yet been introduced to area readers.

On the elementary level, George Cosenza is teaching vocal music in the Kerhonkson School. Holder of a BS in Music Education from Ithaca College, Cosenza also has 30 hours of graduate work at SUNY New Paltz. Married and the father of one child, Cosenza and his family are Kingston residents.

Teaching music for two days per week in the Accord School is Mrs. Norm Kelly. She has had seven years of experience in teaching vocal music, most recently as a full-time substitute in Kerhonkson. Mrs. Kelly has a BS and an MS from Potsdam. Her husband, Martin Kelly, also teaches music in the Rondout Valley district. The Kellys live in High Falls Park and their children attend local schools.

Mrs. Mary Ose brings five years of teaching experience in a non-graded school to the Accord School, which entered its second non-graded year this fall. In all, she has taught for 18 years in New York and Virginia elementary schools. Mrs. Ose received her BS from SUNY at New Paltz and has been working on her MA at the University of Virginia. A widow, Mrs. Ose lives in Kingston with her son, William.

A January 1967 graduate of Valparaiso University in Indiana with a BA in Education, Mrs. Catherine Van Alstyne teaches a fourth grade class in the Marlborough School. Nine of her degree hours were earned at Kearney State College in Nebraska, where she also attended graduate school in the 1967 spring semester, completing nine graduate hours. In college, Mrs. Van Alstyne was a reading laboratory instructor for junior and senior high school students in a developmental and remedial reading program.

Also teaching at Marlborough is Gordon Wahlberg, who received his BS from the University of California. He has done graduate work in secondary education and plans to continue graduate studies. Wahlberg is teaching a 6th grade class.

Richard Albert has joined the social studies department at Rondout Valley Junior-Senior High School in the 10th grade. His BA in history was earned at Northland College, Ashland, Wis. Teaching junior high math is Mr. Richard Bach, who will be a March 1968 graduate of SUNY, New Paltz. Miss Diane DeFranza, a graduate of Toledo University in Ohio with one year's experience, is teaching Girls' Physical Education.

A graduate of SUNY Paltz, Glenn Gerlock has taken over some classes in junior high science. He has had three years of service in the Armed Forces. Also teaching junior high math is Leslie J. Honig, a graduate of Clark University, Worcester, Mass. with a bachelor's degree in psychology and mathematics.

After three years of teaching at Ludlow Junior High School in Ludlow, Mass., Miss Carol Vadnais has joined the RVHS Social Studies Department, teaching junior high courses and one course in 11th grade American History. Miss Vadnais is a graduate of American International College, Springfield, Mass., with a degree in history and science.

RV EDITORS—Rondout Valley Central High School yearbook editors seek to kindle new Council Fires edition after winning a B plus on the 1967 publication. Studying the format are Janet Miller, assistant literary editor; Virginia Davenport, Leslie Coulton, Alice Becker and Betty Jo Brown, art editor. The award was given after judging by the National School Yearbook Association with its affiliate National Newspaper Service.

Yale Law Students Pick Rocky-Bobby

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Students at Yale Law School think the 1968 presidential candidates should be Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both of New York.

The students, who indicated that 45 per cent of them were Democrats, 21 per cent Republicans and 34 per cent indepen-ent, gave 68 per cent of their mock Republican votes to Rockefeller and 56 per cent of their Democratic primary votes to Kennedy.

The poll was conducted by a law school political club. Results were released Friday.

President Johnson got 18 per cent of the ballots in the Democratic primary, running a poor Charles Percy of Illinois got 16 per cent of the votes.

George Wallace, former Alabama governor, got three per cent of the votes.

Twenty-three per cent of the students voted for an unnamed "other" candidate. In the GOP primary, Sen. Michigan's Gov. George Romney and former Vice President Richard Nixon each got three per cent to tie for last.

Two Men Arrested In Girl's Death

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP)—A violation, was arraigned in Brooklyn, N.Y., man is being held in Bergen County Jail on then extradited to Bergen County on a homicide charge in connection with the fatal shooting of an 18-year-old girl here Saturday.

Police said Ornes was a purchasing agent for a jewelry exchange. About six hours after Ornes' arrest, Mislas was taken into custody in Copiague when he complained to police about being robbed. Suffolk County police held him as a fugitive based on a Bergen County homicide complaint.

Brenda Gass, 18, was shot to death and her sister, Robin, 14, was critically wounded when they ignored a holdup attempt by three men who drove up to them in a car, police said.

A second man, Jose Mislas, 20, of Brooklyn, was also arrested Sunday in Copiague, N.Y. He is scheduled for arraignment today in Suffolk County, N.Y.

Police are still searching for a third Brooklyn man, Israel Perez, 23.

Police said Ornes was arrested with a .22 caliber revolver in his possession when he tried to enter his home, which had been staked out all Saturday night. He was booked on charges of homicide and weapons law.

No Paupers

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP)—A local branch of the Transport Workers' Union ordered three graves today—for future use.

The request went in after a union member recently was given a pauper's burial due to lack of money.

Branch Secretary Sam Clark said: "We are determined to see that none of our members ever face a pauper's funeral."

Farewell Dinner for Chaplain

More than 100 Legionnaires and friends of the Rev. Clarence E. Brown from Kingston Post 150 and other Ulster County posts attended a farewell dinner at the Gov. Clinton Hotel last night honoring the departing chaplain of 32 years for this county.

Chaplain Brown has been stalwart Legionnaire and inspirational leader to both Post 150 and the Ulster County American Legion organization for the past three decades. He has also served as Post 150 and Ulster County commander during that period. Prior to maintaining residency in Ulster County he served as post commander at Catskill Post 110 and as Greene County Commander. On Oct. 2 the Browns will move to Cape Cod to reside with their daughter.

Among those paying tribute to the retired former Baptist minister were Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan whose acquaintance dates back to his residency in Windham. Others on the distinguished list included Ulster County American Legion Commander James Coppersmith of Ellenville and Frederic Snyder, prominent national travel agent and lecturer. The latter, an acquaintance of the chaplain since his days in Cooperstown prior to his Greene County having known the Rev. Mr. tenure, recalled many of the Brown.

Says Cuban Refugees Are Here to Stay

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban refugees, arriving in the United States at the rate of nearly 4,500 monthly, are here to stay, says a University of Miami research team in a study.

The new report suggested that the refugee assistance program, which has cost U.S. taxpayers $250 million to date, might be scaled down.

"The Cuban refugees as a group have lost much of their character as visitors awaiting a favorable opportunity to return to Cuba," said the study, prepared for the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

"On the whole, they seem to be losing conviction that an early change in circumstances will make return feasible."

The 200-page survey continued: "Many are accumulating vested interests in staying in the United States, which must be balanced against prospects in Cuba at the time of return."

"A precipitous exodus seems exceedingly remote under any circumstances."

The government "has tended to regard the refugees as problems rather than opportunities," the report said. "Planning for the future should incorporate imaginative thinking concerning the economic and cultural contributions of which the Cubans are clearly capable."

The book, titled "The Cuban Immigration," added: "In the expectation that the exodus from Cuba will continue indefinitely and that the situation will not alter in the foreseeable future, a long-range goal of the refugee program should be normalization of the emergency situation created by the massive migration."

sentimental experiences that have involved each other as their paths have crossed.

When the honored guest was heard, an inspiration filled message dealing with many Legion experiences over the past three decades left those present with a feeling of gratefulness for prior to his Greene County having known the Rev. Mr. tenure, recalled many of the Brown.

Scholarship Exams Slated Tuesday at KHS

The Regents Scholarship and College Qualification test will be administered Tuesday at Kingston High School.

All Kingston High School seniors that are candidates for Regents Scholarships will take the one day examination given in two sessions, morning and afternoon. This examination will provide an opportunity for demonstrating academic qualification for receiving scholar incentive assistance during the first semester of college study.

In addition, the test will serve as a basis for admission to all state university units including Ulster County Community College. All seniors planning to enter college in September 1968, including seniors who may not be eligible to compete for a scholarship are encouraged to take the Regents Scholarship Exam.

School will not be in session on Tuesday because of the administration of the tests. Only those seniors who will write the exam will attend school that day.

Regents Scholarships from $250 to $1,000 a year. Scholar Incentive Awards from $100 to $500 a year, and awards for children of deceased or disabled veterans may be awarded by taking the Regents Scholarship Exam. If any senior has not registered for this test they should immediately contact their guidance counselor at Kingston High School. If any parent of a senior has a question regarding this test they may contact the Kingston High School Guidance Office.

Gateways Lauded in Designation

Hire the Handicapped Week is being observed nationally Oct. 1 through 7.

Locally, Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has issued an official designation calling for area industries and businesses to make "a sincere effort to place wherever possible the trained handicapped person in our community so that they can achieve their rightful place in society."

Gateway Industries Inc., of 111 Field Court, takes an active role in training and employment of the handicapped. Anyone interested in program may visit the facilities and see rehabilitation in action.

Mayor Garraghan in his proclamation, lauded Gateway for its efforts.

Esopus Dinner

The Esopus Methodist Church will conduct a turkey dinner benefit Saturday, Oct. 21, 5 p. m., at the firehouse. The public is invited.

HONORED BY LEGION—The Rev. Clarence Brown, long-time Legionnaire and chaplain of both Kingston Post 150 and Ulster County Legion, was honored guest at the testimonial dinner Thursday night at Gov. Clinton Hotel. The Rev. and Mrs. Brown (C) are leaving Kingston next week

Gov. Reagan Disclaims '68 Interest

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) —

Gov. Ronald Reagan, disclaiming any interest in the 1968 presidential nomination, told a Republican rally Friday night that the Democrats can be ousted from the White House "if we forget past grudges and intraparty fighting."

The California governor told a crowd of 3,500 at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner that the country must "turn away from the sickly pastels of expediency and a system where the government buys the people's votes with the people's money."

Reagan will speak in Milwaukee tonight at a dinner sponsored by the Wisconsin Republican State Central Committee.

In his South Carolina address he called for party unity in next year's presidential campaign.

"How many more chances will we get if we don't do it this time?" he asked.

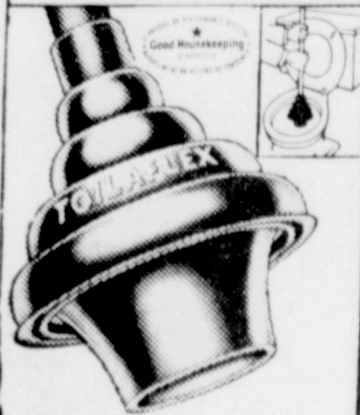

At a news conference earlier, Reagan insisted he is not interested in the GOP presidential nomination and that he is not interested in the vice presidency "because I feel I have more opportunity for service where I am."

Harrison Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Noel Harrison has been sued for $80,550 by a company that says he backed out of a contract to appear in a musical variety show.

Custom Homes Inc. says in the Superior Court suit filed Friday that Harrison contracted to appear at the San Diego International Home and Decorator Show Oct. 6 for a salary of $2,000. But last Monday, the suit says, Harrison canceled.

Accord Event to Recall Those Romantic D & H Days

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Romantic days of the historic Delaware and Hudson Canal will be recalled by the Accord Stone House Day Tours this year on Saturday, Oct. 7.

The 11th annual autumn event sponsored by the Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, will feature tours of the old canal bed, towpath and berms as well as visits to the historic houses of the area.

Tours start at 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Luncheon will be served at the church from noon to 2:30 p. m. Coffee and sandwiches will be available for the remainder of the afternoon.

Women of the church will sell homemade foods, quilts and other objects for the benefit of the church building fund.

The D&H Canal once served as the main artery between Honesdale, Pa. and Rondout. In the lusty, bustling canal days from 1829 to the turn of the century, bargemen plied the route with loads of coal, food and building materials for the growing nation. In those days Accord was known as Port Jackson.

Included in the tour Saturday will be the remains of the canal as it went along the embankment north of Accord, of the aqueduct crossing the Stonykill, the Peter Davis Boat Basin, the feeder channel from the Peterskill, the Peterskill Aqueduct and the canal bed and towpath at Allgerville.

Preservation Eyed

The latter portion of the remains has been the object of a preservation move by the D&H Canal Society. Dedicated members are attempting to save the canal bed from a proposed highway route.

One of the historic houses included in the tour is the Peterskill House now owned by Writer Edwin Tetlow and his wife. The house stands at the point where the Peterskill empties into the Rondout Creek. Remains of canal engineer feats of another century can be seen around the grounds. This site served as a resting place for men and animals when the canal was in its heyday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Cross Jr. on Old Kings Highway is a study in building styles and materials of the early settlers and is furnished with elegant antiques. Built in 1750, it has been occupied by eight generations of the Cross family.

The home of Mrs. Edward Davenport was built in 1700 and still has its original Dutch doors, European hardware and Shawangunk granite doorills.

The John L. Schoonmaker Jr. stone house built in 1787 remains the focal point of one of the finest working farms in the area.

The Old Brick House, owned by Mrs. Maude Bush Gazlay, is a departure from the usual stone construction found in Ulster County's early homes. It is representative of the grand style of wealthy Dutch immigrants who settled the rich Rondout Valley farmlands.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John McSherry in Whitefield dates from 1830 and features wide floor boards typical of the period.

Several other houses will be included in the tour.

Charged With Drug Possession

Arrested Sunday night by Highland State Police on a charge of hitchhiking, Lawrence Edward Gentile, 19, of 476 Glenn Street, Glens Falls, was later booked on a charge of possessing drugs, according to Trooper Edward Pulver.

Gentile was picked up by Trooper Robert Whalen near New Paltz and booked on a charge of soliciting a ride on a public highway. Troopers later said they found the youth in possession of drugs known as pep pills. He was booked on the second charge.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz, Gentile pleaded guilty to hitchhiking and was fined $10. He posted $100 bail and hearing on the charge was adjourned until Oct. 13.

Social Security Office Here Marks 30 Years of Service

George J. Habernig, district manager, announced today that the Kingston Social Security office building, In 1956 it moved to 61 Albany Avenue because it had outgrown the space in the office this year completed 30 years of service to the people of Ulster County.

Habernig stated that the office was opened in 1937 and serviced all the Hudson Valley. Later, offices were opened in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

Need New Quarters

The Kingston office was first located on Fair Street and later moved to the Central Post Office building. In 1956 it moved to 61 Albany Avenue because it had outgrown the space in the office this year completed 30 years of service to the people of Ulster County.

Habernig stated that the staff has grown from four people in 1947 to 18 people in 1967. In 1947 the office serviced 1700 beneficiaries. It now services 18,500 beneficiaries and benefits in the amount of nearly one and one-half million dollars paid each month to the beneficiaries in the county.

Approximately 300 people visit the district office each week. Field Representative Hy Gardin traveled nearly 10,000 miles last year visiting homes of claimants and beneficiaries who could not get to the district office or contact station because of illness or disability.

Habernig stated that the employees of the Kingston office are trained to answer the kinds of questions people ask to help people complete the necessary forms to apply for the many benefits provided under the Social Security Law; to advise people what information or documents they will have to supply and if anyone has a problem getting the evidence needed to help or suggest other evidence that will serve as well and tell where it can be obtained; to help people get in touch with other offices that might be of help to them; and to keep all the information confidential. They will also try to give clear and understandable answers to questions on social security and do what is necessary if one cannot go to the office because of disability or ill health.

List Hours

Habernig stated that the office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and for those who cannot call during the regular hours the office is open on Thursday evening from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. Habernig pointed out that

Named Chamber V-P

V. James Andretta, Jr. vice President of Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc., has been named a vice - president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

In making the announcement Chamber President, S. James Matthews noted that Andretta was elected to the Chamber's Board of Directors in May. He served the Chamber last year as Chairman of its Business Development Committee.

Matthews indicated that Andretta would serve the Chamber as the Vice President of its Internal Affairs Division. This division is charged with the operation of committees concerned with membership development, budget and finance activities, and special events. As a vice president, Andretta will serve as a member of the Chamber's executive committee together with two other vice presidents, Dr. Jeremiah Sachs and Dean M. Kintner. Also Treasurer William E. Belser and past president, George Svirsky, Matthews and Peter O. Allen, executive vice president, are executive committee members.

Andretta has been active in civic and business affairs in the area. In addition to his Chamber work, he has served on the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a vice president of New York State Liquor Association and a director of the wine and Spirit Wholesalers of America Association. He, his wife Margaret, and their three

Salamanca Cleans Up

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — Thirty-five families here re-mained refugees from the storm north of Salamanca, Sunday, the body of Ray W. Reed, 62, of when broken gas lines prevented Colderen, was found floating in their Cazenovia Creek in the Buffalo homes. Other home-owners suburb of West Seneca. It had worked to remove caked mud and debris from their property. The Allegheny continued its gradual drop below flood stage. More than 400 residents of the village of Friendship, northeast of Olean, kept the community's only physician busy over the weekend administering typhoid shots. All had come in contact with the flood waters. Estimates of the damage have been made in the millions of dollars.

Salamanca, whose streets were inundated by the rampaging Allegheny River, was the scene of another type of flood over the weekend. Several thousand visitors flocked to this city of 8,500 to inspect the storm damage. A state of emergency was lifted Saturday, but precautions to boil drinking water continued.

Schools closed last Thursday after the first of five inches of rain began pelting the area were reopened today as flood waters continued to recede. Over the weekend, the bodies of two motorists swept to their deaths by rain-swollen streams Thursday night were recovered. Searchers found the body of Wayne Hatch, 17, of Little Val-

Sunday Fire Damages Highland Fruit Plant

Large amounts of fruit were destroyed in a fire at Highland Sunday night and early this morning. Six fire companies responded to fight the blaze which was described as stubborn.

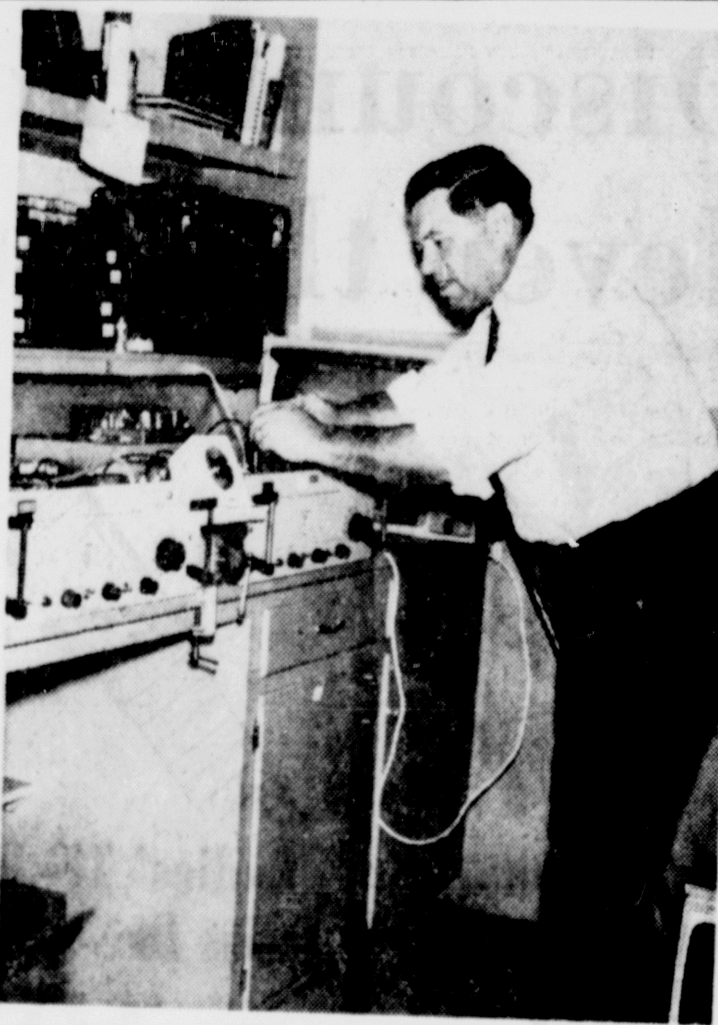

The fire, in the cold storage plant of the William Palladino Farm, Riverside Road, was caused by an electrical short circuit. The building, which was cork-lined and insulated, made extinguishing the smoldering fire difficult, it was reported.

Firemen were called on the scene at 9:03 last night and were recalled at 3:29 a. m. A rekindling of the fire was reported at 7:45 p. m. and Highland Fire Company responded. Six months ago, a barn burned on the same property.

Just Like Garbage

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Lawrence L. Walters, professor of transportation at Indiana University, told a state transportation study committee recently that it might be more economical in large cities to operate transit systems free and "haul people just like we do the garbage."

He said he based this opinion on the high cost of building free-

$5 Billion Spending Cut Could Kickback at Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion blanket cut in nondefense spending would disrupt orderly government, say some federal officials. And they claim it would kick up a backlash at home against congressmen now demanding huge cuts in federal spending as the price for higher taxes.

Although no official list of possibilities has been prepared, it's known that the question of a forced $5 billion cut in spending has been discussed in high administration circles.

Officials say if the Republican-backed plan succeeds, it would:

- Eliminate every new contract on every major federal construction project covered in the administrative budget. This excludes the highway program which is financed separately.
- Eliminate all new projects of every type.
- Cut new loans 50 per cent below planned levels, including those to farmers and small businessmen.
- Cut grants to states and local governments by one third.
- Eliminate or drastically reduce the school lunch program.

Sources said all cuts would have to come from the roughly $20 billion in spending which the administration can control. "It would hit everybody right in the stomach," one source said.

Controllable spending excludes such items as the $72.3 billion in military spending, originally proposed in January, and the $14 billion for interest on the federal debt.

The administration promised Congress to cut $2 billion from civilian programs and hopes to salvage an unknown amount from military spending not connected with Vietnam. But no specific list of cuts has been sent to Congress. The Administration says none will be until Congress completes action on all appropriation bills.

One key official said any cuts in military spending won't be based on the $72.3 billion total.

Booze Bus

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — The city fathers of Liverpool are thinking about setting up a special bus service for drinkers—to keep them from driving.

Britain's strict new drink-and-drive laws come into effect next week, allowing police to make random "breath checks" with a chemical measuring device.

In Liverpool, pub crawlers would be encouraged to leave their cars at home. Then at closing time the booze bus would stop by to pick them up and deliver them to their homes in and around the city.

The debate over higher taxes and spending cuts reached one climax last week when Republicans failed in a bid to fix a $131.5 billion ceiling on administrative budget spending for the current fiscal year. Johnson's revised estimate in this category is $136.5 billion, not including up to $4 billion more for Vietnam.

But Republicans, aided by 34 conservative Democrats, sent back to a House committee a resolution to authorize stopgap financing through October for government agencies whose appropriations bills have not yet been passed. A new resolution extending emergency financing for 10 days is scheduled to be considered by the House Tuesday, but in the meantime the affected agencies are technically bankrupt. The only unaffected departments are Treasury, Defense, Post Office and Interior which already have their appropriations.

The spending ceiling proposed by the GOP would specifically exempt any money beyond $72.3 billion for the military which the President felt was necessary. Thus the cuts would be forced from civilian programs.

USO—United Service Organization

WORLD WIDE SERVICES TO SERVICEMEN

"Someone You Know Needs USO"

With some 3 1/2 millions of fellow Americans now in our Armed Forces, someone you know needs USO.

USO
United Service Organizations

Chances are you have a loved one, a neighbor, a friend, now wearing the uniform; son or daughter of those who were called to the colors in World War II, in Korea, in the cold war that is no longer cold — three generations of our fellow countrymen who have been asked to leave their firesides, schools, jobs, factories, in defense of us who can remain safely at home, thanks to them.

To provide them with a "home away from home" — to bring them the familiar sound and sight they left behind — the USO operates clubs and lounges in 118 communities throughout the United States and 46 in 14 foreign nations where U. S. troops are stationed. It sends out the famous USO Shows to entertain them in the most remote corners of the world where they are standing guard at so many gates of freedom.

USO is a voluntary expression of the continuing concern of the American people for those we have called into the Armed Forces.

It is non-denominational; representative of the three great faiths; non-partisan, non-military, civilian-controlled whose only purpose is the furtherance of the welfare and morale of our men and women in uniform, wherever they be sent, at home or overseas.

It receives no money from the government, relies entirely on your contributions through the Community Chest.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

My family loves chicken and since it is inexpensive to buy now, I have stocked my freezer. We particularly like the white meat so I bought a number of packages of just the breasts when they were on sale.

Can you tell me a NEW way to fry it?

Oldster

Dear Youngster:

For variety, this is the way I cook chicken breast. Try it. Remove the meat from the bone and pull off the skin. Lay the meat flat on your chopping board and pound away with the larger side of your meat pounder as if it were a chicken-fried-steak patty. Dip it in water and shake to remove any excess. Do not wipe dry.

Then dip it in flour and set aside for at least 30 minutes before frying. As soon as the bottom is brown, turn it over. Turn ONLY once. This is the secret to non-greasy chicken. Salt and pepper it when you remove it from the skillet. NOT before. May be eaten plain or have chicken gravy poured over it.

And, did you know that if your skillet is big enough (or your family small enough, you can fry potatoes in that skillet at the same time the chicken is frying? Saves another pan to wash...

Heloise

P.S. This stripped chicken breast can also be cut in strips like French fries, battered and deep fried like potatoes. So different! Both are easy to eat.

Dear Heloise:

I have a large brocade vel.

Miss Susan Harder

At Elmira College

Miss Susan D. Harder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, RD No. 3, Kingston, is among 385 members of the Elmira College freshman class who arrived on campus Monday, Sept. 4 for a week of orientation before classes started on Sept. 15.

The freshmen were introduced to the new first-year Liberal Studies Program, which is part of the College's new curriculum being initiated this fall.

Elmira, a liberal arts college founded in 1835, is the oldest women's college in the nation, and was the first women's college to grant degrees equal to those given by men's colleges.

Miss Harder is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Social Workers

To Meet Tuesday

The Hudson Valley Chapter of National Association of Social Workers will hold their first dinner meeting for this season Tuesday at Vassar Alumnae House, Poughkeepsie, at 6:45 p. m. At 6 p. m. there will be a social hour to introduce new members.

Guest speaker is David Roth, executive assistant and personnel director of Jewish Children's Association of New York. He will speak on the Techniques of Social Action. Roth is the Chairman of the Social Action Committee of the New York City Chapter, NASW.

Meter Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Some meter men have been added to the city's meter maids to help enforce curbside parking meter regulations, says Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes.

Barnes said 14 men were added to the meter force last Monday "because under the state fair employment practices law, we cannot discriminate between people, whether they're male or female."

He appeared on the CBS radio program, "Let's Find Out." Also, Barnes said Sunday, the meter men can work alone in areas of the city which the city's 200 meter maids consider hazardous.

vet bag, but it had no knobs on the bottom to protect it. So I bought six rather flat small buttons and glued them on the bottom with cement glue. They worked great!

I have carried the bag two years or more and it has not worn from being placed on the floor when shopping, eating out, etc.

Lena Beck

Dear Heloise:

I want to thank you for the advice about not spraying indoors with pressurized paint. Unfortunately, your advice came two days after my husband had sprayed our kitchen exhaust hood.

Our surroundings are now slightly green. What color was yours?

P.S. If you can laugh about it, I will too!

I'm laughing! But we'll know better next time, won't we?

P.S. Mine was gold.

Dear Heloise:

Here's how I make pancakes so that all of us can sit down at once to eat them.

I put a small amount of water in a skillet and place one of those aluminum foil pie pans on top of it, bring the water to a boil and turn off. Then as each pancake comes off the griddle, I butter it and plop it down in the hot pie tin and cover with a piece of foil.

When breakfast is ready, I take the full pie tin to the table. The pancakes are hot and tender and best of all, we can all enjoy them together.

Gertie Bell

Dear Heloise:

When sewing a dress, try placing the side zipper in upside down. It's easier to zip up in a hurry and that little metal tab doesn't rub on the inside of your arm.

I like mine much better when put in this way.

Alice Davis

Dear Heloise:

When wallpaper becomes loose at the seams, just apply a little glue to a piece of thin cardboard. Then slip it under the unstuck edge and rub it up and down to smear the glue.

After removing the cardboard, press and rub the loose paper with a paper towel. It will smooth out, excess glue will be wiped up and the wallpaper will be stuck again.

Shaping Up for the Short Skirts

The days are getting shorter and so are the skirts. Whoever thought the miniskirt was a one-season fad just didn't know his hemlines — or his fashion-minded women. Unfortunately, there are still some women who persist in wearing miniskirts in spite of their maxilisks. As one TV comedian put it, "For every Twiggy there seems to be 10 Biggys."

Shaping up for the fall and winter fashions is going to be complicated, not only by the high rise hem but by the return of the waistline. The shift that covered up the calories won't be worn as much. Unmistakably it is going to be a diet and exercise season for many of us.

One of the best leg and hip slimming exercises is bicycle riding. If this is impractical, the make-believe bike ride, done while lying on the floor, the legs propelling imaginary pedals, is next best. The "leg over" stretch exercise is also recommended for eliminating flab of the waist, thighs and hips. Lying prone on the floor, swing the legs alternately over the other. Try to touch the floor with the toes. Stretch as far as possible while keeping the hips on the floor.

Ankles and calves respond to the "toe dance" exercise. Stand erect and raise the body on the balls of both feet. Shift the

Wardrobe of Watches

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—What

kind of fashion does a woman want in a fine watch? A list of styles that sell best in the one way of answering that question. But because they felt that people would naturally be choosing just from what is available while they may prefer something altogether different, the style-research bureau of a famous watch company (Omega) decided to question potential buyers.

Five thousand women whose husbands earned $10,000 or more a year were questioned concerning the style of wrist watch they liked for various occasions. Answers were analyzed and the results of the survey proved of exceptional benefit in styling the company's new line.

For casual wear the majority preferred a square or rectangular gold watch with a large-size case and a clear, easy-to-read dial with a smooth suede or textured alligator strap. The watch desired most was one "almost" as large as a man's.

For dressy daytime a gold watch with a gold bracelet was preferred to a watch with a cord. A round or oval watch was equally as desirable as a square or rectangle for both daytime and evening.

Many of those questioned wanted a bracelet watch with the face concealed by a lift-up coverlid—a watch that resembled a fine bracelet. But for evening, the coverlid bracelet watch that got the most votes was one with a splash of diamonds on both the lid and the links of the bracelet.

There are still many women who want diamond-encased watches with a simple black cord to enhance the wrist. As one woman put it, "The diamonds take on more sparkle when they're shown off with a simple black cord."

Annual Republican Women's Conference

Launching a national effort to encourage more Republican women to run for public office, the 15th annual Republican Women's Conference will focus attention on women in state offices as it spotlights the Party's VIP women in the opening session in Chicago.

The Steering committee for the conference is made up of the Republican National Committee woman from each state involved and the state vice-chairman, president of the State Women's Republican Clubs, who are, respectively, from New York State: Mrs. Keith McHugh, Mrs. John A. Rogalin.

Northeastern Regional Conference Chairman for New York State is Mrs. Irving M. Granowitz of Port Chester.

The conference, as it moves from Chicago to Little Rock to Boston, October 15-17 and to Denver, will also place increased emphasis on a program of precinct and community "involvement" for Republican women.

Republican women, state legislators and key elected women officials will conduct conference seminars on "How to Become a Winning Candidate" at the first such program ever conducted by key women state officials on a national level.

The responsibilities and effectiveness of women in state legislatures in the area of legislation affecting home, family and community will be discussed by the women panelists who share a special interest in health, education and tax problems in their states.

Four State Senators and two Representatives will take part in the Northeast Regional Conference session in Boston. Continuing notes on the vast problems affecting their states will be Senators Margaret Manning, Delaware; Louise Gove, Maryland; Edith Gardner, New Hampshire; and Dorothy Shea, Vermont. Representatives Marion Fuller Brown, Maine and Marian Markey, Pennsylvania, complete the Boston panel to be chaired by Mrs. Brown of Maine.

Assistant Republican National Chairman Mary Brooks, who is an Idaho State Senator, will preside at the Fifteenth Annual Republican Women's Conference.

Gefullte Fish Souffle for Holy Days

GEFULTE FISH in tasty souffle.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

The High Holy Days, the 10 most solemn days of the Jewish Year, begins Oct. 5th, Rosh Hashanah, also known as the Day of Judgment, is celebrated for the first two days. The shofar, made from a ram's horn, plays such an important part on Rosh Hashanah that the day is known as the Day of Blowing. It is heard during the morning and afternoon services of the Holy Days.

Rosh Hashanah at home starts just before sundown when the mother lights the candles. The dinner table is set with a cup and wine decanter and two loaves of Challah, with ladders or birds on top, symbolic of the hope that prayers may ascend on high. There are also a bowl of honey and a dish of nuts on the table.

The following recipe is made with a new Gefullte fish packed in 15 1/2-ounce glass jars and endorsed by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congrega-

GEFULTE FISH SOUFFLE
1 tablespoon unsalted soft margarine
1/2 cup finely chopped fresh mushrooms
1/4 cup flour
1 cup fish broth
1/2 cup skimmed milk or vegetable broth
4 egg yolks
1 jar (15 1/2 ounces) unsalted Gefullte fish
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
1/4 teaspoon pepper (optional)

Melt margarine and saute mushrooms until wilted. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in broth drained from fish and skimmed milk. Cook over low heat, while stirring until sauce bubbles and thickens. Cool slightly. Beat in egg yolks. Mash drained fish until very smooth and fold into sauce. Fold in egg whites and salt and pepper. Pour mixture into a heavily greased 5-cup souffle dish. Set dish into a pan holding 1 inch of water. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 50 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once with a crisp salad. Four to six servings.

Add milk to recipe if a dairy dish can be served. Use vegetable broth for a pareve dish. This souffle is good also served cold with horseradish. It has a pate consistency and could also be served as a spread on low-calorie crackers or bread.

Doing the Right Thing

of the Emily Post Institute
ON THE USE OF THE
TITLE "DOCTOR"

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Dr. Walter T. Schoen, Dean of Rockland Community College, Suffern, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Post: I was interested to read your recent column concerning the use of the title "Doctor." I can speak only for myself, but I believe that my thinking represents the thinking of many persons who also possess an earned doctorate.

May I first suggest that the distinction between an earned doctorate and an honorary doctorate is much more important than your column suggested. I do not believe your response clearly indicated that this important distinction does exist. Certainly no logical person who possesses an honorary degree would wish to be addressed either in a social or a professional situation as "Doctor."

I would suggest, however, that an earned doctorate does present a different set of circumstances. Most of us who possess it have worked long and hard, and it is traditional at most colleges and universities to respect the holder of the doctorate by using the formal title in address. This practice is followed not only in the formal professional setting, but in a social setting as well.

Rather than the distinction you suggested between the medical degree and the philosophy degree, perhaps you might consider a different type of distinction. Most of us make a distinction based upon the social setting rather than the type of degree. For example, in a social setting where first names are appropriate, "Jim" is not only appropriate but is expected. In a social setting where any title is used, however, including the familiar "Mr." or "Miss," most of us agree that the appropriate form of address is "Doctor."

I hope that you would be willing to at least consider the belief that most of us have, that the formal title is the courteous one.

WALTER T. SCHOEN Jr.
Ph.D.
Dean

Dear Dr. Schoen: Thank you for your excellent letter. It will clearly for my readers the distinction in addressing holders of earned, as opposed to, honorary degrees. I happily accept your suggestions concerning use of the title in various settings.

Unitas Leads Colts Over 'Frisco, 41-7

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The blonde flanker back in the blue and white miniskirt feints a corner back out of position and daintily gathers in a perfect pass from Johnny Unitas.

What, Johnny Unitas—The Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts—playing football with the girls?

Of course not. It's just a vision—the kind San Francisco coach Jack Christiansen had after the great quarterback dazzled the 49ers and led the Colts to a 41-7 victory in a National Football League game Sunday.

As long as the Colts have Unitas, they could play nine or 10 girls and still beat other teams," Christiansen said.

Bratkowski Reliever
Starr, who had nine passes intercepted, compared to three all last season, as the Packers tied and won in their first two games, was forced out of action in the first period of Sunday's game with Atlanta by a strained muscle in his throwing arm.

Zeke Bratkowski came in to lead the Packers to a 23-0 victory.

In other NFL games, Los Angeles smashed Dallas 35-13, St. Louis upset Detroit 38-28, Washington outlasted New York 38-34, Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 34-24, Cleveland trounced New Orleans 42-7 and Chicago got past Minnesota 17-7.

"He gets better all the time. He's the greatest quarterback I've ever seen," Christiansen said after watching Unitas complete 22 of 37 passes for 353 yards and two touchdowns as the Colts built their record to 3-0.

San Francisco, now 2-1, didn't score until late in the third quarter when John Brodie hit Dave Parks with a 10-yard pass.

When asked how serious the injury to Starr was, Packer Coach Vince Lombardi snapped: "How should I know?"

Blanda's Three FGs Aid Oakland, 23-21

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Blanda isn't ready for that rocking chair quite yet, thank you.

Football's grand old gray-beard proved that Sunday when he booted three long field goals that helped Oakland's ambitious Raiders upset Kansas City, the American Football League's defending champions, 23-21.

It was an oldtime performance for the 39-year-old Blanda, who played his first professional football game when Harry Truman was president and Joe Namath had just started grade school.

Blanda, crowded out by younger men at Houston, is a bit elderly to be dodging blitzing linebackers at his old quarterback slot. But he can still kick a football, and after all, that's what the game is all about.

So Blanda hooked on with the Raiders and came in handy Sunday with field goals of 31, 33 and 42 yards as Oakland stunned the Chiefs. It was Kansas City's first loss to an AFL opponent in almost one year and the last time the Chiefs were beaten in their own league, Oakland also did the job.

Namath Is Hot

In other AFL games Sunday, Namath, who is no longer in grade school, passed for 415 yards and broke a league record as New York dropped Miami 29-7. San Diego, led by rookie running back Dick Post, ripped Buffalo 31-17, and Houston won

Bedlam Breaks Loose After Win Over Twins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg went to a lot of trouble trying to shake his Fenway Park jinx . . . and wound up losing his shirt.

It was the best thing that's ever happened to Gentleman Jim in Boston . . . and the finest moment for the Red Sox in 21 years.

Frenzied fans ripped the shirt off Lonborg's back in a wild demonstration of affection Sunday after the big right-hander teamed with sensational Carl Yastrzemski to lead the Red Sox past Minnesota 5-3 and bring Boston its first American League pennant since 1918.

"It was sheer mania," said Lonborg, whose seven-hit victory over the slugging Twins—coupled with an 8-5 Detroit loss to California—put the Red Sox over the top on the frantic final day of the zaniest pennant race in history.

"Fantastic! Fantastic!" shouted Yastrzemski, the Triple Crown strongboy whose third of four straight hits helped Boston overtake the Twins with a five-run sixth inning burst and complete one of baseball's most dramatic comeback sagas . . . a drive from ninth place in 1966 to a World Series berth opposite St. Louis' National League champs.

The Red Sox went into the climactic weekend set with Minnesota needing a two-game sweep to avert elimination.

They won 6-4 on Saturday as Yastrzemski poled his 44th homer and knocked in four runs. And they won Sunday behind Lonborg, who had won 21 games but was only 7-5 in his home park . . . and who failed to beat the Twins in six career decisions including three this year.

Lonborg was taking no chances in his effort to end the Fenway hex. He spent Saturday night at a hotel, using teammate Ken Harrelson's room, instead of staying at his own apartment in Boston.

"Maybe I was being superstitious, thinking about any hex at Fenway," he said. "I figured I'd stay in a hotel and pretend I was on the road."

"When I woke up this morning I felt great. I felt I was going to win."

Lonborg's "great" feeling disappeared early in the finale as the Twins pushed over a pair of unearned runs and led 2-0 going into the sixth.

"Then all hell broke loose," Dick Williams, the Sox' first-year manager, recalled happily.

The loss dropped the Twins onto a second-place deadlock with the Tigers, who won their doubleheader opener 6-4 before being ousted by the giant-killing Angels. Minnesota and Detroit finished one game . . . and just six percentage points . . . behind the Red Sox whose winning .568 mark was the lowest in AL history.

Washington knocked off the Chicago White Sox 4-3, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 4-0 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 4-3 in other AL finales.

In National League play, St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 5-2 in its first Series tune-up while second place San Francisco ripped Philadelphia 2-1. Pittsburgh thumped Houston 10-3, Cincinnati buried the Chicago Cubs 10-3 and Los Angeles shaded the New York Mets 2-1.

Cy Young Candidate

Lonborg, who completed his third major league campaign with a 22-9 mark and a good shot at the Cy Young Award as the AL's outstanding pitcher, ignited Boston's sixth inning explosion with a bunt single off Minnesota ace Dean Chance.

"The bunt was my own idea," he said. "It was the first thing I thought about when I went to the plate."

Singles by Jerry Adair and Dalton Jones then filled the bases before Yastrzemski drilled a two-run single to center, tying the score. "I kept telling myself 'Don't go for the home run, go for the base hit,'" said the Boston slugger, who topped the league with a .326 average and 121 runs batted in and tied Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for the home run crown with 44.

Yaz' hit chased Chance and Harrelson greeted reliever Al Worthington with a high hopper to shortstop Zoilo Versalles, whose throw to the plate was late as Jones scored the go-ahead run. Two wild pitches sent Yastrzemski home and Jose Tartabull scored the final run in the inning when first baseman Killebrew booted Reggie Smith's grounder.

Staid Boston Flips Lid

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Thanks to Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Lonborg, staid old Boston has flipped its lid over the Boston Red Sox's first pennant in 21 years.

He also named Lonborg to pitch the second game Thursday in Boston, Lee Stange, who would have faced the Tigers today if a playoff had been necessary, was shuttled to bullpen obscurity.

Thousands milled around ancient Fenway Park, chanting "we're No. 1" and "we want Yaz" Sunday night, three hours after the Red Sox had beaten Minnesota 5-3.

Each pitch of Detroit's second game defeat by California, 8-5, was followed by the anxious Red Sox, who waited in the clubhouse for the final out that would eliminate any possibility of a playoff.

New Rochelle Gains 24-7 Triumph Over KHS

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

The program lists him as 150 pounds but halfback Art Lloyd of New Rochelle must have seemed like a runaway freight train Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Lloyd broke the heart of the KHS team with a 72-yard touchdown gallop in the third period. He added another score early in the fourth session as the Huguenots stopped the home gridders, 24-7, before a sun drenched crowd of 1,500.

The second half comeback by the Westchesterites spoiled what would have been a good homecoming appearance by coach Bill Hurley's young eleven.

A second quarter touchdown by quarterback Mike Hoffman plus Tim Bowens' extra point had more than offset quarterback Steve Marchese's short plunge in the opening session.

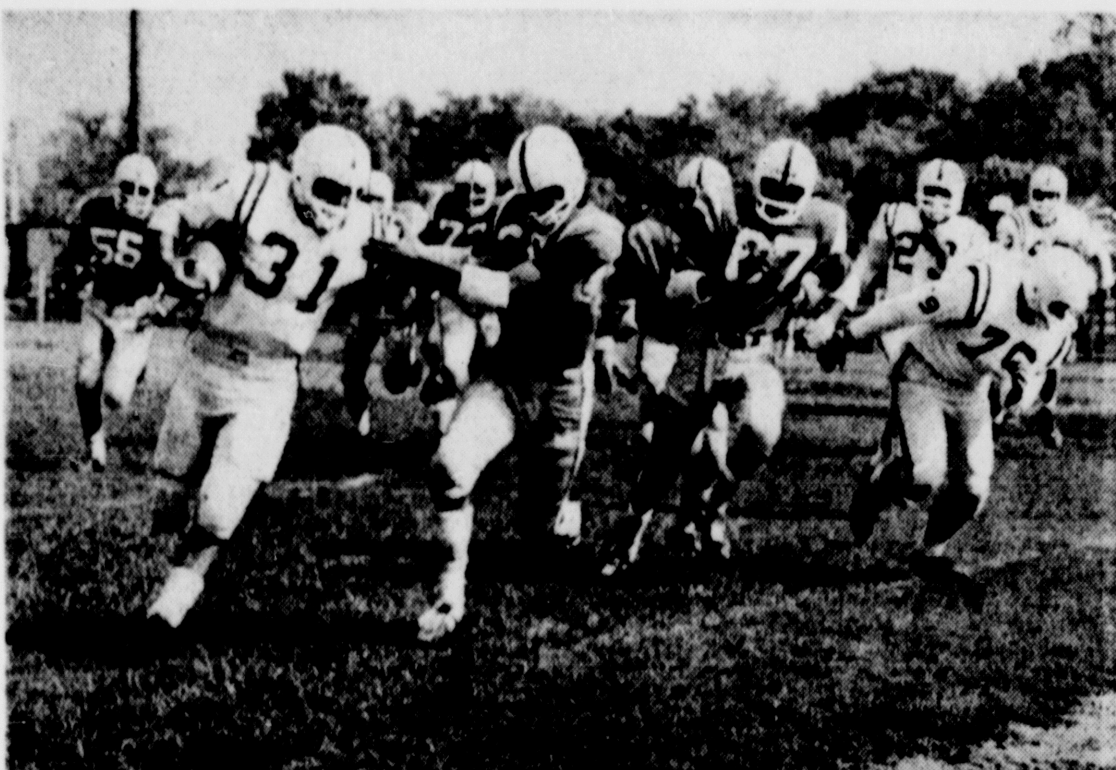

But, Lloyd ignited the fuse in the third quarter and the visitors dominated most of the half.

Quick Touchdown

It took coach Lou Amosson's club only 2:30 of the opening period to hit paydirt. As was the case last week against Vincentian, it was a KHS mistake which led to the score.

After picking up a pair of first downs, the home club lost the pigskin as halfback Marshall Byrd fumbled. It was recovered by Sticky Stewart on the K 38.

Runs by Lloyd and Marchese

STRAIGHT ARM — Kingston High's Greg Rios straight arms a would-be tackler as he runs for a first down in first quarter Saturday against New Rochelle. The Westchester County team rallied in the second half to post a 24-7 win at Dietz Stadium. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Lloyd picked up 13 yards and then late in the opening period, Lloyd bulled his way for 18 yards to the seven. Two plays later, Marchese followed his blockers over from the one. Lloyd was stopped on his attempt for the extra point.

after putting the ball in play on the 26. Two passes by Marchese—one to halfback Steve Middletown and the other to Greg Gary—netted two first downs. Lloyd cracked for another.

But, with the ball within striking distance of the KHS goal, on the 23, the Huguenots were assessed with a trio of 15 yard penalties.

Holland Recovery
Finally, with less than four minutes of the half remaining, defensive ace Joe Holland pounced on a fumble on the NR 14, giving the locals a solid chance. They didn't fail to capitalize on it.

After Bowens cracked to the 10, a pass interference moved the ball to the five. From there, Hoffman moved it over. Bowens then booted the PAT and the locals went into the dressing room in front, 7-6.

Hopes for that initial win were dashed early in the third quarter. After Rios had gotten away a nifty 43 yard punt to the NR 28, Lloyd took a pitch-out from Marchese, headed for the right sidelines and raced 72 yards to paydirt. He didn't even get his uniform messed. A pass for the extra point was picked off by Byrd.

Still very much in contention, the KHS squad moved for a pair of first downs with Hoffman passing for 18 yards to Russ Wilber and Bowens hitting for 10 on a drive up the middle.

SURE TACKLE — Fullback Lou Chambers of New Rochelle is dropped by defensive end Jon Meiers of Kingston High Saturday in the annual battle between the schools at Dietz Stadium. Chambers was one of the leading ground gainers for the Huguenots in their 24-7 decision. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

But, another fumble thwarted this bid. Clearwater lost the ball after hitting the line and the Huguenots recovered on their 16. A third period drive was climaxed by Lloyd's 13-yard scamper early in the fourth stanza. A blocked punt led to the fourth TD. The pigskin was blocked on the 31 and New Rochelle recovered on the KHS 28. Bob Howard was the boy who carried it over. He took a pitchout on the 15 and received a big block from Russ Inerra to score standing up. The game ended moments later with the ball at midfield in possession of the winning side.

Much Improvement
Despite the loss, the KHS eleven showed vast improvement over their first game performance. In fact, if it were not for the early bobbles, the story could have been much different.

Kingston is idle this week but will play at Port Jervis on Saturday night, Oct. 14 in a DUSO encounter.

Onteora Nips Highland, 14-7; Rondout Triumphs

Pass Plays Key Factors In Decision

Onteora Central's undefeated Indians dominated the early action then held on to defeat an inspired Highland High eleven, 14-7, in perfect autumn weather Saturday at Boiceville.

Two 18-yard pass plays from Quarterback Mickey Bush to halfback George Colon were key factors in the Onteora win, as Coach Paul Jordan's squad won its second straight UCAL victory and set the stage for next Saturday's climactic clash at Rondout Valley.

The first Bush-Colon 18-yarder climaxed a 35-yard touchdown march by the Indians after a Highland punt traveled only 13 yards to the visitors' 13. John Stouthoff kicked the first of two extra points to put Onteora ahead 7-0.

Adsit Scores
The Indians capitalized on another poor Highland punt to set up a 40-yard TD drive. Bush hit Colon for 18 from the Highland 31 to the 13. Paul Murray raced 10 to the 3 and fullback John Adsit slammed off the left side for the second. Stouthoff's second placement put Onteora ahead, 14-0, at the half.

A questionable call on a fumble and crucial offside penalty against Onteora helped Highland march 62 yards in 11 plays for its only touchdown in the third period.

A fumble by fullback Charlie Hicks of the Highlanders appeared to have been recovered by Mike Patrick but the officials ruled the play dead on the OCS 11. The Indians drew an offside penalty to the 7 two plays later, then Hicks went in on a cutback for the touchdown. Cos Trapani kicked the extra point to make it 14-7 and that's where it ended.

Interception Halts Bid
A fluke pass interception in the end zone by Highland's Pat Gaffney snuffed out an OCS touchdown threat in the 4th quarter that started on the Highland 47 when an onside kick attempt fizzled.

After recovering his own fumble on the 14, Bush tried to hit George Colon in the end zone but the ball was deflected by halfback Lee Barrington into the arms of Patrick Gaffney, a guard, in the end zone.

The Indians marched 64 yards in the last 4 minutes and were pounding on the 2 when time ran out.

Bush had a good day, completing 9 of 13 pass attempts for 100 yards and the Indians gained 177 on the ground for a total offense of 277 yards. Highland picked up 109 rushing but only completed one pass for 11 yards.

Arlington Crushes SHS

Arlington cashed in on six Saugerties fumbles, four of them inside the 20-yard line, to hand the Sawyers a crushing, 26-0 defeat Saturday at Cantine Field.

Dave Feroe, Arlington's fullback scored three touchdowns for the Admirals, two from four yards out, one from the five.

The defending DCSL champions' quarterback Steve Page-netti, who seldom had to go to the air, hit Richie Miller with an 11-yarder for the other Arlington score.

The Admirals took an early lead after an exchange of fumbles which gave them the ball on the Saugerties 18-yard line. With only four minutes gone in the game Feroe crashed across from the four. He also scored the extra point.

The first half went quickly as there were no penalties and only two pass attempts. Saugerties trailed by only seven points at halftime.

Line Is Difference
The big quick Arlington line told the tale in the second half, opening up gaping holes for the Admiral backs who grabbed yardage at nine and ten yard clips.

The Saugerties secondary, mainly Roger Praetorius, Carl Nickerson, and Tony Konopka managed to keep Arlington from any long gainers.

Touchdowns by Feroe and Miller in the third quarter iced the game for the visitors.

Konopka was one of the few things the Saugerties fans had to cheer about. He ran well out of his fullback position, picking up 17 yards on two separate runs. On defense he was often the only man between an Arlington runner and a sure touchdown.

Saugerties coach Fred Seither, in a prediction Wednesday on the game, probably summed up Saturday's one-sided contest when he said, "Arlington has always had big boys in the line but they had a tendency toward slowness. In recent years they've come up with some big, fast lines. I expect a real tough game." It was.

At Lourdes Next
Saugerties travels to Our Lady of Lourdes in Poughkeepsie next Saturday in another DCSL game. Lourdes is 2-0 in league play, having beaten Beacon and Roosevelt.

Arlington takes on Beacon in a league game Saturday at the Admiral park in Freedom Plains.

Saugerties is now 0-2 for the season, having dropped their opener to Christian Brothers in an Albany game, 14-12. Arlington is now 1-1, having also lost its opener, 20-7 to Newburgh.

Red Hook Tops SHS Harriers
Despite the absence of seven top runners, the powerful Red Hook cross country team easily defeated visiting Saugerties 15-46, to remain unbeaten with three straight wins.

Steve Dapic of the Hookers toured the 2.5 mile course in 13:44 to beat teammate Pete Collins by 15 seconds. The hosts picked up the first five places in the one-sided meet.

Seven runners from Coach Pete Lawson's squad participated in the annual Grout Memorial run Saturday in Schoenectady. The Hookers finished second in Class C and were ninth in the over all standings. There were 29 teams entered in the annual meet.

Good Defense Leads Ganders To 39-0 Win

Rondout's high flying Ganders outhrew their defensive skills Saturday and walloped Pine Bush, 39-0, in a UCAL grid tilt at the losers' field.

The unbeaten Ganders scored three of their touchdowns as the result of defensive plays. Quarterback John Meehan, who passed for two scores, recovered a blocked punt in the end zone; Tom Frazier went 30 yards with a recovered fumble and cornerback Bob Harrison intercepted a pass and moved it 18 yards to pay dirt.

Gordie Taylor, who has scored at least three touchdowns in each start, maintained his pace.

The swift halfback took passes of 58 and 35 yards from Meehan for two of his TDs. His other came on a 26 yard run. Meehan completed six of 11 passes for 167 yards. Taylor carried only 10 times but he gained 68 yards.

Rondout was also credited with a safety when a snap from center sailed over the PB punters' head and out of the end zone.

With three straight victories, including two in the UCAL under their belts, the Ganders entertained Onteora in a league headliner this Saturday.

Pick Alvin Dark To Manage Tribe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Alvin Dark was named manager of the Cleveland Indians today, replacing Joe Adcock.

General Manager Gabe Paul announced the appointment at a news conference.

When the 45-year-old Dark became available after being released in Kansas City a few weeks ago, Paul said it offered an opportunity he "couldn't afford to overlook."

Marlboro Gridders Top New Paltz, 26-6

Marlboro, scoring single touchdowns in the second and fourth and a pair in the third quarter, Saturday crushed New Paltz 26-6.

New Paltz's lone tally came early in the second quarter on a 26 yard TD pass from quarterback Bill Bond to end Dana Otis.

After a scoreless first quarter, Marlboro's Dukes evened the score at 6 to 6 on a six yard run by fullback Billy Giametta. In the third quarter Chuck Peterson slashed four yards for a tally and later reserve Bill Partington broke loose for 35 yards, marking the score 19 to 6.

The game was put on ice when Peterson broke through tacklers in the middle of the fourth quarter and ran 17 yards for another score. The extra point was added.

Despite the lopsided score, the Dukes only managed a total offense of 55 yards, compared to New Paltz's 79. But the home team could never get going.

The game was the second Ulster County Athletic League clash for both teams. Marlboro now stands 2-0. New Paltz has yet to win.

Middies Edge Mt. Vernon, 14-7
Middletown overcame a 7-0 first half deficit to score in each of the final two periods to turn back Mt. Vernon, 14-7, in a defensive struggle Saturday at the losers' gridiron.

Bill Clemmer, the hard driving senior, scored both TDs for the Middies. He bulled his way to paydirt from the two in the third quarter and ran around end from three yards out in the fourth stanza. Dick Field made both extra points.

Mt. Vernon scored in the second quarter but was then stymied by the front line of the visitors.

It was the second straight verdict for the defending DUSO champions.

Crusader Gridders Overpower Cohoes Olympiads, 33-7

Slim Crowd Turns Out At Stadium

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Encouraged by an upswing in public recognition during the week, the Hudson Valley Crusaders returned to Dietz Stadium Sunday night determined to put on their best show of the season.

They did. They clobbered the previously undefeated Cohoes Olympiads (3-0), 33 to 7 in an awesome display of running power.

And where were the new fans? They just didn't show despite all the ballyhoo during the week. If there was any lingering doubt as to the futile fight the Crusaders are waging every Sunday night at Dietz, it removed last night.

Less than 400 of the buffs showed in perfect football weather. But those who did show were rewarded with the Crusaders' finest hour.

Explosive Sequence

In one explosive 5-minute sequence in the third period they scored three touchdowns, after riding to a 13-7 lead in tough first half.

A brilliantly executed 49-yard pass play from Gar Withers to Murray Mulligan set up the first touchdown in the opening quarter. It carried to the Cohoes 10 and on 4th down full-back Clarence Wright bolted over from the 5 for the score.

Bob Stevenson blocked a Cohoes punt on the updaters' 15 in the second. Dave Mallory skirted right end to the 2 and Wright crashed over for his second TD. Bob Tracey's placement was good for a 13-0 lead.

Cohoes' only score followed on the next kickoff. Halfback Al Mango gathered Tracey's kick on the 15 and galloped 85 yards up the right sideline for the touchdown. Jerry Sickness picked the extra point. That was the only offense gestured by the Olympiads who wound up with minus yardage. That third period onslaught by the Crusaders was a sight to behold.

Mulligan Starts It

It started with Murray Mulligan skirting left end for 35 yards and a TD on perfectly executed double reverse. Tracey kicked the extra point to make it 20-7.

Crusaders kicked to Cohoes and on second down on the 15, Rocky LaFalce intercepted a pass and zoomed into the end zone. Tracey missed the kick.

Another kickoff and on first down, defensive tackle John Harris recovered a Cohoes fumble on the 26. Sullivan passed to Lou Johnson on the 10. Mallory slammed to the 5 and Roger Myrick crashed over from the 5. Tracey's kick was good for a 33-7 lead, giving the Crusaders three touchdowns within 5 minutes.

There was no scoring in a bitterly contested fourth period but there was a bit of fisticuffs with both benches rushing into the fray. One over-zealous youngster hurled a beer can into the milling mob and was hauled off by the local gendarmes.

Bob Tracey, the kicking expert who missed last week's game, returned with a boom. He averaged 46 yards on three kicks.

The Crusaders go at it again next Sunday at 6:30 p. m. with or without spectators, it seems.

Lineups:
Crusaders: E-Johnson, T-Harris, C-Vona, C-Mostachetti, G-Smith, T-Marioles, E-Cramer, QB-Withers, HB-Mulligan, HB-Mallory, FB-Wright.
Olympiads: H-V. Wright (5-yard run), Wright (2-yd. run, Tracey kick), O. Mango (85-yard punt return, Sickness kick), H-V. Mulligan (35-yard reverse), LaFalce (int. pass, 15-yards), Myrick (5-yard run, Tracey kick).

Purdue Gains Attention After Upset of Notre Dame

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California, UCLA and surprising Houston have emerged as the dominant factors in an upset-filled college football season, replacing Notre Dame, Michigan State and Alabama as the Big Three.

And Purdue, sparked by sophomore quarterback Mike Phipps, is making a major bid for attention, offering a 28-21 upset of mighty Notre Dame as its chief claim to fame.

"He's going to be a great one," Purdue Coach Jack Molenkopf said of his quarterback after Phipps had passed for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion Saturday as the Boilermakers handed the top-ranked Irish their first defeat since Nov. 20, 1965 and jumbled the national ratings.

The Boilermakers were ranked No. 10 going in, but are a most certain to advance, along with the two Los Angeles powers and Houston, No. 3, 14-12, North Carolina State took which scored a 50-6 rout of Wake Forest Friday.

Trojans Nip MSU
Southern California, No. 2, got another stellar performance from O. J. Simpson and scored its second straight impressive decision, handing Michigan State its second loss, 21-17. Simpson ran for 190 yards and two touchdowns and passed for another score.

Sport Club Scores, 4-0

Walt Grasmier scored three goals and assisted in the other as the Kingston Sport Club blanked West New York, 4-0, in a German-American League soccer game Sunday at the losers' field.

Gene Ventriglia, the former All-American ace from New Paltz, got the locals off and winging with a goal at the five minute mark. Grasmier gave him the pass and Gene did the rest.

The rest was all Grasmier. He tallied at the 17:00 mark, followed with another at 25 minutes, with an assist from Ventriglia and finished with his third tally at 30 minutes.

West New York had permitted only three goals in its previous games but the home side couldn't cope with the speed and finesse of the winners. The Sport Club will return home for three straight contests beginning with a meeting with the Lithuania this Sunday at Oehler's Mt. Lodge.

Highland Tops OCS Harriers

Despite a record by Craig Hubbell, the green Ontario cross country team lost a 20-36 UCAL decision Saturday to visiting Highland.

Hubbell, the ace of the OCS squad, was timed in 10 minutes, 5 seconds for the two miles. He had the previous mark of 10:22.

Purdue Gains Attention After Upset of Notre Dame

And UCLA, No. 4, made a big bid with a whopping 51-23 rout of Washington State behind the one-two punch of Gary Beban and Greg Jones. Beban passed for one touchdown and ran for one, while Jones scampered for two more.

Alabama, jarred out of its No. 2 spot by a tie last week, and now No. 9, came back with a 25-3 decision over Southern Mississippi, reinstated quarterback Kenny Stabler passing for three touchdowns.

Texas Upset
Texas, No. 8, suffered its second straight loss, a 19-13 upset, at the hands of Texas Tech, Kin Binyard kicked field goals of 37 and 54 yards, while John Scovell ran for one touchdown and 175 yards, and passed for another for the Red Raiders.

In some other major upsets, Arizona beat Ohio State 14-7, Arizona State crushed Wisconsin 42-16, Tulsa edged Arkansas 24-12, North Carolina State took Florida State 20-10, Tulane whipped North Carolina 36-11, Louisiana State defeated Texas A&M 17-6 and Rice turned back Navy 21-7.

Georgia, No. 5, and Nebraska, No. 7, ran their records to 2-0. Georgia taking Clemson 24-17 and Nebraska holding off Minnesota 7-0. Sixth-ranked Colorado was not scheduled.

Buffalo Scores, 3-2, Over State U. Booters

Buffalo State, the pre-season choice to win honors in the State University of New York (SUNYAC) Athletic Conference, scored the tie breaking goal with 4:06 remaining to nip the Hawks of New Paltz State, 3-2, in the soccer opener for both clubs Saturday at the upstate school.

Coach Bob Durkin's debut as New Paltz head coach wasn't successful from the won-lost standpoint but his team gave the home side a good scrap.

Buffalo scored in the opening session when Andre Gorzynski beat goalie Tony DeLuca. IR — Kane, CP — Mountz, IL — Kuhut, OR — Yunis.

After Roman Kucil had put the winners in front, 2-0, with a second period goal, Pete Kane of the Hawks tallied, with an assist from Dan Greaves. In the third period, Angelo Targia of the visitors scored with a direct shot just outside the penalty area to make it a 2-2 game.

With time running out, Guy Bonfiglio crossed over from the right and booted the ball into the left corner of the net to score the clincher.

Port Triumphs Over Pius X

Garrett Hill tallied a pair of touchdowns and Port Jervis defeated Pius X, 20-7, in non-league football tussle Saturday at Glennette Field in the Orange County village.

Hill, one of the most explosive runners in the star-studded PJ backfield, put his team on the scoreboard in the first quarter. His three yard slant climaxed a 50-yard drive.

Mike Gould added another score in that session. He carried the pigskin in from three yards out and Carl DeGroat booted the extra point.

The visitors struck back in the third quarter with quarterback John Diorio going 15 yards and then adding the point.

Port responded with a drive, climaxed by Hill's 24-yard scamper. DeGroat's placement boot put the finishing touch on the triumph.

The Raiders are now 2-0 to date. They entertain Kingston High in a DUSO game Saturday, Oct. 14, 8 p. m.

Clark Scores At Watkins Glen

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—Scottish whiz kid Jim Clark cannot win the 1967 World Driver's Championship but by scoring a victory in Sunday's U. S. Grand Prix, he maintains the suspense over who will wind up with the trophy.

Clark averaged a record 120.95 miles per hour to win this race for the third time and the second year in a row. And he still delayed until the season's finale three weeks hence the outcome of the 1967 driver's competition.

Finishing third in the 248-mile race, Denis Hulme of New Zealand gained four points to tighten his grip on the lead over his boss and teammate Australian Jack Brabham.

DCSL Roundup

Poughkeepsie Scores, 35-0

Scoring in every period, the powerful Pioneers of Poughkeepsie overwhelmed winless Roosevelt, 35-0, in a DCSL mismatch Saturday at the Hyde Park field.

Coach Don Smith's eleven, frustrated after its scoreless week before with Wappingers, had single touchdowns in the first and fourth periods, scored three times in the second quarter and picked up a safety in the third stanza. Nigel Davis had two of the PHS scores. He ran 16 yards in the second period and cut in from a yard away in the fourth quarter.

A 48 yard effort by Bill Green, a 23 yard run by half-back Charlie Ellis, quarterback Bob Schiller's one yard drive and a poor FDR snap which sailed out of the end zone, completed the scoring.

So dominant was the Poughkeepsie defense, that the losers finished with -32 yards on the ground. It was a long afternoon.

Lourdes Rips Beacon, 19-6

After losing eight straight games a year ago, the Warriors of Our Lady of Lourdes have started this season with a pair of upset victories.

Coach Dick Beams' eleven made it two straight with a 19-6 DCSL verdict Saturday at Beacon.

The winners spotted the Bulldogs a first period score, knotted the count before half-time and then scored 13 points in the final half to win going away.

A blocked punt led to a Lourdes score in the second quarter. Quarterback Tim Gartland collaborated with end Billy O'Neill with an 11-yard strike. This tied the game at 6-6.

In the third session, Gartland hit O'Neill with a short flare pass. The big end later-ally to Bobby Mills, who scampered all the way to complete a 53-yard play. Mike Ertis booted the extra point.

The Warriors had a pair of touchdowns called back before striking again late in the game. Ertis reached paydirt from the three to insure the triumph.

Lourdes is now 2-0 in circuit play while Beacon, which beat Cardinal Farley in its opener, has a 1-1 record.

Remodeled Library to Open In December; List 34 New Editions

"I am more than pleased with the way things are progressing," reported Frances Rogers, building committee chairman, to the Woodstock Library's Board of Trustees at a recent meeting.

She noted that the building contractor has stated that "We are on schedule." Problems such as a live spring in the basement and the removal of a large wall, which was not included in the contract price, have been solved.

The remodeled library is scheduled to re-open in December. A sketch of the "new" library, as well as the architect's renderings and drawings, are on display in the window of the Woodstock branch of the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties.

Results of this past summer's Library Fair were compared with those of other years. The book table continues to be the biggest attraction at the fair. This year, books netted the fair about $2,000 of its $7,100 profit.

Carolyn Wilson reported that the Woodstock Historical Society is now in possession of the book: The Foundation Directory, Edition 2, Walton and Lewis; Complete Guide to Everyday Law, Samuel Kling; Famous First Facts, Joseph N. Kane; The Guinness Book of World Records; Twentieth Century Authors, Kunita & Haycraft, 1st supplementary edition; Granger's Supplement to 5th Edition of Granger's Index to Poetry; National Geographic Clasp; Biographical Travelogue Scrapbook, Album, Europe and Israel, by Klein and Reader.

The following books have been purchased with regular library funds:

A New Lease of Death, by Rencell; A Most Private Intrigue, Leo Rosten; All Men Are Lonely Now, F. Clifford; Brothers in Arms, H. H. Kirs; Children of Crisis, R. Coles; American Omnibus, G. Simenon; Curfew, D. R. Burnett; Flying Finish, Francis Dick; Nabokov; His Life in Art, Andrew Field; Our Crowd: Great Jewish Families, S. Birmingham; The Devil Drives (Life of Burton), Fawn Brodie; The Difficulty of Being, Jean Cocteau; The Life that Late He Led, George Eels; The King of the Castle, Victoria Holt; The New Industrial State, K. Galbraith; The War Years, 1939-1945, H. Nicholson.

Rally Day Held At Local Church

HIGH FALLS — Church School sessions were resumed at the Reformed Church last Sunday with Rally Day services. More than 100 registered for the first Sunday. Sessions begin at 8:45 a. m. and all may attend.

The following teachers and officers were dedicated at the morning worship hour by the Rev. Bernard Luben. Mrs. William Patow, superintendent; Mrs. Robert Hornbeck primary department superintendent and teacher; Mrs. Earl Stokes, secretary; Mrs. Elvin Schoonmaker, treasurer; Mrs. Myron Boice, director of music; Mrs. Roy Ransom, pianist; Charles Dennington, director of worship.

Also the following teachers—Mrs. Elmer Schoonmaker, Mrs. Arnold van Laer Jr., Mrs. David Rask, Mrs. Carlton Finch, Mrs. John Barman; Mrs. John Ham, Mrs. Charles Ayasse, Mrs. James Feth, Mrs. William Yeaple and Mrs. Norman Wilson and the Misses Diane Wilkins, Charlene Rowe, and Debbie Ham.

A total of 57 received attendance pins with Matthew Boice receiving for the second time a perfect attendance award and Virginia Mann a perfect attendance award for one year. Susan Boice and Martha Hornbeck received tenth year awards. Bibles were presented to Erich Patow and Wanda Visconti as they have just reached their eighth birthday.

Several of the teachers and officers are attending a six-weeks course in teaching methods and visual aids at the Hurley Reformed Church Monday evenings.

James Feth Jr. played a trumpet solo and a group of high school students sang selections during the service.

The Rev. David Jenks will be the guest minister at the worship service in the Reformed Church next Sunday. The new church time is 10 a. m. This is a World Wide Communion service.

Can't Win

BELMONT, Mass. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pratt went away two times on week-end trips and each time they returned, they found their home burglarized.

They went away this week-end, but packed all their valuables—$8,000 worth—in a suitcase and took it with them.

Sunday, 19-year-old William Valentine of Wakefield brought the suitcase into police headquarters after finding it lying along Route 128 in nearby Lynnfield.

Police said the suitcase apparently had fallen off the Pratt's automobile luggage rack.

New Cinema Pioneer Finds Going Tough

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The acting career of John Cassavetes has surfaced once more, permitting him another trip to the underground.

This needs explaining. As any knows, Cassavetes was a pioneer in the underground movie. Between acting jobs in films and television, he directed an improvised film in New York, using pick-up crews and unknown actors. It was released in 1961 as "Shadows" and critics hailed it as a fresh breath of air in what was then a stale movie atmosphere.

Bad Picture, Fight
"I was brought to Hollywood as a director, and I didn't know what the hell I was doing," he recalls. "I made one bad picture, then I had a terrific fight with Stanley Kramer on another one. And then I did nothing."

The first film was a jazz saga with Bobby Darin and Stella Stevens, "Too Late Blues." The Kramer film, called "A Child is Waiting," seemed ill-fated from the outset. It dealt with handicapped children and starred the incongruous combination of Burt Lancaster and Judy Garland. Both movies were failures.

The following period was a difficult one, Cassavetes admitted. Not only was his promising career as a director smashed, he discovered he was in little demand as an actor.

"It's quite unnerving to find yourself considered a mediocre actor," said the New York-born, Colgate-educated Cassavetes, 38. "But still, there are ways of making money in Hollywood even if you don't work, and I found out how to manage them. All you have to do is make deals. So the pictures are never made. You get paid anyway."

But the deal-making palled on such a creative man as Cassavetes. Once again he cut out on his own as a film maker, fashioning a feature about the middle years. Again he used volunteer crewmen, but this time he employed some professional performers, including his wife Gena Rowlands. The name of the film: "Faces."

Cassavetes was in the midst of shooting "Faces" last year when he drew an interview for a film role. He was offered a part as one of the criminal-soldiers in "The Dirty Dozen."

Hesitated First
"It would have been my first picture in six years, and I hesitated," he said. "The assignment meant suspending 'Faces' for months and taking my family to England, which would probably cost me $20,000. But I decided to take the chance."

Now he's glad he did. "The Dirty Dozen" has proved a smash hit, and many observers feel that Cassavetes stole the acting honors right out from under the other tough guys of the film, including Lee Marvin. "It was fun trying," says Cassavetes with a devilish grin.

More choice offers are coming his way. But he isn't forgetting his devotion to the underground. He continues to plow his earnings into the finishing of "Faces," with which he hopes to justify the promise he evidenced in "Shadows."

Towel Stealers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Student Agencies' linen service has dropped its door-to-door deliveries because students last year appropriated 8,000 towels, 1,000 pillowcases and 940 sheets valued at $5,000.

Starting this week, students who pay the $28 annual charge for the service must turn in their dirty linen at depots in each residential house instead of dumping their sheets and towels outside their rooms every week.

Stephen Roy, manager of the linen service, said students were using sheets to paint posters advertising parties. One junior said he used 120 towels last fall to pad his living room carpet.

Scholarship Exam Tuesday

Tuesday, seniors at Saugerties High School will be given the New York State Regents Scholarship Examination, and the sophomores will take the Iowa Tests of Educational Development. Both of these examinations run the entire school day, and in order to administer them, there will be no classes for juniors on that day.

The Regents Scholarship examination can lead to scholarship funds while the Iowa tests help to indicate a student's abilities in many different areas and aid the faculty in developing programs which will help the student.

The Junior High School will run on its normal schedule.

Largest Tree?

What may be the largest tree in the world is the famous Montezuma cypress in Oaxaca, Mexico. It has a diameter of about 40 feet several feet above the ground, is about 135 feet tall and provides shade for 8,660 square feet of ground at mid-day.

Dear Abby

'Looking In' Up to Parent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune)

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this soon as mom and dad are planning a trip and we kids will be alone.

We are all young adults. My parents have asked our married brother to look in on us while they're gone. Does that give my brother the right to barge in whenever he feels like it without giving us any warning? Do you think he should have a key to this house just like he did when he lived here? Doesn't the fact that he is now married and has a house of his own make him somewhat of an outsider here? This is causing a terrible fight. We would like your opinion. YOUNG ADULTS

DEAR ADULTS: What "rights" your brother has, can (and should) be clearly defined by your parents. And in order to avoid any misunderstanding, you should tell your brother's presence exactly what "looking in on" entails.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boy friend in Vietnam who asked me to marry him when he came home. I told him we would talk about it when he returned as we hadn't known each other very long. To make a long story short, he's coming home in two months and he wants to buy me my china set while he's over there. He says he can get real good dishes very cheap there.

Should I tell him to go ahead and buy the set? If I decide after he gets home that I don't want to marry him, then what? I hate to pass up a chance to get a nice set of dishes at such a good price.

—HALF ENGAGED

DEAR HALF: Don't obligate yourself. If you tell him to go ahead and buy the dishes he might get the idea that you are as good as his.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband and I were married, I bought him a wedding ring. It was a wonderful experience for me to give him that ring, for I knew that it would be something he would always treasure, as a token of my love for him.

Well, last week he confessed that he had lost the wedding ring months ago, and had quietly bought another just like it so I wouldn't know.

Abby, I was absolutely shocked. In doing this, it showed how little sentimental value he placed on the ring I had given him.

Abby, I want the wedding ring my husband wears to be the one I bought him, and I'd like to buy him another one, but it seems so foolish now because he already has one.

Am I being childish and silly to feel this way? —NANCY

DEAR NANCY: Yes. But your husband is a close second. Since he "quietly" replaced the lost ring, he should have kept "quiet."

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that man who told his girl friend to take off the pants and to put on a dress. Maybe if girls would stop wearing pants and looking like boys, the boys would start cutting their hair and stop looking like girls.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): New moon position emphasizes public relations, marriage, partnerships. Consolidate efforts. Gain cooperation of one with opposing views. Exciting day to experiment.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Show off talents. Avoid excess shyness. Your creative urges are stimulated. Follow through—go places, see people. Accent on dealings with opposite sex. Break routine.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): New moon highlights creative pursuits. Obtain hint from TAURUS message. Get together with individual who expresses original ideas. Cooperate with associate who is daring.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Future trends should be analyzed. Check details. Accent thorough approach. You could uncover apparent minor matter which is important. Look for loopholes. Be positive of facts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): New moon accents travel, chance to exchange views with those close to you. Keep communication lines open. You get news which inspires confidence. Go to it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Possessions should be guarded. Gain shown if you play cards close to chest. Some people have their eyes on your money. Know this and respond accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New moon in your sign stresses independence, originality, leadership. Analyze needs—then move to fulfill them. Dynamic action, attitude wins for you. Realize this and get going.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Not very good for keeping secrets. Best to be forthright.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Fine for socializing—be with congenial people. Expand sphere of influence through friends. One who asks favor is sincere, likely to bring you pleasure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be independent. Others may not be able to fulfill obligations. See top people. Don't feel your talents are ordinary. Know that you have much to offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New moon position accents journeys, news from afar. Avoid jumping to conclusions. Be philosophical about supposed setbacks. You gain in long run. Maintain confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Money featured, but likely to be other people's funds. You could be involved in three-way transaction. Be versatile. Utilize unusual methods. Don't be blocked by tradition.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have fine sense of humor. You are capable of overcoming obstacles. You are sensitive, artistic. You finish major cycle. You are on way to new adventures.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to ARIES: quiet talk with contrary individual solves dilemma.

How to Lead from Sequence

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "Let's discuss 'play from equals' this week."

Oswald: "A defender's play from equals should be designed primarily to help his partner; a declarer's to fool the defense. In other words, defenders play conventionally; the declarer unconventionally."

Jim: "In leading equals you lead the higher except with ace-king where the normal lead is the king although currently many players lead ace from ace-king against suit or no-trump contracts or both."

Oswald: "When a defender reverses his normal play of equals he may be trying to fool declarer or he may be indicating a doubleton. It is up to partner to decide just what is going on."

Jim: "Today's hand shows this play at work. East wins the club lead with his ace and after looking over dummy notes that if he wants to set the contract he needs three diamond tricks. He leads his queen of diamonds and continues with the king."

Oswald: "This should be reason enough for West to rise with the ace of diamonds and give his partner a ruff. If East had held three diamonds he would have made the normal play of the king followed by the queen."

Jim: "This hand illustrates something else which is that if you can see all the cards you aren't likely to lose at bridge. There is no way for East and West to beat a North-South no-trump contract but we doubt if one pair in a thousand would bid to it."

Oswald: "Probably not one in a million!"

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the reason for the use of the name Rainbow Division in World War I?

A—The insignia of the 42nd Division of the A.E.F. was a rainbow superimposed on a black field. The 42nd was made up of National Guard troops drawn from almost all states of the Union, hence its name.

Prindle: 48th Year In Methodist Choir

The choir of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church recently celebrated two events, the anniversary of its oldest member and the welcome of a new minister of music. Simon Prindle is beginning his 48th season as a member of the bass section of the choir. Richard Blish started Sunday as minister of music, directing the chancel choir.

Prindle, who is 82 years old, moved to Kingston from Kripplush in 1919 and began singing in the Clinton Avenue Church choir in 1921. As he explained it after the surprise party presentation of a leather-bound edition of the new Methodist Hymnal Thursday night, showers Wednesday.

"I've only been singing in the Clinton Avenue choir since 1921, but for years I sang in the Kripplush choir and also the Stone Ridge Methodist Church." The gift Hymnal was presented by the Rev. William A. Studwell, pastor, on behalf of the music committee. The Hymnal, in rich red leather, was inscribed artistically by Ray Caddy, whose wife, Linda, is a member of the choir and chairman of the music committee of the church.

Blish, who has recently taken the role of choir director, is a teacher in the Ontario School System and also the director of the Lyric Chorists of Kingston. He resides with his wife, Paula, in Saugerties. On Sunday, Oct. 8, the Clinton Avenue Church will have a special service of dedication of the new Methodist Hymnals recently purchased. Most of the hymnals will be given as memorials by members and friends of the parish.

Tonight will find drizzle and fog along the lower California coast with rain in the North and central portions. Rain is also in store for the valleys of Montana with snow in the higher elevations. Shower activity will be found in the Northwest, central Rockies, Western Lakes and lower Florida. Elsewhere, clear to partly cloudy skies should prevail. A warming trend is slated for the Eastern third of the nation, while cooling in the Northern limits of the Plains and Rockies. Minimum temperatures include: Atlanta 56; Boston 54; Chicago 60; Cleveland 50; Denver 46; Duluth 49; Ft. Worth 65; Jacksonville 60; Kansas City 52; Los Angeles 62; Miami 75; New Orleans 60; New York 55; San Francisco 56; Seattle 48; St. Louis 52 and Washington 54.

Johnson Prepares Tax Increase Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is back at the White House today to deal with quick news conferences. At the spending cut and tax in the latter, he voiced a new plea for higher taxes and announced his selection of a new U.S. solicitor general.

Domestically, Johnson's present problem is his drive to win enactment of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge. The chief executive scheduled a noon hour meeting today with Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler to canvass the intertwined tax-spending question. In the early evening, he was to meet with Democratic Congressional leaders to go over the legislative situation.

At his ranch news conference Saturday, the President said passage of his tax bill was "very necessary if we are to avoid the evil effects of a more burdensome tax-inflation tax."

Mills said again: No spending cut, no tax increase.

Johnson announced that Erwin N. Griswold, a 63-year-old registered Republican who has been dean of the Harvard Law School since 1946, would be nominated solicitor general.

Griswold would succeed Thurgood Marshall, just elevated to the Supreme Court, as the government's top trial lawyer.

The President, Lady Bird, and daughter Lynda—she with her new fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb of Milwaukee—attended Sunday services at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg, Tex., some 15 miles west of the ranch.

Mrs. Johnson did not return to Washington with the President.

Literacy Tests Slated

The Ulster County Board of Elections has announced a schedule of literacy tests slated to be given to would-be voters who have never voted prior to the forthcoming November election.

The board said that persons who have not previously voted in New York State and who have become qualified to vote must furnish proof of an ability to read and write English.

Such proof is as follows: presentation of a certificate showing completion of 6th grade work; a matriculation card; discharge from the Armed Forces; naturalization papers, if issued after 1952; certificate issued after passing voter literacy test.

The board noted that if the registrant demonstrates a certificate indicating completion of 6th grade in any state, or Puerto Rico, where language was Spanish, then proof of literacy in English is not necessary.

Pint of Sand
OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — If Donald MacGready of Hillsdale, N.J., is finicky the folks at this southwest Washington sea side resort figure it'll take a long time to satisfy him.

MacGready wrote the Chamber of Commerce, asking for a half pint of beach sand for his sand collection. The chamber's Bill Marks mailed to MacGready a half pint of sand Sunday and enclosed a note that said Marks hoped "this is the right half pint."

If it isn't, he added, "send it back and tell us which half pint you want."

Now Marks figures there are about 1.2 billion half pints of sand on the 23-mile long, 1,000-foot-wide beach.
